BAR ON NEGROES AT DOLLARWAY SCHOOLS TO GO TO HIGH COURT

Order Directing Admission of Three at Pine Bluff, Ark., Reversed After Hearing in St. Louis.

An appeal to the United States Supreme Court will be made on behalf of three Negro school children barred from the all-white Dollarway High School near Pine Bluff, Ark., attorneys for the children said today.

The Eighth Circuit United States Court of Appeals here yesterday reversed a district court order directing that the Negro children be admitted. It upheld validity of Arkansas's controversial pupil placement laws.

The Court of Appeals also said that the rejected children had not taken all possible action under state law before bringing their complaint into the federal court.

Robert L. Carter of New York, attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asked for a stay of the appellate court's mandate and said the Supreme Court would be asked to review the case.

The Court of Appeals decision was praised by Attorney General Bruce Bennett of Arkansas and by Dollarway district school officials.

Schools Closed.

Dollarway schools, with a student population of about 2300 white and Negro children, were to have opened Sept. 8 but remained closed because of litigation. They were not expected to reopen until a copy of the Court of Appeals mandate has been received.

Moving with unusual speed today, the Court of Appeals overruled the motion by the children's attorneys for a stay of mandate and issued a brief written order, opening the way for an immediate resumption of classes.

The order vacated the lower court's injunction requiring assignment of the three Negroes to Dollarway High School. At the same time, the order enjoined school authorities from "continuing to maintain the system of unconstitutional segregation which has heretofore existed."

Supplemental Plea Possible.

It was made clear that the children have the right to make a supplemental complaint in federal court, if they feel school officials have made an arbitrary ruling against them at hearings provided by state law.

Attorney General Bennett, in St. Louis for yesterday's hearing, said the case was the most important since the Supreme Court's decision against public school segregation in 1954. After the ruling, he said:

"There will be no 'Little Rock incident' in Dollarway this year. We have taken another step toward return to peace and progress in our state."

In Little Rock, Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus said "it appears the decision will relieve the situation for the time being." About 1200 white residents of the Dollarway area had petitioned Faubus to try to block integration.

The Court of Appeals decision was given orally by Chief Judge Harvey M. Johnsen. His associates on the bench were Judge Martin D. Van Oosterhout and Judge Marion C. Matthes. They

NLRB Rejects Rackets Inquiry Evidence Against Union Leader

Rules Testimony Against 'Joey' Glimco, Chicago Cab Drivers Head, Is Barred as Hearsay.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board refused yesterday to consider testimony developed by the Senate Rackets Committee against Joseph (Joey) Glimco.

Rebel members of Local 777, Chicago taxicab drivers union, had sought to bring the committee testimony before the NLRB as a means of ousting Glimco as local president.

The decision not to admit the testimony was announced in a telegram sent by Frank Kleiler, NLRB executive in Washington, to hearing officer George S. Patterson, who had taken the opposite position. The telegram said:

"The board is of the opinion that these documents should not be admitted into the records in this proceeding because they do not appear to come within any of the exceptions of the hearsay rule."

Alfred Kamin, Glimco's lawyer, told a reporter: "I think what the NLRB is saying is that it, as a quasi-judicial agency, will not take statements made before a Senate committee, because that committee is not a judicial or a fact-finding body."

The hearsay rule, Kamin said, specifically bars the admission of testimony by one party concerning what a third party has said about a principal in the case, particularly when the principal had no opportunity to cross-examine the witness.

"I think," Kamin said, "that these long-drawn out McClellan hearings will have no weight at all in judicial and administrative proceedings."

Senator John McClellan (Dem.), Arkansas, headed the select committee which investigated the activities of Glimco and James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, among others.

McClellan, informed of the decision, said, "I don't want to make an offhand comment until I have seen the decision."

The rebel faction of Local 777 is seeking authority to call a special election of Chicago cab drivers on the ground of alleged corruption in Glimco's administration.

U.N. ASSEMBLY AGAIN SHELVES ISSUE OF SEAT FOR RED CHINA

Vote Is 44 to 29 With 9 Abstentions—Soviet Disarmament Proposal Will Be Considered.

BULLETIN

The vote was 44 to 29 with nine abstentions.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—The General Assembly's Steering Committee quickly agreed today to a full United Nations debate on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's total disarmament proposal.

The Soviet Union ran into opposition, however, when it sought to have the new plan taken up separately from other disarmament issues already on the Assembly's agenda for the current session.

Brazilian delegate Cyro de Freitas-Valle moved that the Khrushchev proposal for complete disarmament within four years be considered in a broad debate on the whole field of disarmament.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, a Soviet deputy foreign minister, objected strenuously. He insisted that the Soviet proposal was of a completely different character from other disarmament issues before the U.N. and must be given special urgent consideration.

The 21-nation steering committee had been called into a special meeting at the request of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko who proposed yesterday that the Khrushchev plan be taken up "as an important and urgent matter."

The question of how the Soviet plan would be taken up finally was disposed of by tossing it to the Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee.

Austrian delegate Franz Matsch suggested that the Assembly should simply refer all the disarmament questions to the Political Committee and let that body decide on its own procedure. There was no objection.

COUNTY HOLDING SPECIAL VOTERS REGISTRATION

A special voter registration was being conducted today at 159 places in St. Louis county. Registration began at 9 a.m. and will continue until 9 p.m.

The special registration of voters was suggested by public school officials after passage of a new state law requiring participants in school district elections to be registered voters. Previously, anyone living in a district could vote in a school election.

Of the 159 places where voters were being registered today, 154 were schools. In addition to the special registration centers, the office of the Board of Election Commissioners at Clayton will remain open until 9 p.m. to accept registrations.

Oct. 10 will be the deadline for registration of voters in the county for the special election Nov. 3 on the proposed metropolitan district plan for city-county government.

GROUP IN HOUSE CHECKS ON FOOD CHAIN BUYING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (UPI)—The House Small Business subcommittee announced yesterday that it has subpenaed the West Coast food-buying records of 10 large food chains and the country's largest food wholesaler.

The subcommittee said it wanted to investigate complaints that big buyers operating out of San Francisco have been forcing canners to sell fruits and vegetables to the chains at artificially low prices.

Public hearings will be held at San Francisco Oct. 8 and 9. The subcommittee is headed by Representative James Roosevelt (Dem.), California.

Those subpenaed included buyers for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.; Safeway Stores, Inc.; the Kroger Co.; National Tea, First National, Winn-Dixie, American Stores, Grand Union Co., Colonial Stores and Food Fair Stores. Also subpenaed were the records of the San Francisco offices of Consolidated Foods, Inc., described as the largest wholesale grocer in the country; Topco Associates, Inc., and Regent Food Co.

HURRICANE DEVELOPING

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—A tropical storm boiled up in the Atlantic ocean 475 miles from the Florida east coast today and the Weather Bureau said it will reach hurricane force in a few hours.

The path of the storm, named Gracie, was described as "uncertain."

ST. CHARLES BOY FOUND HANGED AT HIS HOME

Body Discovered in Back Yard by Neighbor — He Had Been Punished at School.

Tomy Lewis, 12 years old, was found hanged in the rear yard of his home at St. Charles today. He had left school this morning after being punished for tardiness.

The body was discovered hanging from a tree by a neighbor, Mrs. Esther Williams. A length of clothesline was looped around the boy's neck, and a wooden crate was under the tree.

Tomy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lewis. Lewis operates the Bridge Hotel, 334 North Second street, St. Charles, where the family lives.

Mrs. Lewis said the boy came home from school early today, and she sent him to the yard to play.

Spanked by Principal.

School officials said young Lewis left St. Charles Junior High School without permission shortly after he had been spanked by the principal, Paul Maxon.

Roy L. Clemons, assistant superintendent of St. Charles schools, said Maxon telephoned Mrs. Lewis to tell her about the spanking. Tomy walked into the house while the conversation was in progress, Clemons said.

Approval Reported.

Clemons was told that Mrs. Lewis approved the disciplinary action.

"Mr. Maxon, these things are necessary sometimes," she is reported to have said.

Mrs. Lewis sent the boy to the yard. She and Mrs. Williams were having coffee when Mrs. Williams looked out the window and saw Tomy hanging from the tree, Mrs. Williams said.

Mrs. Williams told a reporter she believed Tomy's death was an accident. She said she had seen him playing in the yard many times with a rope looped around his neck. This time, she said, he must have been standing on the crate when it slipped.

Clemons said Tomy had been late for school almost every morning since classes began Sept. 8. When he was tardy today, Clemons said, he was sent to Maxon.

"The boy got two licks with a paddle," Clemons said. "Our school board permits corporal punishment. We don't feel the

DEBATE GOES ON ON CHINA ISSUE

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 22—Debate continued today in the General Assembly on whether to admit Red China to membership in the world organization. There was no doubt the vote would be negative, as in past years.

Red China's role in international affairs was criticized yesterday by Western spokesmen led by Walter S. Robertson of the United States, a former Assistant Secretary of State. Members of the Soviet bloc and some Asia delegates spoke for the Peiping regime. At least 10 speakers were scheduled for today.

Replying to Robinson, the Russian delegate, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, said:

"The presence of the Chiang Kai-shek men in the U.N. instead of China's" he said, "is nothing but one of the most striking paradoxes of the present international life. A direct insult is inflicted thereby on the great Chinese people."

Division of Opinion.

Sir Pierson Dixon said that it seemed to the United Kingdom that the overriding consideration remained "the deep division of opinion on this subject in the United Nations," which had in no way lessened since the last session. In fact, recent events, such as the ruthless suppression of the liberties of the Tibetan people, had made it even less likely that a debate on Chinese representation would be approved here, he said.

Earlier, Dr. Tingu-fu F. Tsiang of Nationalist China bitterly recalled that in former years it had been the Soviet Union that had taken the initiative in bringing the item on Chinese representation to the U.N., but now it was India.

India wanted peace, but its policy was based on illusions, Tsiang contended. India relied too much on promises and such things as "the five principles."

Recent developments should have opened India's eyes, Tsiang said. One such development was the institution of the people's commune, to collectivize and enslave the Chinese people. Tsiang recalled that "an eminent Indian scholar," Dr. Chandrasekar, had said after a trip to mainland China, that the commune had reduced the in-

Holder of 123 Traffic Tickets Gets Ticket to Jail for 520 Days

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)—A man who already has served 40 days in jail for traffic violations, today began an additional 520-day term for 123 traffic offenses over a six-year period.

Daniel Burdette, 33 years old, of Fort Lee, N.J., pleaded guilty yesterday to charges ranging from parking violations to speeding. Magistrate T. Vincent Quinn sentenced him to 40 days—time already served—on 19 of the summonses and 520 days or a $2600 fine on the other offenses. Burdette could not pay.

Burdette, an engineer and the father of four children, was arrested Aug. 13 by a patrolman who said his car was parked overtime at a meter. He was given a psychiatric examination to establish his sanity because he was unable to explain his failure to answer the summonses.

"It's not that I was trying to get away with anything," he said. "It's just that I didn't take this as seriously as I should have."

Burdette's record was exceeded in New York only by that of J. Philip Cahill, a real estate broker. Cahill ignored 131 traffic summonses over a four-year period and paid $6550 in fines as an alternative to going to jail for 393 days.

SOME HOSTILE PLACARDS, BUT MOST OF CROWD IS IN GOOD MOOD

Security Regulations Relaxed as Premier Leaves San Francisco—Rides to Airport in Open Auto.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 22 (AP) — Premier Khrushchev arrived in Iowa today for a two-day look at America's farmland.

The weather was overcast and threatening, but the Soviet Premier was sunny of disposition, his temper vastly improved by the treatment he received during his whirlwind tour of San Francisco.

Iowa's governor, Herschel Loveless, was on hand with an official party to welcome the Communist boss, but there was little public excitement.

The plane that carried the Russian party across the Rocky Mountains and over Reno, Salt Lake City and Omaha, touched down at 1:41 p. m. (2:41 p.m. St. Louis time.)

The crowd at the air base was rather small, but bigger crowds were in position in downtown Des Moines behind police barricades to watch Khrushchev drive to his hotel.

Some in the crowd carried hostile signs, such as "The Only Good Communist is a Dead One," but the spectators in general were good humored and orderly.

Waves and Smiles.

Khrushchev waved and smiled amiably at the 2000 or more persons gathered at the airport. In response to the Governor's greetings he said:

"We know that so far as corn is concerned you are first in the United States. We are competing with you there and we hope it will be a useful competition."

Security Relaxed.

Security restrictions were relaxed as Khrushchev left San Francisco. He made the 20-mile trip from his hotel to International Airport in an open convertible instead of a bullet-proof limousine.

Police Chief Thomas Cahill said is seemed a shame to keep the premier cooped up in a closed car on such a beautiful day.

The departure at 9:11 a.m. (11:11 St. Louis time) was 19 minutes ahead of schedule. The big American military jet plane climbed swiftly over the coastal hills. Khrushchev departed calling San Francisco "the best of all."

Riding with San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher to the airport, Khrushchev saw city-bound traffic on a freeway backed up for five miles in a traffic jam.

"That's a terrible extravagance," he observed.

"I had to agree with him," Christopher said, "because most of the cars had only one person in them."

Visit To Farm.

The high spot of the Russian leader's visit to Iowa comes tomorrow when he visits Roswell Garst, a 61-year-old prosperous hybrid seed corn expert, near Coon Rapids. Garst met Khrushchev on his several trips to Russia and was a guest in the Premier's home on the Black sea last spring.

Officials also lined up visitors to farm-associated industries in Des Moines and to Iowa State University at nearby Ames to show Khrushchev some of the reasons why the American farmer out-produces his Russian counterpart five-fold.

One of the first sights to greet Khrushchev at the Airport was a billboard message saying in Russian, "Let Us Seek Peace Together." It was a message from a Des Moines housewife who won a contest for the best five-word greeting to the Soviet leader.

After a brief stop at his suite at the Fort Des Moines Hotel, Khrushchev was to make a motor tour of the city, visiting the Des Moines Packing Co. to see livestock turned into meat products, and the John Deere plant, a World War II small arms ammunition plant which now produces a wide variety of farm implements.

Following his tour of the city, Khrushchev was to be the guest of honor at a Chamber of Commerce banquet featuring roast prime ribs of beef with champagne.

Late tomorrow the Russian party will fly to Pittsburgh.

LAOS CANCELS PRESS TRIPS TO BATTLE AREAS

Charges News Reports of Limited Fighting at Sam Teu Were 'Incorrect.'

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

VIENTIANE, Sept. 22 — The Laotian government, in a show of sharp displeasure, today canceled all further army transportation for reporters to the front areas.

The action came 24 hours after five reporters, including a representative of the Post-Dispatch, had succeeded in reaching Sam Teu and had written accounts from the scene of a reported four-day battle for the key military post.

The modest account given reporters by Lt. Baune Thank, commander of the Sam Teu garrison, doubtless was embarrassing to the Laos government. It is presenting evidence to the United Nations fact-finding mission to substantiate its charges of military aggression by Communist North Viet Nam.

Because most commercial planes have been chartered by the Laotian army, the order means that virtually all future news of hostilities will be funneled through officials here in the capital.

The new travel restriction was announced by Acting Foreign Minister Sisouk Na Champassak, whose regular title is Secretary of State for Information, Sports and Youth and Tourism. At his daily press briefing, Sisouk said there would be no more trips to Sam Neua, army headquarters for the northern area, "because reporters have been reporting the news in an incorrect manner and have been speaking with minor officials."

Sam Neua, only 30 miles by air from the North Viet Nam border and only seven miles from points attacked by the Communist - supported rebel Pathet Lao, has been a main source of information about the hostilities.

It also is the main transfer point for trips to other parts of the front area. Reporters who visited Sam Teu had to go first to Sam Neua.

First reports of the battle of Sam Teu came from Defense Ministry officials here. They described it as a major engagement. Sisouk later confirmed their report.

San Francisco's Warm Welcome Puts Khrushchev in Gay Mood

Mellowing Premier Gratified by Cheers — 1800 at Dinner Given by Mayor.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22—After 16 hours of handshaking and sightseeing and the friendliest speech he has yet delivered, Premier Khrushchev left California today in a far happier spirit than on his first day in the state.

A gay and mellow Khrushchev headed for Iowa after pleading for peace and friendship in this city which gave him his warmest welcome yet in the United States.

It was in fact a complete reversal of the bitter mood of southern California when American officials accompanying him had feared that he might break off his tour.

The love affair between San Francisco and the Soviet premier began with his arrival on Sunday and went almost unbroken through a sumptuous dinner given for him last night by Mayor Christopher with 1800 leading citizens present in the Sheraton-Palace banquet hall.

Friendly Reception.

There were many reasons for the change. One was the genuinely friendly reception given him in this sophisticated city. He said in his speech that he had been deeply gratified by the people who waved at him and cheered his coming and going.

Another reason for the change was that Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Khrushchev's chaperon, and other American officials with him had made a determined effort to prevent those speaking on the same platform from needling him. Lodge and the others had had a distinct fright when on Saturday night in Los Angeles, Khrushchev threatened to break off his trip and return to Washington if not to Moscow.

They had been fearful, too, that Khruschchev would enter the

SOVIET PREMIER REJECTS CHANCE TO BE CAPITALIST

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Soviet Permier Khrushchev was offered an opportunity to buy a lot in San Francisco yesterday.

He discussed San Francisco real estate with Robert R. Gros, representative of the mayor on a brief voyage aboard a Coast Guard vessel.

"I'll sell you a lot," Gros called out after Khrushchev said he would like to return and spend some time in San Francisco. When Khrushchev said the Communist party would boot him out, Gros shot back: "What would happen to me?"

TRUMAN'S ADVICE FOR KHRUSHCHEV: CONTROL TEMPER

© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev should learn to "hold his temper," former President Harry S. Truman said yesterday.

Truman said he also believes there should be no softening of questions, if they are courteous, put to the Russian leader. He added, "He must expect them if he agrees to expose himself to questioning."

Truman also said he believed, on the basis of newspaper accounts, that Khrushchev has yet to make a "straightforward answer" to questions put to him.

Khrushchev May Be Fired On--- By Town's Expert Pea Shooter

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright 1959.

COON RAPIDS, Ia., Sept. 22—Will 11-year-old Martin Shirbroun hit Nikita Khrushchev with his pea shooter Wednesday afternoon?

No one in Coon Rapids knows for sure, but the town is uneasy.

"I wouldn't be surprised if he did it," sighed Roy Mahan a meatcutter and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. "He bought an awful lot of peas Saturday night."

For several days Martin has been shouting his threat in front of Ted's popcorn stand on Main street. "I don't like him," he said. "I'm going to pop him with my pea shooter."

To prove he meant it, Martin whipped out a 10-inch green-and-white stripped pea shooter and popped a reporter on the arm. It hurt.

Supposedly Martin will be confined to Coon Rapids elementary school when Khrushchev rides down Main street. "Maybe I'll get out," he hinted darkly.

His mother, Mrs. Henry Shirbroun, reassured the world. "Don't pay any attention to Martin," she said. "I'll burn that pea shooter."

PRESIDENT LIFTS INTEREST RATE ON E, H BONDS FROM 3¼ TO 3¾%

Action Follows Signing of Bill Allowing Maximum Payment of 4¼% on Short-Term Securities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (UPI) —President Eisenhower, acting on new authority from Congress, increased the interest rate on series E and H Government savings bonds from 3¼ to 3¾ per cent today.

He put the increase into effect shortly after signing a bill which permits a new interest ceiling of 4¼ per cent on short term federal securities. The new rate applies to the bonds now held by 40,000,000 Americans as well as to future sales.

"I hope that the making of both old and new savings bonds even more attractive will serve as a renewed invitation to every citizen to buy and hold these 'shares in America,'" the President said.

Goes Before TV.

The President signed the bill in his office, then went before television film cameras to make a statement explaining this action.

Secretary of Treasury Robert B. Anderson was present for the ceremony and immediately submitted the Treasury plan for hiking the E and H interest rates. The President gave his immediate approval.

The interest boost on the $42,000,000,000 worth of outstanding bonds will be retroactive to June 1.

It will bring the rate on all E and H bonds sold since January 1957 to 3¾ per cent. Older bonds, which bear less than 3¼ per cent interest, will get interest boosts of at least one-half of one per cent.

The new law was rammed through Congress in the closing days of its 1959 session.

The Treasury hopes the new rates will make savings bonds attractive enough to reverse the trend of bond redemptions topping new sales, as they have for months.

Last month sales totaled $309,000,000 while there were cashins of $454,000,000.

Fell Short of Request.

While the legislation bore Administration approval, it was a far cry from the powers Mr. Eisenhower requested Congress to give him to combat debt management problems stemming from the spiraling costs of borrowing money in the open market.

The President declared that failure of Congress to give him authority to increase the rates on the long-term bonds was one of the most serious things that has happened in this country in his time.

He sought outright repeal of the 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on new issues of long-term Government bonds which are bought primarily by big investors.

Old issues of these bonds are selling at big discounts on the open market.

The President, arguing it was inflationary to force the Government to rely solely on short-term securities which have no interest ceiling for its debt financing, even considered the possibility of calling Congress into special session to act on the matter.

By the Associated Press.

The President signed into law yesterday a two-year $3,600,000,000 extension of the overseas farm surplus disposal program.

In a message to Congress, however, he condemned a $500,000,000 food stamp plan which Congress tacked on the measure to provide distribution of surplus commodities for the needy at home. He indicated that the Administration will not put it into effect.

The stamp plan, he said, "carries the implication that more surplus foods would be made available to the needy people of the United States. Actually the bill would not do this."

Mr. Eisenhower explained that needy persons have been receiving surplus foods by direct distribution through state and local authorities. The stamp plan would simply replace that system with a federally-financed system, he said.

Signs Gas Tax Bills.

In addition, the President signed a bill increasing the federal gasoline tax one cent a gallon for 21 months starting Oct. 1 to help pay for the 41,000-mile interstate highway building program.

The gas tax bill was one of 96 signed by the President yesterday.

Mr. Eisenhower asked for an increase of 1½ cents a gallon in motor fuel tax for the next five years to overcome the deficit in highway construction funds resulting from a speed-up in construction ordered by Congress last year as an anti-recession measure.

Instead of the $2,500,000,000 previously authorized for the states to contract new road building in the fiscal year starting next July 1, the new legislation permits authorization of no more than 2 billion. This could be cut to $1,800,000,000 under some revenue estimates.

Premier's U.S. 'House Arrest' Only Joke, Russians Learn

MOSCOW, Sept. 22 (AP) — Soviet readers were told today by Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law that the Premier was joking in his remark that he had been "under house arrest" in the United States.

Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government newspaper Izvestia, said Khrushchev made the remark jokingly after he returned to his train from a whistlestop conversation with "plain Americans."

"For the first time in six days of house arrest I went out freely and breathed American air," Adzhubei quoted his father-in-law as saying. "It is good that they did not put me under arrest again."

In a signed article in Izvestia Adzhubei complained that Khrushchev "rarely has the opportunity to talk with plain Americans."

"He is all the time en route," the editor said. "Not only every one of his hours but every minute is booked."

The article gave the impression that Khrushchev feels he is the victim of a campaign to prevent him from meeting ordinary Americans.

Cartoon Gibe.

Under a cartoon of Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, Pravda's caption read "Disneyland heroes surprised" and had Mickey Mouse saying it "appears we are a threat to guests of America."

Pravda said the reference to security risks in advising Khrushchev not to visit Disneyland was just a pretext to prevent him from meeting plain Americans.

Adzhubei, who is married to the Soviet leader's daughter Rada, went out of his way stressing that the average American likes Khrushchev better than is publicly admitted.

Adzhubei quoted letters and cables of support for Khrushchev, including one from writer Upton Sinclair saying "your disarmament proposal is the greatest political action of our time."

Adzhubei said Khrushchev had planned to visit Disneyland "not because he wanted to ride a merry-go-round but simply as a courtesy to the Americans."

He quoted Comedian Bob Hope as saying: "I know why they are afraid to admit Mr. Khrushchev to Disneyland. It's because it has the only functioning rocket in the United States."

Criticizing arrangements for the Los Angeles visit, Adzhubei quoted an unspecified document saying "it is not recommended to meet city inhabitants."

Commenting today on Walter Reuther's account of talks between Khrushchev and American labor leaders, the Moscow radio said it "appears that reactionary elements in the U.S.A. are resorting to evil distortion."

The United Auto Workers president said after the Sunday night meeting that the Soviet leader had become extremely angry at questions posed to him by the labor men.

The talks at the dinner lasted three hours and "became acrimonious," said the Moscow broadcast.

"There still are in the U.S.A. many supporters of the old line of the cold war, anxious to proclaim their twisted theories and to try to slander the peaceful policy of the U.S.S.R."

The Voice of America's broadcast version of the exchange between Khrushchev and United States labor leaders came in clearly and without jamming, Moscow listeners said today.

They reported it was followed by a survey of American editorial opinion of Khrushchev's United States trip, much of it critical.

Two Russian correspondents complained today that State Department representatives were hampering Russian newsmen covering Khrushchev's tour.

Casual events arise to prevent them from being where the Premier is or lodging near him, wrote V. Parkhitko of the newspaper Soviet Russia in a dispatch from San Francisco.

"State Department representatives got rooms for the Soviet journalists far from the Khrushchev hotel," he wrote — "the same is true on the trains."

K. Nepomnyalschi of Komosomol Pravda echoed the protest.

NIXON DEFENDS U.S. EDUCATION IN FACE OF SOVIET GAINS

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 22 (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said yesterday there is no reason to criticize the American educational system just because Russia was the first to hit the moon with a rocket.

Nixon said no one nation can claim a monopoly on education. He said history shows many nations have achieved breakthroughs in various fields down through the ages, adding that "We cannot expect the United States to lead with all great break-throughs. We must expect Russia to be first sometime. This does not mean our system is inferior or is wrong."

The Vice President spoke at Thiel College where he participated in dedicating a new $855,000 science hall. The college is affiliated with the Lutheran Church. Nixon, noting that Thiel was a church-sponsored college, said the American system is preparing students to respect humanity as well as scientific achievements.

DALTON UPHOLDS 30-MILE SPEED LIMIT IN LINN, MO.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 22—Motorists must not exceed the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit in Linn, Mo., Attorney General John M. Dalton said today.

Prosecuting Attorney Henry Balkenbush of Osage county had sought an opinion from Dalton on the validity of Linn's 20-year-old ordinance which established a speed zone on U.S. Highway 50, in the stretch which goes through the Osage county town.

A speeding charge is pending in the county's circuit court against Sheriff Orlon J. Litzinger of St. Louis county. Litzinger was arrested last spring for alleged exceeding the speed limit. He was transporting two prisoners to the state penitentiary at Jefferson City.

INDIAN TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO SIKKIM BORDER

Nehru Guards Against Invasion of Protectorate by Red Chinese on Frontier.

By AJIT DAS

SOMEWHERE IN SIKKIM, Sept. 22 (UPI)—India has rushed troops to this Himalayan nation to reinforce border guards and protect Sikkim against the threat of invasion by Chinese Communist troops massed along the border.

Size of the reinforcements and their deployment cannot be disclosed, but they appeared to be seasoned mountain troops as they moved eastward toward the border through the mountain passes.

Sikkim, long under British rule, has been independent since 1947 but became a protectorate of India under a treaty signed Dec. 5, 1950. Prime Minister Nehru ordered troops sent here following a series of border clashes with Chinese Communist troops along the disputed boundaries below Tibet.

The 1950 treaty gives India "special responsibilities" for the defense of Sikkim and for its external affairs and communications. A similar treaty is in effect with the neighboring Himalayan state of Bhutan, also reported threatened by the Communists.

The Indian troops were brought in at request of the Sikkim Government which reminded India of her treaty obligations when the Chinese threat developed after Peiping put down an anti-Communist rebellion in Tibet.

Sikkim noted that its border guard was made up of state police armed with antiquated rifles and stationed at only the few border checkposts. From two to five miles away are Chinese Communist troops armed with the latest Russian weapons.

The Hindustan Times reported yesterday that 15,000 Communist Chinese troops were assembling along the northern and northeastern border area of Sikkim.

It was emphasized that the Indian Army is not replacing the Sikkim border guards but is standing by in strategic locations for any emergency—an emergency that Sikkim's Buddhist population prays will not come.

Sikkim itself is a tiny country of 2745 square miles, about twice the size of Rhode Island, and has a population of about 135,000. It borders Tibet, Bhutan and India. The borders of this wild country, with mountain peaks towering 26,000 feet, has never been clearly defined Iraqi Leftist Leader Returns.

DAMASCUS, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Baghdad radio said yesterday Kamel Chaderichi, leader of the leftist Iraqi National Democratic party, returned to Baghdad Sunday after four months' medical treatment in the Soviet Union. Chaderichi's party is represented in the current cabinet of Premier Kassem.

Air Force Ousted Officer So It Could Promote Actor Stewart

Senate Unit Reports More Qualified Man Was Released to Make Way for New Brigadier General.

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 — A Senate investigating subcommittee reported yesterday that a more qualified officer was ousted to assure the promotion of James Stewart, the actor, from a colonel to a brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve.

In addition the committee cited the case of John B. Montgomery, who also was elevated to brigadier general in the Air Force Reserve after he had become an executive in industry.

The panel called on the Pentagon to overhaul its reserve promotion systems, particularly as they relate to general and flag officers.

No names were given in the 10 case histories cited as "examples." The subcommittee insisted that it was trying to embarrass no one. The cases of Stewart and Montgomery were recognized because of previous publicity given them.

Panel's Conclusion.

From these and other case histories, the panel, the Senate preparedness investigating subcommittee, headed by Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, arrived unanimously at these general conclusions:

1. That promotion to flag and general rank should not be conferred exclusively as a reward for past military service but even more important should include consideration of the anticipation of future service in positions of greater responsibility and growth potential.

2. That there was an apparent need for a more "realistic" definition of the term "best qualified."

3. That in many instances there appeared to be a lack of systematic order and logic execised by selection boards.

4. That there were variances in the criteria used for selection for promotion to general and admiral rank.

5. That stricter adherence to participation (training) requirements for officers in lower grades is demanded than for those in higher grades.

6. That there appears to be a "disturbing trend" to "use the reserve component as an instrumentality of some benefit for regular officers who resign their commissions to accept better paying jobs with industry."

Held Up Two Years.

The Stewart and Montgomery promotions were confirmed by the Senate July 23. Action regarding the film star had been held up two years, largely by objections raised by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (Rep.), Maine, that Stewart, a World War II combat pilot, had not kept up with training required to win promotion. He earned the credits later.

In citing the case history, the report said: "Although the reservist who was ousted to make room for this nominee had fallen behind in meeting his training Category A requirements, it should be noted that his recent military active duty assignment was specialized to his reserve position; that he had participated as much as 30 times the participation of the nominee who ousted him, and that his civilian occupation was that of an airline pilot (similarlity of civilian occupation)."

M'ELROY SAYS HE MAY QUIT BY END OF THIS YEAR

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 22 (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy, off on a 28-day tour of United States installations in the Far East, says he may resign by the end of the year.

In a planeside interview here yesterday, McElroy was asked about his plans to leave government service. He has said in the past he would like to return to private life.

He told newsmen he feels he cannot quit until he has submitted his department's budget for the next fiscal year. He added that it might be possible to step down in December, barring a national emergency.

POLICE BATTLES WITH MOBS IN IRAQ REPORTED

Rioting Said to Have Been Touched Off by Execution of 17 Anti-Communists.

CAIRO, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Egypt's semi-official Middle East News Agency reported today that an armed Iraqi mob shot it out with police last night outside Baghdad's central cable office.

Three policemen and a rioter were wounded, the agency said.

Earlier, the radios of the United Arab Republic had reported that anti-government demonstrators in Iraq had seized two police stations in Ramadi, 65 miles west of Baghdad.

The U.A.R. reports said police gunfire failed to halt the mobs in Ramadi, one of four provincial centers where violent opposition to the government of Premier Abdel Kassem was reported.

There was no report of casualties.

Radio stations here and in Damascus said the rioting touched off Sunday by the executions of 17 anti-Communist leaders in Iraq had spread from Baghdad to Ramadi, Mosul, Falouja and Samarra.

Mosul was the scene of an abortive revolt earlier this year which was the basis for the death penalties imposed on 13 of the 17 executed men.

The Cairo radio said Kassem plans to revive the Communist-influenced "popular resistance forces" to deal with the wave of violence.

The Damascus radio said demonstrators in Baghdad chanted, "Let Kassem follow Nuri." (Nuri Said was the Premier, whose murdered, mutilated body was dragged through the streets of Baghdad in the 1958 revolution)."

The Baghdad radio admitted in effect that there had been trouble in Iraq, but dismissed the demonstrators as " a handful of people who express their hatred and anger by playing havoc with security."

The Baghdad broadcast assailed the executed men as "traitor agents" and warned that "death will be the fate of everyone who attacks, plots against or disavows the republic."

STATE TO OPEN BIDS OCT. 27 ON LAST 2 SECTIONS OF TWAIN ROUTE

Lettings Resumed as Result of President's Signing Increase in Federal Gasoline Tax.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 22—The Missouri State Highway Commission will call for bids next Oct. 27 on the last two sections of the Mark Twain Expressway in north St. Louis, Chief Engineer Rex M. Whitton announced yesterday.

Resumption of contract lettings, which had been discontinued in July because of a shortage of money in the federal highway trust fund, was made possible by President Eisenhower's signing of the bill increasing the federal gasoline tax by one cent.

The two portions of the Mark Twain not yet under contract are the section from Shreve avenue to Davison avenue and from Shreve avenue to O'Fallon Park.

The latter section had been scheduled for bidding last July 30 and the other section for Aug. 27. When the contracts are signed at the commission's meeting in November, all of the Mark Twain will be completed or under contract. The two sections have a total length of about two miles.

Whitton estimated the total projects on which bids will be sought next month would total between $14,000,000 and $15,000,000, but he noted this was only an estimate. The United States Bureau of Public Roads has not announced its contract controls on expenditures this year. Until that is known, the amount Missouri can commit itself to spend remains indefinite.

Bids to be asked for next month will include interstate, primary, secondary, urban and farm to market highway projects.

The Mark Twain contracts are under the interstate program on which the Federal Government pays 90 per cent of the cost.

Whitton also announced that traffic on the Express Highway section of the Daniel Boone Expressway in St. Louis is steadily increasing, with the latest count during the first week of September recording 58,370 vehicles a day.

Prior to the opening of the connection to the Daniel Boone near Skinker boulevard, the number of vehicles recorded in one day was 45,975. After the connection, the figure went to 53,036.

The Express Highway was designed for 40,000 vehicles a day. Plans for widening the Express Highway to six lanes are being prepared, but land acquisition problems are the main obstacle to an early start.

A strip of Forest Park beside the highway is needed, but the main stumbling block is a piece of improved property owned by Central Institute for the Deaf on West Papin street east of Kingshighway.

Myer Ableman, urban area engineer for the State Highway Department, said this property cannot be vacated until about June, 1961. Until it is acquired, work cannot begin on enlarging the Kingshighway underpass to accommodate the two additional lanes.

TWO HURT IN THREE-AUTO CRASH NEAR INTERSECTION

Harry Heimberger, a chauffeur, and Lucius Rose, a clerk, suffered head injuries yesterday in a three-vehicle accident near the intersection of Newstead and Washington avenues.

Police said Rose, 6177 Bertha avenue, drove through a red light and hit a truck driven by Heimberger, 9020 Moritz avenue, Brentwood. Heimberger's truck then struck the front end of an automobile driven by Ronald McDonald, a cement finisher who lives at 360A North Boyle avenue. McDonald was not hurt.

Rose was charged with violation of an electric signal and careless driving. Heimberger and Rose were taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

SEEKS TO INTERVENE IN MILL CREEK SUIT

The Central West End Association today filed a petition in circuit court to intervene as a friend of the court in opposition to a suit to block the sale of any Mill Creek Valley property to St. Louis University.

The association's petition contended the proposed sale of land does not violate any sections of the state or national Constitutions and that taxpayers of St. Louis are not being deprived of property by the proposed sale.

A fair market value will be paid for the land, the petition stated, and the sale to the university "would best serve the civic needs of the city . . . and successfully accomplish the considered purposes of the urban development plans."

The suit to block the sale of land to the university was filed Aug. 24, naming the City of St. Louis, the Land Clearance Authority and the Board of Aldermen as defendants. It contended that competitive bidding on the land was eliminated by the aldermen in approving the university's plan for use of the five-to-six block area.

Officials of the city and the Land Clearance Authority have determined that the propsed use of the land by the university is best served by the development of the tract as an extension of the university's campus, the petition said.

Although other proposals for use of the land by private, public or semi-private interests were solicited, the petition added, none was received and, therefore, sale of the property to the university is "regular, just, fair and feasible."

The association, a non-profit organization of some 400 property owners and business men, has offices at 394 North Euclid avenue. Its members live or work in an area westward from Grand boulevard between Delmar and Forest Park boulevards.

The suit against the sale of the land was filed by Peter Kintzele, a real estate dealer, 3514 Longfellow boulevard; Charles A. Neighbors, 5044 Bancroft avenue, and Marion J. LaHeist, 5936 Cates avenue. They are members of Public Funds for Public Purposes Committee, Inc. Kintzele is secretary of the committee and also a member of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

BRENTWOOD BOARD OPPOSES METROPOLITAN DISTRICT

The Brentwood Board of Aldermen last night unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the proposed Metropolitan District plan and urging Brentwood residents to vote against it.

The resolution declared the plan would add another layer of government and another layer of taxes. The district would have the right of eminent domain and could issue tax bills arbitrarily, the resolution said.

The aldermen said there would be no services provided by the district that St. Louis county or its municipalities are not now capable of providing. Brentwood Mayor A. Ray Parker is chairman of the Citizens Committee for Self Government, which opposes the plan.

CHARGED WITH POISONING NEIGHBOR'S LEASHED DOG

Paul S. Lansman, 4376 Westminster place, was charged with maliciously administering poison to a domestic animal yesterday after he admitted to police he gave cyanide to a 4-month-old German shepherd.

Lansman, an importer, told police the dog's barking kept him awake at night and made him nervous. The dog was owned by Mrs. Bernice Johnson, 4383 Westminster place. It was a pet of her two small boys, she said.

William Glenn, also of 4383 Westminster place, told police he saw Lansman throw what looked like a wiener to the pup, which was leashed in the yard. He said the dog ate the object and died a short time later. Lansman is scheduled to appear in police court tomorrow.

LYNNBROOK SEWER PROJECT APPROVED BY 77 TO 10 VOTE

Residents in the area of the proposed Lynnbrook sanitary sewer subdistrict voted last night 77 to 10 in favor of proceeding with the project.

The proposed subdistrict is in the Creve Coeur-Frontenac Bond Issue District. It is bounded on the east by Lindbergh boulevard, on the west by Westfield lane, on the north by Conway road and on the south by Clayton road.

John Sears, chief of subdistrict development of the Metropolitan Sewer District, said at a meeting that the Lynnbrook subdistrict is needed because of residential expansion in the area. The meeting was held at Wright School, 10601 Clayton road, Frontenac.

THEORY WOMAN'S DEATH MAY HAVE BEEN ACCIDENTAL

Suicide Possibility Also Studied by Police—Fall Could Have Caused Injuries.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 — The mysterious death of Mrs. Lynn Kauffman could have been an accident or suicide, police said today.

Mrs. Kauffman's partly clothed body was found Saturday on the shore of Spectacle Island in Boston harbor. She had been a passenger on the S.S. Utrecht, a passenger and cargo ship.

She was seen alive on board the ship Friday by Mrs. Stanley Spector, wife of a Washington University professor who employed Mrs. Kauffman as a research assistant and secretary.

Capt. Joseph B. Fallon, head of the Boston homicide squad, said he has not ruled out the possibility of suicide or an accident. Fallon came here yesterday to conduct the investigation.

Possibility of Fall.

There is a definite possibility that injuries Mrs. Kauffman suffered before drowning could have been caused by a fall from the ship, he said.

A metal and wooden gangplank lashed to the side of the ship near Mrs. Kauffman's cabin was inspected thoroughly by police to determine whether her injuries could have been caused by striking the gangplank in falling over the ship's side.

Boston Medical Examiner Michael A. Luongo said the 23-year-old woman apparently was beaten and then thrown from the deck of the Utrecht, after it left a Boston pier Friday night.

The cause of death was drowning, Dr. Luongo said. Mrs. Kauffman had multiple head injuries and injuries to her thighs, suffered before death, he reported.

Spector told reporters today there was no doubt in his mind that Mrs. Kauffman was murdered. "It was not suicide," he declared. "I saw the body."

Mrs. Kauffman was returning from Singapore with Mrs. Spector, her three children and a 15-year-old Chinese boy the Spectors hope to adopt.

Spector put them on board the ship Aug. 5, and later returned to St. Louis by plane. He was on a year's leave of absence from Washington University in St. Louis to study an election in Singapore.

Mrs. Spector Questioned.

Mrs. Spector was questioned at length yesterday by Boston police aboard the ship, which is docked at Brooklyn. She was to be questioned again today.

Mrs. Kauffman was employed by Spector, an assistant professor of Far Eastern affairs, three years ago. For the last two years she had lived with the Spectors in their home at 6341 Southwood avenue, Clayton.

BARNEY BAKER IS INDICTED ON PAY-OFF CHARGE

Teamster Troubleshooter Accused of Accepting $525 to 'Preserve Labor Peace.'

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 22—Robert (Barney) Baker, Teamsters Union troubleshooter, was indicted by a United States district court grand jury here yesterday on a charge of accepting payments from an employer in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Baker, 300-pound ex-convict, is a former official of Teamsters Local 405 in St. Louis.

He was charged in three counts in the indictment with receiving a total of $525 in December 1957 and January 1958 from George Callahan Jr., president of Exhibitors Service Co., Pittsburgh. Purpose of the payment, it was alleged, was to "preserve labor peace."

Another Is Indicted.

Theodore (Ted) Cozza, president of Local 211, also was indicted by the federal grand jury. He was charged in 11 counts with accepting $3045 from the Sun-Telegraph newspaper for work he never performed.

Cozza's indictment stemmed from testimony before the Senate Labor Rackets Investigating Committee by officials of the newspaper that more than $100,000 had been paid the union president in nine years "for labor peace."

The indictment against Baker charged that he accepted money from the film distributing firm while representing the company's employes.

The Taft-Hartley Act makes it unlawful for any representative of employes in an industry affecting interstate commerce to receive from an employer "money or valuable articles."

Admitted Making 'Loans.'

Callahan admitted in testimony before the labor rackets investigating committee last year that he gave Baker the $525 after being informed by an intermediary that Baker could be helpful in ending a jurisdictional dispute between Pittsburgh and McKees Rocks locals of the Teamsters, of which Callahan's employes were members. Callahan insisted the payments were "loans."

Maximum penalty on conviction of the charges on which Baker and Cozza were indicted is one year in prison and a $10,000 fine on each count.

Baker, a former pugilist and New York dock worker, was sentenced to prison in New York for stench bombing theaters. He was paroled, but returned to prison for violation of the parole. He entered the Teamsters organization in 1950 as president of Local 730 in Washington.

Two years later, Harold J. Gibbons, now executive assistant to Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, took Baker to St. Louis during a violent taxicab strike. Baker was arrested when a revolver was found in his possession, but charges were not pressed because of legal technicalties. Baker later was advised by St. Louis police to stay away from that city.

The Justice Department reported that Baker now lives in Chicago and is an organizer for the powerful Central Conference of Teamsters, headed by Hoffa and Gibbons.

WIDOW ROBBED OF $168 BY BICYCLE-RIDING THIEF

Mrs. Sybil Smith, 70 years old, was robbed of her purse containing $168 last night by a youth, who fled on a bicycle.

Mrs. Smith, a widow, told police she was walking near her home, 318 North Newstead avenue, when a youth about 16 years old jumped off a bicycle and grabbed her purse. The boy, who wore a red jacket, then rode away.

Jay Forte, a truck driver, told police he was knocked down and robbed of $40 late yesterday when walking in the 2800 block of South Broadway. The assailant stepped out of an alley and struck Forte from the rear, the victim said. Forte lives at 916 Lynch street.

SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS UNDER NEW CRIMINAL LAW

The punishment of Tommy Lee Colbert, a former convict, was fixed by Circuit Judge John C. Casey yesterday at 15 years in the penitentiary on a robbery conviction.

Colbert, 27 years old, was found guilty by a jury last Thursday and Judge Casey assessed the punishment under the new habitual criminal statute. He was arrested July 3 after a $30 robbery of a food shop at 2856 Union boulevard.

Colbert previously was convicted of robbery and grand larceny. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on those charges on Nov. 8, 1955.

POLICE TRAFFIC CHIEF ON LEAVE AS STUDY OPENS

Board Concerned Over Accident Increase — Schumacher Acting Division Head.

Maj. William Cibulka, commander of the police traffic division, started a 30-day leave of absence today as the police board began an inquiry into the increasing number of automobile accidents.

Asked by reporters if there was any significance in Maj. Cibulka's leave of absence at this time, Police Board President H. Sam Priest said there was none.

Priest said Cibulka has been in poor health and the board suggested that he take a needed rest.

Regarding the inquiry, Priest said he and other members of the board were "deeply concerned over the recent increase in all types of traffic accidents." At the same time, Priest added, traffic arrests have dropped.

Capt. William J. Schumacher, a frequent speaker on traffic matters, will be acting commander of the traffic division in Cubulka's absence, Priest said. Schumacher will direct the investigation into accident causes, reporting to the board.

There has been a drop of 2 to 3 per cent in arrests of traffic offenders in recent months, with greater percentages in some police districts, Priest related. "We are not doing as well as we would like," the board president observed.

Police Chief Joseph E. Casey called for a crackdown on traffic violators at meeting of district captains today. Casey drew attention to a 9 per cent increase in accidents inw hich persons were injured in the first eight months of this year, compared with the corresponding period last year.

The total number of accidents thus far this year was 3660, with 47 deaths. In the first eight months last year there were 3365 accidents and 35 fatalities.

Casey told the captains that officers in police care must become "more traffic enforcement conscious."

One-man automobiles replaced motorcycles in the traffic division in November, 1957. The change was made because mottorcycle officers transferred to cars when inclement weather made motorcycles dangerous. The officers were transferred to cars as an economy measure.

Maj. Cibulka, a former motorcycle officer, became head of the traffic division in April 1953. He succeeded Maj. Raymond Dowling.

COURTNEY SAYS "NO" TO FOLGER'S COFFEE TREES!

Attorney Courtney, of the legal firm of Benchly, Courtney and Case, attorneys for Captain Folger today struck a telling blow to Captain Folger's unusual and dramatic plan to bring a real mountain-grown coffee tree to every coffee lover in America.

In appreciation to the millions of coffee lovers who have made Mountain-Grown Folger's Coffee the largest-selling coffee in the vast area in which it is sold, Captain Folger had planned to give each true coffee lover his own personal mountain-grown coffee tree. Courtney countered with the fact that coffee trees yielding the rare Folger kind of coffee grow only on high volcanic slopes. They must be constantly attended, pruned and sprayed. At harvest, each delicate bean must be hand picked, carefully dried, bagged and transported from the high mountains to the seacoast. And so rare is this Mountain-Grown Folger's Coffee, that one tree yields only one pound a year. In short, whoever wins a coffee tree loses his shirt.

In addition, Courtney added that one coffee tree would be valueless to the true coffee connoisseur. To get the wonderful flavor of Mountain-Grown Folger's Coffee requires the yield of many trees, and the skill Folger's has developed over generations in selecting, preparing and blending delicate mountain-grown coffees to give Folger's its inimitable flavor. Captain Folger looked pensive as he heard the legal opinion and agreed that Courtney had a valid point.

SYMINGTON TALKS TO DRUG GROUP HERE

The United States should take the lead in "an international attack on disease," United States Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, said here today.

Addressing 5000 delegates attending the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists at Kiel Auditorium, Symington declared:

"Let Communism's symbol to the people of Africa and Asia be a pennant on the moon.

"America's symbol should be village dispensaries stocked with the modern drugs which will bring them a better and a longer life."

Symington said an international attack on disease, led by the United States, "could double the life expectancy of many of the world's people."

Typical children born in India today can expect to live 32 years, he said, while those born in Pakistan and Burma have a life expectancy of only 35 years, compared with 69 years in this country.

David W. Kendall, special counsel to President Eisenhower, and United States Senator Thomas Kuchel (Rep.), California, are scheduled to address the convention tomorrow morning. Representative Wright Patman (Dem.), Texas, will speak tomorrow afternoon.

Representatives Charles A. Halleck (Rep.), Indiana, minority leader in the House, and Representative Oren Harris (Dem.), Arkansas, are scheduled to address the convention on Thursday.

Miss America of 1960, Miss Lynda Lee Mead, worked in a commercial booth at the convention yesterday and today.

Mrs. Khrushchev Slips Away From Newsmen to Go Shopping

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (AP)—State Department officials helped Mrs. Nina Khrushchev dodge reporters and crowds yesterday for a few hours of calm shopping and a chance to visit a school.

Slipping out of the official Khrushchev motorcade, Mrs. Khrushchev and her small entourage eluded their own local police escort. It was more than three hours before newsmen found them.

Mrs. Khrushchev went first to a Sears Roebuck store, where she spent $150 buying such things as clothes for grandchildren—just born and expected.

The outing, lasting from about 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., took her and the Khrushchev daughters, Rada and Julia, over the Golden Gate Bridge, through a Chinese section of the city and into the suburbs.

They paused at 2:15 p.m. for a late lunch at Trader Vic's, a swank restaurant often frequented by San Francisco socialites. The Khrushchevs selected hamburger Hawaiian — served with fried banana and pineapple —from the two-foot tall menu of international dishes, including Russian caviar.

After lunch the private journey ended. As the party set out for an hour and a half drive, a 10-car motorcade of newspaper people screeched past red lights and up the steep hills after them.

Mrs. Khrushchev went to the 18-classroom Anza grammar school just in time to see children at recess play.

She shook hands and greeted the smaller children as they trooped back inside and then inspected classrooms and asked questions.

Assistant principal Barbara Moore said Mrs. Khrushchev commented that the school had plenty of supplies and equipment.

She noted a number of Negro children attending the school and asked if there was any tuition. When told there was no charge, she wondered how books and paper were paid for.

In a fifth grade classroom, Mrs. Khrushchev discovered a picture of herself tacked up on a board. She was pleased at that, Principal Gertrude O'Halloran reported.

Mrs. Khrushchev had American dollars to spend in her hour and a half shopping spree. She expressed surprise that there were not many toys.

There are many more at Christmas time, she was told. In case Mrs. Khrushchev wants to shop some more, she now has two Sears Roebuck mail order catalogues.

MOON SHOT FIRED WITHIN SECOND OF GOAL, RUSSIA SAYS

© New York Times News Service

MOSCOW, Sept. 22—The Soviet moon rocket was launched within one second of the limit Soviet scientists had set for themselves.

This was reported yesterday by Pravda, Communist party newspaper. It said a mistake of 10 seconds in launching time would move the point of impact 125 miles on the moon. The moon's diameter is 2160 miles.

The accuracy maintained in launching the multistage rocket, Pravda said, "is evidence of perfect launching system and a highly reliable automatic shooting gear."

The guidance or flight control system used to correct the aim of the rocket shot was in operation "all the time while the rocket was being boosted up to speed, that is, for several minutes," Pravda reported.

Khrushchev

talks with President Eisenhower at the end of his stay in this country in a mood of belligerence that would be fatal to any betterment of relations. But if last night was a sample of what the balance of the trip will be like, they have nothing to fear.

Quips About Campaign.

Khrushchev gave off quips with an almost roguish smile and the audience applauded virtually every statement he made. He kidded Mayor Christopher about his campaign for re-election, saying he was considering whether or not to come out for him or to remain neutral.

He lavished his praise on the city, on "your beautiful bay," on the supermarket he visited and on the hospitality he had been accorded by Thomas J. Watson Jr., President of the International Business Machines Corp., who had shown him through the company's electronic computer plant at San Jose.

The visiting No. 1 Communist even threw in a little grudging praise for Los Angeles while adding that he had been told that the chief of police of that city would not let him visit Disneyland because someone had thrown a tomato at the chief's car.

The refusal to permit Khrushchev and his party to visit Disneyland, coupled with other incidents, had touched off the volatile Mr. K. to declare that if America wanted to go on with the cold war Russia was ready and to add that if he was not wanted then he would go home.

Intend to Catch Up.

"You are rich Americans," he said, complimenting the supermarket and the way in which it was organized. "We are just a little envious. But we intend to catch up with you and then that will be good for peace and for all the world."

The theme of peace and friendship came into his talk of nearly an hour and a quarter again and again. He spoke of the offer he had made at the United Nations to abolish all armaments with unlimited control and inspection. American officials are increasingly inclined to take this offer with the utmost seriousness rather than, as in their first reaction, to dismiss it as propaganda.

"We do not want in any way to take advantage of you in urging a normalization of the situation in Berlin," Krushchev said. "We want to do away with the remnants of World War II in calling for a separate treaty of peace with the two Germanys."

Gov. Brown Tactful.

The Soviet Premier echoed the introductory remarks of Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown when he said he agreed that it was best not to touch on the things that divide us but to speak of those points "that bring us together."

Brown, in the pattern of all those who spoke before Khrushchev, took a tactful line, welcoming the Premier as a seeker after peace and avoiding the touchy issues which have set him off on earlier occasions.

"You have charmed my heart," he said to the accompaniment of laughter and applause, "but in my head I still think our system is best."

There was nothing from beginning to end to mar the day's brilliant blue sky and a bright sun showed off this splendid city to the greatest advantage. Starting with an early morning stroll, when Khrushchev said with an almost impish satisfaction that he was happy to have left Lodge behind asleep in the Mark Hopkins Hotel, the program took in many aspects of American life.

Happy to See Bridges.

Having been denounced by the AFL-CIO, Khrushchev called on Harry Bridges of the Longshoremen's Union, which is outside the big organization, and exchanged his hat for a worker's cap. He said it had made him very happy to meet Bridges whom the Government has for many years sought to deport as a Communist.

On a tour of the bay aboard a Coast Guard cutter he told reporters that when he retired, if he lived that long, he hoped to come back to San Francisco to spend some more time. Repeatedly during his speech he praised the city and its citizens.

"I hope that before too long your Golden Gate will open hospitably to ships of the Soviet Union from across the Pacific," Khrushchev said, "and in turn it will open to American ships passing to Soviet ports."

Trade with the other side of the Pacific, including Red China, is a live issue here. More than from any other part of the country, pressure has come from here to reopen trade with the Communist bloc in Asia.

Khrushchev admitted that he knew nothing about the electronic computers he had been shown.

Khrushchev said this reminded him of the time when Soviet scientists were about to launch their first rocket.

"Members of the government were invited to come out and see it," Khrushchev said. "We went out, we looked at it on this side and we looked at on that side," he paused, then said, "we still couldn't understand it."

Visits Supermarket.

In his visit to the supermarket, Khrushchev examined prices of canned and other foods with the greatest care. He seemed to be undisturbed by the rush of photographers who knocked over several displays and for a time threatened to overwhelm the Khrushchev party.

In short yesterday was a day of hearts and flowers. Whether Khrushchev had deliberately decided to alter his mood or whether he was in fact charmed by the friendliness of his reception here can only be conjectured. But it seemed to be a sincere conversion and those in charge of this expedition breathed a deep sigh of relief as the show prepared to move on for two days in Iowa.

By the Associated Press.

In his speech last night, Khrushchev said:

"We want to build a society under which every man will be a brother of his neighbor, where there will be no enmity, there will be complete equality; as, by the way, was preached by Christ.

"And if you do look into our philosophy you will see that we have taken a lot of Christ's precepts, regarding, for instance, love for one's neighbors and others. Such is our aim."

Earlier he went a step further than Communists usually do when they discuss the United States. The Communist line has been that the American people may want peace but their government doesn't.

Draws No Line.

"We want to have friendship with the American people and the American Government, and I draw no line of distinction between the people and the government of the United States," Khrushchev said.

At another point he said:

"You may not agree with us, but we are guided by noble aspirations in our struggle for Communism, and we are going to wage this struggle not by the force of arms, but by our words."

Khrushchev went on to say he already has begun "frank discussions" with President Eisenhower on international problems dividing the world. He expressed hope that a second round of talks with the President beginning Friday will bring Russia and the United States substantially closer to agreement.

Scrapping Cruisers.

While touring the San Francisco bay with the Coast Guard, Khrushchev said to Cmdr. B. Palmer Clark, in command of the cutter:

"I'll tell you a secret. The Soviet navy is largely going to concentrate on submarines. We are scrapping 90 per cent of our cruisers. In modern times they are too expensive and of too little use."

"I won't tell you how many submarines we have lest you think I am bragging," said the Soviet leader "but we have enough so that some of our submarines are assigned to catch herring in the North Sea."

Stanford Research Institute threw a party for Khrushchev, but he passed it by. Three members of the Soviet party went instead.

Institute officials said the party cost $10,000 in time lost by scientists and in money spent on a 16-foot fence that was to keep people away.

Khrushchev said later he was sorry. And Californians, never shy in praising their state, were pleased with this praise from Khrushchev:

"I cannot embrace all the embraceables in your wonderful state. You know how that is."

Talking to newsmen yesterday, Khrushchev said Russia no longer is ruled by a dictator of the proletariat masses. He denied he told American labor leaders that, as Soviet dictator, he would decide what the Soviet people could hear and read.

"That is a false statement," he said.

Khrushchev sought to explain what he said was that, in some circumstances, he favors dictatorship. But that he did not mean, he said, that he called himself a dictator.

"Do you mean that Russia has now reached a point where a dictatorship of the proletariat is no longer required," asked a newsman.

"Undoubtedly," Khrushchev replied. "We don't have any. That is why we proposed our disarmament program, that is why we have reduced the strength of our militia, secret police and other state organs of repression."

Khrushchev said he favors dictatorship when strong one man rule is essential to keep in check the opposition to the regime, or what he called "classes that have been overthrown."

He gave no figures or statistics to back up his claim the Soviet regime has reduced the number of secret police and other agents who check on the Soviet people.

United Nations

habitants of the country to the level of inmates of a zoo.

Tibet 'Genocide.'

Another development even closer to India was what had happened in Tibet, he said. He quoted from the report of the International Commission of Jurists regarding "ruthless suppression" and "genocide" in Tibet.

Tsiang said his own government was dedicated to the freeing of the Chinese people. He said that without a free China, there could be no free Tibet, nor could there be any security for China's neighbors in Southeast Asia.

Those countries should give free China a helping hand, he said. If they could not, they should at least stand by their chosen policy of non-involvement, he said.

Laotian Foreign Minister Khamphan Panya charged that present hostilities in Laos would not have occurred if Red China had not furnished arms, equipment and leadership to the rebels. He accused the Chinese Communists of showing only scorn for the U.N. and its ideals. To admit such a member, he declared, would be putting a premium on violence and aggression.

The Laotian position was a switch from last year, when Laos abstained from voting.

There were more than 80 entries in the contest, in which the artists presented their designs for Christmas Seals. All St. Louis entries now will be sent to the National Tuberculosis Association for judging. The winner of that contest will receive $500 and his design will be used on the 1961 Christmas Seals.

FINED $500 FOR SLAPPING 15-MONTH-OLD DAUGHTER

Paul Kirn, a laborer, who admitted slapping his 15-month-old daughter, today was fined $500 and placed on probation by Police Judge Rodney Weiss. Probation for one year was recommended by the probation office after Kirn pleaded guilty of peace disturbance.

Kirn, 23 years old, told police he lost his temper while feeding his daughter, Terry, Sunday, and slapped her face when she knocked the food aside. The left side of the child's face was bruised. The Kirn home is at 3720A California avenue.

RCA, NBC AGREE TO GIVE UP PHILADELPHIA STATIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP) —Attorney General William P. Rogers announced today an anti-trust consent judgment requiring Radio Corporation of America and National Broadcasting Co. to dispose of NBC's radio and television outlets in Philadelphia.

The stations involved, WPTZ-TV and KYW, were acquired by NBC nearly three years ago through a deal with Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. The Government charged coercion figured in the deal. In the transaction, Westinghouse got NBC's Cleveland stations, WNBK-TV and WTAM-AM-FM, plus $3,000,000 in cash.

The Justice Department alleged that NBC and its parent company, RCA, had conspired to bring about the exchange by threatening Westinghouse with a loss of its NBC network affiliation in Philadelphia and elsewhere.

COLLEGES WARNED AGAINST OVER-STRESSING TESTS

College officials should beware of over-stressing test scores and ignoring human evaluation in admitting new students, Charles D. O'Connell, director of admissions for the University of Chicago, said here yesterday.

"As colleges become more and more crowed, there is a growing temptation to place too much reliance on data that can be quantified and charted," O'Connell declared. He addressed about 70 St. Louis educators who attended a conference at the Park Plaza Hotel on counseling and admissions.

O'Connell said admission officers also should consider such criteria as determination, ability to work with other people, creativity, depth of understanding, judgment and physical vigor. He called for high school officials to submit careful, candid reports on prospective students and for college officials to do more interviewing of applicants.

firmed the Vientiane accounts that 300 mortar shells had been fired by the enemy on Sept. 12. He said attackers numbered 500 to 600 and the fort changed hands four times in four days in a series of attacks. He added that villagers in the vicinity recognized some attackers by their speech as Communist Vietminh from North Viet Nam.

Amkha made available a small single engine plane to take the five reporters to Sam Teu to see for themselves. Others in addition to the Post-Dispatch reporter represented the Agence France Presse, The London Daily Express, an Italian newspaper chain, and Pan-Asia Press.

Commander's Account.

Lt. Baune Thank, standing in his open thatched-roof command post at his hilltop fort of mud and straw huts, said his garrison of 30 men evacuated the fort Sept. 12 after a mortar bombardment. He said they reoccupied it the following day without encountering any enemy forces.

The commander estimated enemy strength at 200 on the basis of reports from villagers. He personally saw only patrols.

He said villagers believed some attackers had to be Vietminh because they made no reply when village girls offered them flowers. They believed the strangers could not speak Lao and must be from North Viet Nam.

Until the restrictive order, issued today, Laotian officials have been trying to be helpful to the 40 or more foreign journalists who have descended on them. There have been no indications of censorship although strict political as well as military censorship is almost invariably imposed when a country is engaged in civil war.

SEATO Conference.

By the Associated Press.

In Bangkok, Thailand, less than an hour away by jet from this capital, military leaders of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization today opened a three-day conference at which the rebellion in Laos will be a key point of discussion. Even though not a member, Laos comes under the protection of the eight-nation anti-Communist alliance.

Secretary General Pote Sarasin said yesterday that the alliance would be prepared to consider sending armed forces to Laos if the Laotian Government requested aid.

Without mentioning Laos, American delegate Adm. Harry D. Felt told today's session that "United States armed forces in the Pacific are powerful manifestations of the alliance which my country has made with nations in Asia." Felt is commander of United States forces in the Pacific.

Members of the alliance, which stretches far beyond the area it is designed to protect, are the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

Bar on Negroes

had questioned counsel closely at a hearing of more than two hours, held a month ahead of schedule to expedite the case.

Effect of the ruling here was to upset the action of United States District Judge Axel J. Beck in Arkansas, directing admission of the Negro children, and uphold Judge Beck's view that the state's pupil assignment acts of 1956 and 1959 are constitutional.

The finding that the Negro children had not exhausted their remedies under state law supported the contention of Dollarway school board attorneys that the rejected applicants should have appealed to the school board in writing and should have sought a hearing, but did not.

Robert V. Light and Herschel H. Friday Jr., counsel for the school board, denied that pupils had been assigned on a basis of race. They pointed out that Arkansas law provides 15 criteria, including such matters as ability, inclination, and the psychological effect on other students.

In appealing Judge Beck's ruling that the Negroes be admitted to Dollarway High immediately, the school board argued that he had ignored some of the 15 criteria, even though he upheld constitutionality of the state law.

N.A.A.C.P. attorney Carter and George Howard Jr. of Pine Bluff told the three-member tribunal here the pupil placement laws had not been applied to white and Negro children alike. They appealed that part of Judge Beck's ruling that held the placement laws were constitutional.

The Dollarway school board, Carter said, is using the assignment law "to defeat and frustrate integration of schools."

punishment was too severe. We feel it was perfectly justified."

Instead of returning to class, Tomy apparently decided to go home.

Clemons said young Lewis was known as "a troublemaker" at the school. A year ago, Clemons said, the school board transferred Tommy from a school where a woman was principal to one where a man was principal.

Clemons said school records showed the boy spent some time in Boys' Town of Missouri, St. James, in 1958 and once tried to run away from there. Tomy had been sent to the office for disciplining five times in the nine days he had attended classes this semester, Clemons said.

Tomy was the Lewises' only son. They also have a 7-year-old daughter.

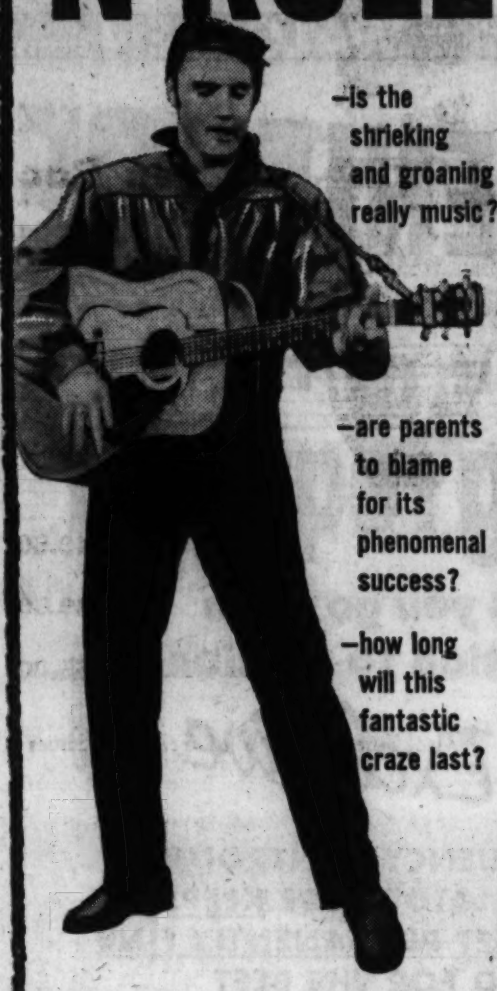
ROCK 'N' ROLL



—is the shrieking and groaning really music?

—are parents to blame for its phenomenal success?

—how long will this fantastic craze last?

UNTIL a few years ago, a hit record usually featured a big-name singer, backed up by a big-name band, recorded on a big-name label — and released with a big-time barrage of publicity. But no more!

In this week's Saturday Evening Post, you'll read how the rock-'n'-roll craze has turned the music world into a "madhouse" — and how it all started with a slim high-schooler named Elvis Presley! You'll learn:

- how disc jockeys at first wouldn't play Elvis' records because he was singing "darky" music.
- how 70 to 80% of the hit records today are turned out by kids you never heard of before.
- how any teen-ager with $100—plus a catchy hiccup or groan—can become another Presley.
- how disc jockeys like Alan Freed hold a frightening power over the teen-age world.
- how a new type of music is gaining popularity —and may soon replace rock and roll.

VIRUS KILLERS

MISSOURI-ILLINOIS AGENCY BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 —Financing powers of the Missouri-Illinois Bi-State Development Agency will be enlarged under a congressional resolution signed today by President Eisenhower.

Various municipal services are supervised by the agency in the St. Louis area, including areas in Illinois.

Some restrictions on the agency's power to sell revenue bonds were removed by the legislation. The resolution gave congressional approval to legislation enacted by the Missouri and Illinois Legislatures, clarifying the agency's powers to enable it to better perform its functions.

JAIL ESCAPE ATTEMPT ENDS AT ANOTHER JAIL

DENVER, Sept. 22 (AP) — Bernadine Maez charged with burglary, slipped into a laundry bag at the Denver county jail and waited for something to happen.

The bag was trundled to a loading dock and picked up by a truck. Bernadine, 18 years old, emerged from the bag and waited for the truck's doors to open at the next stop.

The next stop was the Denver city jail, where Bernadine was met by a jail guard. She is back at the county jail now.

OUT OF STEEL, CATERPILLAR TO LAY OFF 11,500

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 22 (UPI) —The Caterpillar Tractor Co. announced here today that it will lay off 11,500 employes next week because the 10-week steel strike is depleting its supplies of steel.

In Detroit, General Motors announced the shutdown of its Ternstedt Division plant at Columbus, O., which makes trim and body hardware for G.M. automobiles. The plant employed 2800 production workers.

Caterpillar said that, effective Oct. 3, it will lay off 8000 workers at its Peoria plant, 1500 at Joliet, Ill., 1500 at Decatur, Ill., and 500 at San Leandro, Calif. Other Caterpillar plants will not be affected at present.

The company employes a total of about 40,000 workers, 25,000 of whom work in the Peoria area.

At Columbus, Ternstedt executives said that finished inventories were sufficient to match the number of cars G.M. can build with steel now available.

Chrysler says it can build cars into November. Ford, which produces half of its own steel, probably can hold out that long, too. American Motors and Studebaker-Packard also reported sufficient steel for another two months.

The industry's biggest fear is that steel shortages will hamper production right at the start of what the companies predict will be an excellent sales year.

The auto industry expected a steel strike and built its inventories as fast as possible in the first six months of 1959. About 600,000 passenger cars and more than 145,000 trucks have been built so far with steel on hand when the strike started July 15.

Negotiators Meet For 20 Minutes; No Progress Reported.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)— Steel negotiators met briefly today, then adjourned until tomorrow.

No progress toward settlement of the strike was reported at the conclusion of today's 20-minute meetings, the shortest since the strike began.

Top negotiators for both sides were meeting later today with representatives of 12 subcommittees which have been discussing local work rules on a company-by-company basis. A general review of the subcommittees' work is expected to be made when top-level negotiations resume tomorrow.

Heads Atomic Conference.

VIENNA, Sept. 22 (UPI) — Hiroc Furuuchi, Japanese ambassador to Austria defeated a Communist candidate today for the presidency of the third annual conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency. He received 39 votes to 15 for his Bulgarian opponent, Prof. Gusorgui Nadjakov, sponsored by the Soviet Union and Polapd.

PURDUE GIRL STUDENT, HER MOTHER ADMIT SHOPLIFTING

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 22 (UPI)—A former Purdue University "golden girl" who led the school band through its football game haltime formations in 1956 and 1957 as a baton twirler pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of shoplifting from a South Bend department store.

Sandra Hutchison, 21, years old, Sawyer, Mich., and her mother, a teacher, were arrested Saturday by police called by a department store woman detective who said she saw Miss Hutchison and her mother take articles without paying for them. The mother is Mrs. Shirley Hutchison, 47.

TELLS OF METHODS TO CUT STRONTIUM

Concentrations of radioactive strontium-90 in foods can be reduced by proper tilling of soil, Dr. Robert E. Shank, professor of preventive medicine at Washington University, said last night.

Dr. Shank also proposed addition of calcium fertilizers, such as lime, to soil; givingcat tle additional diets of calcium from sources other than plants, and removing strontium-90 from milk by laboratory means.

Dr. Shank spoke at a question-and-answer session of the Conference on School and Community Health at Washington University. Most of the delegates were school health teachers.

Speaking of soil, Dr. Shank said that the two inches on the surface generally contain the greatest amount of strontium-90 from fallout. He suggested that surface soil be mixed with soil below the two-inch level to achieve dilution of the radioactive isotope.

As for removing strontium-90 from milk, he asserted that research has yet to determine whether this is economically possible on a large scale.

Dr. Shank said, in response to a question, that present information about the effects of strontium-90 on man is too limited to permit accurate interpretation to the public. He stressed the importance of continuing efforts to gather data through such means as the baby tooth survey now under way here.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Lowell Bybee Grocery was robbed last Thursday night of $280. Yesterday Bybee got back $264 in the mail. The letter was postmarked Idaho Falls but not signed.

EGGS STOLEN, GEMS LEFT

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 22 (AP)—E. P. Bauer told police that thieves smashed a window in his station wagon when it was parked on a downtown lot and took four dozen eggs.

DAMAGE SUIT IN DRAG RACE DEATH SETTLED FOR $15,000

A damage suit brought by the parents of Gerald E. Miles, who was killed in a head-on collision with an automobile racing in Riverview boulevard, was settled today for $15,000.

The suit, seeking damages of $25,000, was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Miles against Robert Clarence Fennewald, one of the participants in the drag race last Nov. 23, and the administrator of the estates of Martin J. and Walter L. Schweppe, brothers, who were drag racing with Fennewald and were killed in the accident. Miles was not participating in the race.

Fennewald, whose automobile was not directly involved in the accident, is under bond pending appeal of his conviction last May on a charge of manslaughter. His punishment was fixed at one year in the Workhouse and a $1000 fine.

CRITICIZES HANDLING OF JUVENILE CRIMES

Law enforcement agencies were criticized today for inconsistent procedures in handling juvenile offenders.

L. Donald Swanson of the United States Children's Bureau said some police departments treat juveniles as adults while others treat them as children.

"In some cities juveniles are arrested for any degree of law infraction," Swanson noted. "In other places they are arrested only for serious offenses."

Swanson, a consultant on police survices for the Children's Bureau, spoke at a law enforcement training institute on "Work With Youth in Trouble." The institute was held at the St. Louis County Hospital auditorium.

In a talk earlier today, Circuit Judge David A. McMullan of the St. Louis Juvenile Court said that one of the major causes of juvenile delinquency is that parents reject their children.

"Rejection of children includes showing no interest in them and taking no responsibility for their conduct," Judge McMullan said.

"Some parents will bring a child into court and place the entire blame on him instead of assuming any of the blame themselves," the judge added.

The philosophy of the Juvenile Court is corrective rather than punitive, McMullan said. He added that fewer than 10 per cent of the juveniles brought into court go on to become criminals.

McMullan said juvenile records are kept confidential for the purpose of "preventing adverse publicity which would ruin the reputations of young offenders among their associates."

Another speaker, Circuit Judge Virgil A. Poelker of the St. Louis County Juvenile Court, recommended training at least one officer from each municipality in St. Louis county in a school specializing in work with juveniles.

Officers attending such a school could learn standard juvenile methods and could be designated juvenile officers in their respective municipalities, Judge Poelker said.

WARNING ON MALARIA PERIL

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sept. 22 (AP)—Dr. I. C. Fang, western Pacific director of the World Health Organization, said yesterday the campaign to wipe out malaria has become a race against time.

Some malaria-carrying mosquitoes are developing resistance to insecticides, Fang told a regional WHO committee meeting, and the disease is recurring in several western Pacific areas from which it was believed to have been cleared.

MOTTO
Happily, we have a new motto—good advice for all who dream of Europe. "Sea it now." Two reasons. First: by sea is the glorious way to cross—the classic adventure no dreamer should miss. Once aboard a gracious Italian Line ship, you'll see why. The food, fun, service, sun and people all contribute. So do beguiling ports: Lisbon, Gibraltar, Naples, Cannes, Genoa, Venice and such. (How sad that some feel pressed for time, feel forced to skim over such treasures.) (Don't do it.) Our second reason: Now is the perfect time to do Europe. The throng has thinned; Europeans are a bit more fun, more European. And our Sunny Southern Route is still beautiful, still spectacular. So—see the sea; see Europe. Sea it now.

BAPTISTS TO CONDUCT TV CAMPAIGN ON DELINQUENCY

© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 — The Southern Baptist Convention, representing some 9,000,000 persons, will spend $3,000,000 on a nation-wide television campaign designed to curb juvenile delinquency. It will begin in January.

Called "televangelism," the project will employ a new technique to attract teen-agers not affiliated with any religious group. In essence, the campaign requires churchgoers, or young members of their families, to hold home viewing parties every Sunday.

Guests may be drawn from any stratum of the community. They will view, and later discuss, a series of 30-minute filmed episodes involving situations frequently confronted by young persons.

20,000 VIEW LAUNCHING OF POLARIS SUBMARINE

GROTON, Conn., Sept. 22 (UPI)—The Polaris missile submarine Patrick Henry was launched today.

About 20,000 persons watched the 380-foot craft slip off the ways at the Electric Boat yards of General Dynamics Corp. and into the Thames river.

The Henry, second of its class to be launched here in three months, was sponsored by Mrs. Leslie C. Arends, wife of the Illinois Congressman.

CITY CONSIDERS NEW HOME FOR CHRONICALLY ILL

Construction of a 400-bed nursing home for chronically ill persons is being "seriously considered" by the city administration, Mayor Raymond R. Tucker said last night.

Speaking on the KMOX-TV program, "Eye on St. Louis", the Mayor said $4,000,000 for such a facility was provided in the 1955 bond issue.

A 1957 survey by the American Public Health Association recommended against building a new chronic hospital but suggested construction of a 400-bed nursing home for chronically ill patients.

The city administration has steadfastly opposed construction of a new chronic hospital on the basis of the public health association's recommendation against it.

Dr. J. Earl Smith, city director of health and hospitals, recommended construction of a nursing home recently in a four-point program for improving the city's health and hospital services. Mayor Tucker indorsed this program.

Joseph B. Shank, director of St. Louis Chronic Hospital, has stated that what is needed for the chronically ill here is a separate institution where patients may receive concentrated care and treatment.

Mayor Tucker, questioned on the program by reporters, criticized state officials for refusing to "accept their responsibilities" in the care of chronically ill and mental patients now being cared for in city institutions.

The city administration hopes to transfer some mental patients from Malcolm Bliss Hospital to state mental hospitals here and at Fulton, the Mayor said.

This would make room for some of the 278 mental patients now being housed at the Chronic Hospital. They would be transferred to Malcolm Bliss, Tucker explained.

Another plan involves opening unused wards at City, Homer G. Phillips and Koch Hospitals for those patients who need custodial care. This step was recommended by the American Public Health Association survey.

TRANS-ATLANTIC TELEPHONE CABLE SERVICE INAUGURATED

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—A telephone call to Paris made history today. The brief, chatty conversation among three telephone officials in New York and four in Paris marked the inauguration of the first telephone cable system to link North America directly to the European mainland.

A $40,000,000, 4400-mile system, the cable extends from Nova Scotia to Newfoundland, as a single strand. From there a twin-cable crosses the Atlantic to Penmarch, France. Telephone calls are relayed back and forth from New York to Nova Scotia by a radio relay system.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. owns 64 per cent of the cable system. The rest is owned jointly by the French and German ministries of posts and telecommunications.

LET OTHERS IN U.N. ACT ON RED CHINA, STEVENSON SAYS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says the United States, regardless of its own views, should let the other members of the United Nations decide whether Red China will be admitted to that body.

In a television interview last night, Stevenson said it has been a mistake for the United States to make such a point of trying to keep Red China out of the U.N.

He said that as "leader of the anti-admission lobby in the U.N.," the United States has drawn much blame.

"In other words," Stevenson continued, "my own view is that they should be admitted or not admitted as the other members of the U.N. wish without interference from this country, regardless of how we vote upon that issue. . . .

"If they are in the U.N., I think they would have to answer almost daily for some of these things they have done of late that have provoked the indignation of the whole world."

MISSOURI U. TO APPEAL SUBPENAING OF RECORDS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 22—Curators of the University of Missouri plan to appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court a magistrate's ruling that university records in disciplinary cases may be subpenaed as evidence, it was announced today.

President Elmer Ellis said the board feels it must seek a writ of prohibition against the ruling of Magistrate Temple H. Morgett that records of the dean of students be submitted in preliminary hearings of two students charged with participating in a beating case last winter. The students are John Leber of St. Louis county and Carl W. Summers Jr., North Kansas City.

"In 120 years no attempt has been made before to interfere with the privileged character of our student conduct work," President Ellis said in explaining the curators' decision to appeal. "We do not seek to shield students from punishment, but we say the investigation should be conducted by proper authorities as if the accused person were not a student."

HEARING ON CHARGE AGAINST EAST SIDE TEAMSTER LOCAL

A hearing began today before the National Labor Relations Board here on a complaint of unfair labor practices against Local 971 of the Teamsters' Union in East St. Louis.

The complaint was issued by the NLRB on charges brought by the East St. Louis Association of Independent Petroleum Retailers, which represents filling station operators in their bargaining with the union.

Local 971 was charged with attempting to coerce association members into bargaining individually with the union, thus eliminating the association as bargaining agent for the retailers. The local represents employes of the filling station operators.

PREMIER TO STAY WITH PRESIDENT AT CAMP DAVID

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Premier Khrushchev will live in the same lodge President Eisenhower occupies while their talks are held this weekend at Camp David.

Announcing this today, the White House said Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Andrei Gromyko, Russia's foreign minister, also will have living quarters in the presidential lodge, known as Aspen.

The four-bedroom rustic lodge is in the Catoctin mountains near Thurmont, Md., about 65 miles north of Washington.

Khrushchev is scheduled to arrive at Camp David early Friday evening. He will stay until midday Sunday, then return to Washington for a news conference and a radio-television report to the American people on his tour of the United States.

4 WHITE YOUTHS ARRESTED IN NEGRO CHURCH BOMBING

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 22 (AP)—Four white youths were arrested today in connection with the tossing of a homemade bomb into a Negro church.

No one was injured when the bomb went off last night at the True Way of God in Jesus Christ church. The blast ripped a 6-inch hole in the floor, knocked over one pew and splintered another, and smashed two plate glass windows. The lights were out and no one was in the church.

Elder Arthur Wilson, pastor, termed the incident a teen-age prank. "I don't think the bombing results from racial tensions," he said. "This is just kids."

STORMY SEAS HAMPER HUNT FOR 7 FISHERMEN IN GULF

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—Stormy seas hampered a search today for seven fishermen missing in the Gulf of Mexico.

Planes and fishing vessels were taking part in the hunt for two boats which disappeared in heavy weekend rainstorms.

Bob Long, Treasure Island, and Donald Hobbs, St. Petersburg, failed to return after taking a 14-foot outboard craft on a fishing trip off St. Petersburg beach Saturday.

Five men from Fort Myers—Leo Barrington, Frank Connors, John Williams, Marshall Miller and Ronald Deese—have not been heard from since they left there Sunday to fish in Pine Island sound.

KILLER GETS LIFE SENTENCE

NEVADA, Ia., Sept. 22 (UPI)—Barry McDaniel, an Iowa State University honor student who murdered a mother and her adopted baby because of "an urge to kill," was sentenced yesterday to life in prison.

McDaniel, 20 years old, strangled Mrs. Monice Larson with his hands and smothered her infant adopted daughter.

AFL-CIO Chiefs Plan Arbitration Of All Disputes Between Unions

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Agreement has been reached among top leaders at the biennial AFL-CIO convention to submit all disputes between rival unions to binding arbitration.

The pact demonstrates a new solidarity among labor chiefs in the face of what they view as increasing business pressures to weaken or exterminate labor organizations. The AFL-CIO leaders plan to call a special convention next year to implement the peace plan.

A convention next year could have political implications. Normally the next AFL-CIO convention would be held in 1961.

A closed meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council last night ratified in 20 minutes a plan to solve inter-union strife that has plagued rival organizations for years.

Neutral Party.

Basically, the plan requires unions involved in any sort of dispute with a rival—over job right jurisdiction, raids between unions, boycotts of rival union products, or even organizing ethics—to let a neutral outsider decide which is right.

Each dispute would be decided on its own merits, without setting a precedent.

Failure to solve frequent union squabbles was the root of the trouble that drove labor organizations into rival AFL and CIO camps in 1935.

The peace plan is the real product and binder of the 1955 AFL-CIO merger. Leaders expect it to solidify labor as never before.

It is the result, they said, of the threat implied to other unions in the continuing steel strike and business success in getting Congress to pass the new labor control law.

To Work Out Details.

Under the plan, due to be approved at the convention here, a special five-man committee is authorized to proceed to work out details of a plan based on the arbitration principle.

The committee is headed by Al Hayes, president of the Machinists Union. It would report to a special federation convention in 1960 for required constitutional changes.

A resolution adopted late yesterday by the AFL-CIO delegates resolved to step up union bargaining efforts to increase wages, a step they said is necessary to spread purchasing power and keep the economy going.

Tight Money Attacked.

Another resolution attacking the Eisenhower Administration's balanced budget and tight money policies was approved. It declared tight money policies consistently pursued through most of the last six years had caused a dangerous slowdown in the nation's economic growth.

It said national production increases an average of 2.7 per cent a year in 1953-59, compared with 4.6 per cent in 1947-53.

"The pace of economic growth has been slower than in almost every industrial country in the world and merely one third to one half of the rate achieved by the Soviet Union."

Another resolution, calling for construction of 2,250,000 new homes a year to meet an acute housing shortage, declared President Eisenhower "indefensibly vetoed" two housing bills passed by the last Congress. It said his vetoes forced acceptance of a less adequate bill.

ILA Appears to Have Approved AFL-CIO Affiliation.

• NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Association appeared today to have approved affiliation with the AFL-CIO despite heavy votes against the move in some New York area locals. The vote in all New York and New Jersey locals of the Port of New York yesterday was 9970 to 7719 in favor of affiliation.

Preliminary reports on voting in other ports along the East and Gulf coasts indicated a heavy margin in favor of joining the united labor movement.

The ILA was kicked out of the AFL five years ago on charges it was dominated by racketeers.

GIRL RUNS INTO SIDE OF CAR; SUFFERS SERIOUS INJURIES

Jean Hogrebe, 3 years old, was injured seriously today when she ran from in front of a parked car into the side of a moving automobile. The accident occurred in front of her home at 9306 Forman road, Affton.

The automobile was driven by Eldon Ebert of 9277 Forman, who told police his car was traveling about 15 miles an hour. He heard something strike his car, then looked in his rear view mirror and observed the child lying in the street, he said.

Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hogrebe. She was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Kirkwood. She suffered a skull fracture, possible internal injuries and a possible fracture of the right leg.

POLICEMEN TO BE REQUIRED TO FILL OUT DAILY REPORT

A "daily summary of field activities will be required from every St. Louis policeman under an order issued by Chief of Police Joseph E. Casey yesterday.

A similar but more complicated form was put in use a year ago on an experimental basis but only officers on the street were required to submit it, Casey said. The new form will be submitted by everyone from turnkey up, he explained.

The 8½-by-11-inch form lists 37 categories of activities. Policemen will check those in which they have participated during the day. On the reverse side they will fill in details of certain activities, such as court appearances on days off. The new form will supersede some other forms used in the past, such as district detectives' daily reports, Casey said.

MILE OF BAPTIST CHURCH ROAD TO BE CLOSED FOR DAY

A one-mile section of Baptist Church road in southwest St. Louis county will be closed all day tomorrow, John J. Leslie, county highway engineer, announced today.

A bridge over Gravois creek will be redecked during the day, Leslie explained. The bridge is about four-tenth of a mile south of Gravois road.

The road will be closed from Lindbergh boulevard to Gravois. Motorists may enter Baptist Church road from either side while repair work is in progress, but they will be unable to cross the bridge.

KIRKWOOD ORGANIZATION TO OPPOSE NEW CHARTER

An organizational meeting of a citizens' group, tentatively named the Kirkwood Committee for Self Government, will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Kirkwood City Hall.

The group was formed to oppose the proposed home rule charter, which provides for a city manager-council form of government in Kirkwood. The proposal will be submitted to Kirkwood residents in the Nov. 3 election.

Allen A. Webber, 643 Norfolk drive, Kirkwood, has been appointed chairman of the committee.

5 WHO FAILED TO PAY WAGERING TAX FINED

Five men were fined a total of $4000 today by United States District Judge William G. Juergens in East St. Louis after they pleaded guilty of taking bets without paying the $50 federal wagering tax.

All five men were placed on probation for three years. The maximum penalty which might have been imposed on each of them is a $10,000 fine and a year's imprisonment.

Those fined, together with the amount of the fine, were:

Merlin A. Behnen, tavern operator at 512 North Twenty-seventh street, East St. Louis, $500.

George Bertels, a gambler, $250.

The five men were among a large number of gambling suspects arrested in a series of raids by Internal Revenue Service agents in May, 1957. They had pleaded not guilty but changed their pleas to guilty earlier this month.

Khrushchev Is Failing to Reduce Tensions, Leaves Men He Meets With Greater Sense of Anxiety

Those Who See Him Privately Get Impression He May Have Dual Purpose of Offering Peace and Creating Fear to Obtain Own Way.

By JAMES RESTON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV is not achieving the stated objectives of his visit. He is not "reducing tensions." If anything, he is increasing them among a substantial number of precisely those influential Americans he presumably wanted to impress.

He may, of course, manage to change this in the important conversations with President Eisenhower scheduled to begin at Camp David, Md., Friday. But so far, he has left a great many of those who have met him in private with a greater sense of anxiety than they had before.

If you talk with the officials who saw him privately in Washington, or the business men who talked to him in New York, or the labor leaders who wrangled with him Sunday night in San Francisco, one impression dominates their conversation:

This is a much more emotional man than they expected to find, much more determined and unyielding, quick to take offense where no offense is intended, an angry and intolerant man who wants peace and trade at a price this country is not prepared to pay.

WALTER REUTHER, vice president of the AFL-CIO, summarized yesterday one impression that seems to be general among those who have had the opportunity to get into serious discussion with Khrushchev.

This is that, so long as the conversation is general and deals with such objectives as peace and the well-being of mankind, everything is amiable. As soon as it turns to anything specific: Germany, inspection of armies, navies and air forces, the use of force in Laos, Vietnam, or Korea—Khrushchev is either evasive or scornful or downright angry and offensive.

This has happened so many times and so consistently in serious conversation, that some of his auditors have even begun to speculate on whether his tantrums are calculated.

He may not have intended to convey this impression, but it is a fact that he has some intelligent people wondering whether he has not come here with the dual purpose of offering peace and creating fear, to warn that if his policies are not accepted, the consequences may be very grave indeed.

THUS TWO HYPOTHESES now dominate the speculation among the effects of this visit so far, both of them disturbing: First that he is an emotionally unstable man wielding incredible power; and second, that he is letting his temper go to suggest the consequences of refusing his offers.

There is a third hypothesis that is less disturbing. This that a series of unfortunate incidents, combined with the exhaustion of the trip, have merely riled him up and kept him in a quarrelsome mood.

Many of those travelling with his party believe that it was a blunder to assign Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to the role of preceding him on the public platform, particularly when Lodge used this assignment to lecture Khrushchev on freedom and the Communist ideology.

This set a pattern for the journey, which other politicians were quick to follow. All of them seemed impressed with the political advantages Vice President Nixon gained from his public arguments with the Soviet leader in Moscow, but there were two differences in these performances.

Nixon did not initiate the arguments: he merely defended himself and his country when Khrushchev took the offensive. Also, the politicians who undertook to instruct Khrushchev here did so when he was abroad with the whole world watching.

THE SOVIET LEADER is highly sensitive about his position as Chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R. He obviously feels obliged to rush to the defense of his country and the Communist system whenever anybody says anything good about the United States.

He may be accustomed to private debate in the councils of his country, but he is not accustomed to being crossed in public, and even when he was asked Sunday whether he had any new impressions of the United States, he replied at once that if the questioner was asking whether he thought the capitalist system was any good, the answer was definitely "no."

Nevertheless, his moods change with the atmosphere of the crowd. Despite his fierce debate with the labor union leaders, he was in an agreeable mood yesterday and even said twice that he was convinced, not only that "the people" of the United States want peace, but that the "leaders" of this country wanted peace too.

Here again, however, was the amiable attitude on generalities. The central fact remains that on the basic questions of policy to be negotiated, and particularly on Germany and freedom, there is not the slightest suggestion of any change. What is more disturbing, these subjects cannot be mentioned without engaging his prestige and his temper.

U.S. SECURITY OFFICERS DECORATED BY RUSSIANS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Members of the official Soviet party presented 75 medals to 25 United States security officers last night after Premier Khrushchev concluded his address at the Sheraton-Palace hotel.

The medals were blue and silver. Some showed the Russian moon rocket, others depicted Sputniks I and II and one showed a dove of peace.

Iowan Likely to Tell Khrushchev About Force of American Idealism

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.

IF NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV has a chance at any point in his tour of America to break through the barrier reef of police, security specialists, reporters and camera men and really learn something about Americans and how they live, it will be in Iowa.

His host in Coon Rapids, Roswell (Bob) Garst, is in that overworked phrase as American as corn on the cob. What Khrushchev might learn from him is the force in American life of hardheaded idealism. One of the strong currents that has shaped this nation, it is too often overlooked or ignored by the distinguished foreign visitor who sees only the glittering surface of the big cities.

Garst is a prophet of world peace through agricultural plenty. He talks with a fervor equal to that of Khrushchev of how hunger can be abolished not by ideologies but by the new farm techniques that science has made possible. At the same time he is a successful business man and farmer, whose firm, the Garst and Thomas Hybrid Corn Co., sells its products in every corner of the globe.

When the Russian farm specialists, the first Soviet delegation to visit this country, came to Iowa in 1955 they met Garst and were greatly impressed by the productivity of his seed corn. Garst returned the visit, and in Moscow he met Khrushchev and ultimately got on something like friendly terms with him.

KHRUSHCHEV was then beginning to project his big dream of opening up the virgin lands of Siberia to intensive modern cultivation. Part of the dream was to grow corn and feed it to cattle and hogs and thereby give the Russians a lot more milk and meat. Khrushchev is often called by his own people in humorous affection the "corn king."

So he and Garst had this bond in common. The Garst and Thomas company sold the Russians hybrid seed corn. Some say the orders amounted to $2,000,000. In any event, as Garst points out, it was not long before they got their own hybrid seed production going, following a visit to this country to study American methods.

Spending considerable sums for machinery to equip plants to produce seed, they soon had their own foundation stock. This year they are producing enough hybrid seed corn — from that same foundation stock and its crosses — to plant the entire corn acreage of the Soviet Union with seed they themselves are raising.

They carried out in five years a transformation that occurred in the United States between 1935 and 1945. Now having pushed through this revolution, Khrushchev, according to Garst is coming to find out about other techniques that in the view of Bob and his brother, Jonathan, a specialist in agricultural economics, can vastly expand the production of food.

Most important is the feeding of cellulose — corn cobs, for example — mixed with urea to supply the protein for cattle feed.

Chemically produced urea costs 2 cents a pound, compared to 8 cents for protein

Use of Manned Balloons for Study of Stars

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP).

THE AIR FORCE Office of Scientific Research yesterday announced plans to study the stars from stabilized platforms 10 miles above the earth. The platforms, carrying telescopes, will be supported by manned balloons.

A $50,000 one-year contract has been awarded to Dr. J. A. Hynek of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory, Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. William J. Otting, AFOSR director of physical sciences, said the project will attempt to determine the limit at which telescopes of moderate apertures are affected by the way in which the atmosphere causes the stars to scintillate. It also will attempt to prove the design of an automatic star tracker.

AFOSR also announced the award of a $585,000 contract from the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency to Avco Research Laboratory, Everett, Mass., for laboratory studies designed to provide information on problems of propulsion between the earth and the moon.

In another announcement, the National Aeronautics and Space Agency reported that it has decided against firing a Mercury astronaut 1800 miles over the Atlantic in an Atlas missile.

Instead, they will go from short test flights in Redstone rockets to full scale satellite launchings with the Atlas.

A NASA spokesman said that the Atlas ride, which would take the astronaut more than 200 miles above the earth and give him some 12 minutes of weightlessness, was considered but was dropped. Instead, some of the astronauts will be launched to an altitude of 100 miles by a Redstone rocket, possibly starting next spring, and will be recovered about 200 miles down range after about five minutes of weightlessness.

Exchange of Visits Expected To Affect Outcome at Geneva

By DONALD GRANT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, Sept. 22.

ONE MEASURE of the success or failure of the exchange of visits between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower will be the outcome of the Geneva conference on suspension of nuclear weapons tests well-informed diplomats from both nations think.

An agreement on suspension of such tests with adequate controls could indeed be the solid, immediate outcome of Khrushchev's proposal for "general and complete disarmament." This proposal, Soviet diplomats said, was put forward both as a slogan and an ultimate objective—in the hope that it would help mobilize world opinion in favor of disarmament.

The United States, it was indicated by our diplomats, is less inclined to dismiss the Khrushchev proposal as "mere propaganda" than it was at first. The popular appeal of "general and complete disarmament" is beginning to be realized.

Furthermore, American diplomats do not consider an agreement to end nuclear weapons tests — if such an immediate result turns out to be possible—as an inconsequential thing. Although in the past, American spokesmen have belittled a test suspension as "not real disarmament," another view is gaining.

Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, now acting head of the American U.N. delegation, who led the United States team in the Geneva nuclear test negotiations, has called that conference "our only hope of establishing a precedent which can be used in negotiations throughout the whole field of disarmament." After 10 months of negotiations, the conference of representatives of the United States, Russia and Britain suspended sessions last month.

IT IS SCHEDULED to resume Oct. 12. Diplomats here said that meaningful negotiations on test suspensions probably will not be held until after Khrushchev returns to Russia, and Mr. Eisenhower completes his Russian tour and returns to Washington.

If, within the next month or two, an agreement on suspension of tests can be reached, it was pointed out, the stage will have been set for disarmament negotiations by the 10-nation committee which is to go into operation early in 1960.

One significant view indicated by both American and Russian sources is that a French test of atomic weapons, scheduled soon to be held in the Sahara, will not necessarily upset negotiations on a test-suspension agreement.

An unofficial nuclear test suspension now is in force. Khrushchev told the U.N. General Assembly last week that Russia would not resume nuclear tests so long as "Western powers do not resume theirs."

A French nuclear weapon explosion would leave Russia free to resume testing. Russian sources indicated however, that the Soviet Union may not necessarily take advantage of this situation. American sources indicated they had received assurances to the same effect.

THE RUSSIANS look on a French nuclear test as, chiefly, an exercise of the ego of French President Charles de Gaulle. Once the French have exploded a bomb it is expected France will join the "nuclear club," willing to agree to explode no more nuclear weapons.

At some later date, Russian sources declared, it is possible that Communist China may explode a nuclear weapon and then join in an agreement to explode no more. A Chinese nuclear test was not said to be necessarily imminent.

The Chinese position in the current world political developments is particularly interesting.

The United States seldom has made a more vigorous display of opposition to the seating of

Muscovite Paradox

". . . . . a paradox
Which comforts while it
mocks . . ."
(Browning)

While the "sign of the cross"—of the Prince of Peace—floats in sky-writing overhead, while certain church groups protest, comes an atheist dictator pleading for universal disarmament and peace.

Right doctrine — wrong protagonist?

Or, as Nathanael inquired of Philip the Apostle, "Can any good thing come out of . . . ?"

The reply to that question, remember, was and is, "Come and see."

Let us grant that Mr. K. will use and has used any and all means to accomplish his ends. We non-Communists have more to fear from regarding peace as an ugly word than we have from taking Mr. K. at his often-worthless word and giving him the surprise of his life.

The answer is, "Let's go!"

P.J.W.

May I express the opinion that we owe Khrushchev a tremendous debt of gratitude? He has shaken us out of the deep lethargy that is so characteristic of Americans who take this wonderful freedom of ours for granted. Sometimes we feel it is as natural as the water we drink or the air we breathe.

It has been noticeable since Khrushchev's arrival here how friendly people have suddenly become to one another.

No longer is the woman who shares your table at the cafeteria, or the man next to you in the bus, or the barber or the hairdresser just ordinary people. No, they are your fellow Americans who have a common bond with you in this great land and it makes you feel good to realize it.

Mrs. Blanche Stephenson
Vinita Park

I was amazed and appalled at the behavior of the American people upon the arrival of Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The attitude of the Washington onlookers was described as "courteous but cool."

I believe their reaction was absurdly rude and absolutely cold. Not only was it a rebuff of Khrushchev's sincere aims for peace, but also a definite rebuff of President Eisenhower's invitation to the Premier, and the entire idea of carrying on discussions in order to bring a closer understanding between the two heads of state and the two nations.

What the American people must realize is that Khrushchev is the leader of a great nation and of a system of government which is used by one third of the world's population. Just because we don't agree with him doesn't mean we should snub him. Rather we should respect him and try to get along.

I was also discouraged and astounded by the attitudes taken by many Congressmen and other officials in Washington, toward the Khrushchev visit. They apparently believe that there is no need for talks or discussions about the tensions constantly arising from the conflicts of our two systems.

Merely because we do not believe in the Communist system, and violently disagree with Khrushchev and his ideas, is certainly a poor excuse for not talking things over and trying to get along with a people who comprise a great percentage of the world's population.

The Rail Club

Sometimes a person wonders whether our schools are wasting time trying to get us all socially adjusted.

This ran through my mind after I met an old friend on Locust street who tried to enlist me in the Rail Club. It seems that in the last election the Mayor and all our aldermen, committeemen, precinct captains, etc., made some eager promises about tax reductions should the earnings tax be increased.

There seem to be unconstructive rumors that the boys at City Hall and the Courts Building are thinking up raises, pensions and jobs to use up that nice, juicy money.

And everybody seems to be a little coy though pleasant enough when tax reductions are mentioned.

This, my friend on Locust street says, is where the Rail Club enters. When the kitty gets large enough rails are to be bought for next election day. Aldermen and such who forgot about the promised tax reductions are to get a free ride out of town.

I declined to join the Rail Club as I believe socially maladjusted ideas make it difficult for our statesmen to pursue a career of public service in peace and quiet.

Shrinking War in Laos

The "brushfire war" in Laos—which at some times seemed to threaten another Korea—apparently is diminishing in importance as United Nations observers and reporters approach its "battlefields."

Roughly a month ago the Western world became concerned about reports of a Communist campaign to over-run Laos. The jungle was said to be full of Reds from North Vietnam and China as well as Laotian Pathet Lao rebels crossing into the country from Thailand. There were reports of a reign of terror, of bodies—even those of children—cast into rivers, of 80 or more villages taken.

On Aug. 26 Ngon Sananikone, Laotian representative in Washington, declared that the situation was "grave," that it might soon turn into a "debacle." Hopes for the survival of Laos as a free country, he said, were dim. An appeal was made for United Nations troops. The United States decided to send military support for another 5000 soldiers. The State Department issued a stern warning. The U.N. Security Council was called into session. London agreed that the reports were indeed serious, if true. The U.N. decided to send representatives to find out.

Now in Laos, those representatives have not been offered much more evidence than a basket of mortar shards said to have been picked up on the field of Sam Teu where a four-day "battle" was fought a little more than a week ago. There are no prisoners to reveal the identity or number of the enemy. The size of the loyal force shrinks amazingly. In the capital, Gen. Amkha Seukavong says it numbered 300. Lt. Beune Thank, the field commander, says he had only 140 men and that all but 30 were deployed elsewhere. Damage seems to have been confined to the burning of two grass huts—in which two men were killed—and a crack in the ridge-pole of the lieutenant's grass hut.

The facts now so slowly emerging have led Richard Dudman of the Post-Dispatch to report from Laos that the crisis is political rather than military, and that on-the-scene information near the border is widely at variance with earlier communiques handed to reporters in Vientiane.

Further evidence may be forthcoming, but it now seems doubtful that it will justify the alarms. Probably the borders of Laos are leaky as a sieve, and probably Pathet Lao people, if not North Vietnamese or Chinese, cross them more or less at will. The Laotians are easy-going. Their laxness could involve distant friends in serious trouble. That is why the U.N. was wise in deciding to learn something of the size of the wolf behind the Laotian wolf-cries.

What a Life Can Be

In the years 1908-09 a wiry, energetic little man made a first-hand survey of so-called medical schools in the United States for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Many of the 155 schools he visited personally were little beyond the superstition and quackery of the Middle Ages. Some schools were out-and-out diploma mills. A large number of the medical teachers were complete incompetents and hence could teach their students nothing of value. The few great medical schools such as Johns Hopkins suffered from inevitable association with the fraudulent institutions.

In his birthplace of Louisville, the investigator, Dr. Abraham Flexner, recommended that seven inferior schools be closed and that one good school be formed from those few parts of the seven that were salvageable. He came to St. Louis and went through the Washington University Medical School with the exactness of a surgeon. As a consequence virtually the whole faculty was dismissed and a fresh start was undertaken by Robert Brookings along the lines the resolute critic recommended.

Almost 50 years have passed since the Flexner Report of 1910. It still stands out as a landmark in education and medicine. Out of it came the impetus for the building of the great American medical centers whose clinics and laboratories have saved countless lives, trained thousands of physicians and surgeons and attracted men and women from over the world. Yet his famous survey of medical schools was only one of Abraham Flexner's good works. Upon his "retirement" he founded the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., with Albert Einstein as his first faculty member. He made it a haven for free research and inquiry for scholars and such it has been for 30 years.

Dr. Flexner's death at the age of 93 in Falls Church, Va., closes one of the most useful lives ever lived on this continent. He called his autobiography, "I Remember." Fellow Americans can say to him: "We will remember."

A Year and a Half with Nalline

A year and a half's experience with the new nalline testing program for dope addicts in St. Louis, as reported by Circuit Attorney Eagleton, appears to justify amply the expectations that were held for it here.

Mr. Eagleton says the program has been passed successfully by 103 persons, which means that they have curtailed their narcotics addiction and there is hope they can be cured. During the same period, 96 narcotics offenders have been sent to the city workhouse or jail and 64 have been committed to penal institutions for crimes other than addiction.

The nalline program, originated at Oakland, Calif., is entirely voluntary with the prisoner. Nalline is a drug which reveals the recent intake of narcotics quickly through dilation of the pupils of the eyes, a short-cut of the sweating-out process which takes days. First offenders are given the option of a year's suspended sentence if they will report at fixed and frequent intervals for the nalline test, with the understanding that if the test discloses they have been taking narcotics the probation will be revoked.

This arrangement gives them a strong incentive to stay off the stuff. Psychologically the approach seemed effective in a surprising number of cases at Oakland, and Mr. Eagleton's report suggests that a similar experience is being recorded here.

His report is also an effective answer to United States Commissioner of Narcotics Anslinger, who recently transferred three of four federal narcotics agents from St. Louis on grounds that the state narcotics laws had been weakened. Mr. Anslinger referred to old laws making mandatory a two-year prison sentence without parole for first offenders. The new statutes, permitting terms up to one year in the City Workhouse for first offenders, and permitting parole, made the nalline program possible, and were sought by the Circuit Attorney for that reason.

The harsh-sounding former laws were frequently ineffective because a jury would not send a first offender to prison for two years for possessing one marijuana cigarette, as Mr. Eagleton points out. Missouri's new statutes possess a less imposing bark than the old, but they have provided the legal setting for a program which shows a much more satisfactory bite.

If Peace Breaks Out?

Senator Humphrey of Minnesota has announced an investigation of the possible economic dislocations that might result from disarmament. This is a worthwhile task for the Senate Foreign Relations disarmament subcommittee, because cutbacks in defense contracts have already had serious local effects which federal policy might take into account.

Nevertheless, there is something ironical about the notion of the danger of peace. It is a tenet of Marxism, indeed of Premier Khrushchev's, that a capitalist economy cannot stand peaceful competition, and sometimes that citadel of capitalism, the New York stock market, behaves as if it half believes this. Since the Khrushchev visit, was announced Aug. 3, stock prices on the average have declined more than 26 billion dollars.

What, then, would happen if peace were not a remote "threat" but actually occurred? How would the economy react if the Government did not have to spend more than 40 billion dollars or close to two thirds of its budget on defense?

The over-all economy should withstand peace and take advantage of it to expand. An article reprinted on this page from The Magazine of Wall Street notes that a smaller federal budget and tax cuts would reduce inflationary pressure and invigorate private investment and consumer spending. Some of those defense dollars certainly could be well spent on a vast backlog of needed public projects. In studying these prospects, the Humphrey inquiry ought to help revive the old-fashioned idea that the United States can thrive on peace.

On Being Ready to Clean Up

The tardiness which the United States Public Health Service ascribes to the Metropolitan St. Louis Sewer District in getting ahead with the Coldwater Creek project is explainable very simply in terms of public readiness. The Sewer District lost two attempts last year to gain voter approval for bonds to finance the Gravois Creek cleanup, and felt some concern for the fate of a Coldwater Creek proposal immediately on the heels of those events.

It is much to be hoped that the electorates in the St. Louis metropolitan areas are indeed becoming persuaded that long-standing habits of many communities in sewage and garbage disposal will no longer be tolerated, and that reformation is going to cost money. For such is unquestionably the case, and there are unpleasant things that can be done to the communities that persist in the notion that filthiness should continue acceptable.

The Missouri Water Pollution Board has moved to ask federal housing agencies to withhold approval of federally-guaranteed housing loans from Kansas City until it quits stalling on a cleanup. Formal orders to mend their ways have been issued to St. Joseph and to Sioux City, Ia., by the U.S. Public Health Service. If the orders are not carried out the communities can eventually be required by court order to take action. That is the painful way to learn. St. Louis's metropolitan area will, we hope, take both the more pleasant and the more efficient course of moving ahead on schedule with its 10-year program, voting bond issues as the projects come off the drawing boards.

For the Rest of His Visit

The Department of State has used excellent judgment in directing U.N. Ambassador Lodge to cut down on his political lecturing of Soviet Premier Khrushchev as they travel together. The World's No. 1 Communist has been in this country a full week and more. Surely he has had enough lectures from his official hosts on the relative merits of capitalism and Communism to serve for the rest of his stay. Surely also he has by now been asked enough times the questions about the rape of Hungary and Stalin's crimes and the Kremlin's unfriendliness to American books and magazines.

Everybody who reads the newspapers knows by now what Mr. Khrushchev's answers to these questions will be. That the questions and his answers are a proper part of the record is undeniable. Thanks to his interrogators he knows that the American people are not going to forget these black stains in the Soviet past. But the law of diminishing returns operates here as in economics.

The most important part of the Khrushchev visit is still to come. That is the venture in personal, man-to-man diplomacy which President Eisenhower will undertake with his official guest at Camp David after the completion of his tour. No one knows yet how successful these sessions may prove. But no one can doubt that it will be no help to them to send Nikita Khrushchev into them in a resentful mood. Doubtless that is in part why the White House has repeated its urgent request that the American people avoid "any personal discourtesy," and treat the Russian visitors instead with "traditional American courtesy and dignity."

There is no chance whatever of converting Mr. K. to capitalism. But all who come in contact with him during the remainder of his visit can join in making the most of our opportunity to lead him to co-operate in guaranteeing the peace of the nuclear-age world.

Merit, Not Influence

The announcement that the Coast Guard will hold its annual entrance examination next Feb. 23 and 24 in 120 cities calls attention to one important way in which this academy differs from the other service training institutions. Youths who pass the stiff tests with the highest marks and show adaptability to Coast Guard service will be admitted as cadets if physically fit. The influence of no Congressman is required as for appointment to West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy.

If all Senators and Representatives were willing to regard service academy appointments as scholarships for the best men instead of minor patronage plums, the Coast Guard's democratic system would apply at all four of the national academies.

Cutback in Defense Spending Could Be Offset by Private Investment, Public Works

Howard Nicholson in
The Magazine of Wall Street

It is hardly surprising that corporate managements and investors have taken a profound interest in headlines suggesting the possibility of easing the cold war, with a consequent reduction in the rate of defense outlays.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

In the current fiscal year, the United States Government will probably spend something in the neighborhood of 42 billion dollars for the direct military functions performed by the Defense Department. In addition, approximately another five billion will be spent in so-called "defense-supporting" activities: namely, atomic energy, stock-piling, defense production expansion and military assistance to foreign countries. Economic and technical aid to other countries will cost another two billion. Grand total: very close to 50 billion, or only a little less than two thirds of all Federal Government budget spending.

What happens if defense business is sharply curtailed? What could replace the loss of major procurement business, which now annually equals the value of total residential construction put in place each year? The automobile industry is generally considered critical to the course of American economy. Defense business in recent years has substantially exceeded the total of new-car sales at retail!

In the first place, it should be noted that even in the unlikely circumstances of rapid and broad agreements on major issues of the cold war—the possibilities for rapid curtailment of defense business are quite limited.

Unilateral disarmament in the air would seem to be virtually out of the question, and negotiated disarmament in the air will doubtless be a drawn-out process.

Ways to Fill the Gaps

But, suppose the trend of defense appropriations, obligations and orders turns significantly downward? What can be expected to fill the gaps that would shortly appear on order books throughout the durable industries?

Answer: Sharply increased spending on the part of American business, working with government, to rivitalize and stimulate depressed and stagnant areas to stability and new growth; opening up the deserts of the Southwest to broad avenues of economic expansion through development of limitless fresh-water supplies, leading the way to broad industrial expansion—new communities—new homes—new jobs—new ventures.

For any considerable reduction in defense outlays, occurring at a time when the federal budget is already in good balance, will free a substantial margin for tax reduction, for both individuals and corporations.

At present levels of corporate earnings, a complete elimination of the federal surtax of 22 per cent on corporate incomes above $25,000 would reduce federal revenues by between eight billion dollars and nine billion dollars. The results of such a restoration of earnings to corporations are not easily predicted, but there is a strong likelihood that the bulk of the increase in after-tax earnings would find its way back onto order books in the durables manufacturing sector.

—York in The Louisville Times.

"Communism? . . . Democracy? . . . What Were They?"

A 20 per cent across-the-board reduction in effective tax rates on personal income would restore about nine billion dollars in individuals' incomes.

How much of this would be spent is again hard to calculate, but it is obvious that it would be a substantial portion. Throughout the postwar years, incomes and spending of the consumer sector have advanced in close consonance.

Again, one can hardly say that the direction of the added consumer spending would match the spending of the Defense Department; nevertheless, a large part of the increase in personal outlays would doubtless go into durable goods.

Adequately planned, the possibilities of tax reduction and tax rationalization could go far toward offsetting the losses of business volume accompanying a curtailment of defense. And, unlike each dollar spent in defense, each replacement dollar spent in the private economy will yield a bonus in the form of better living.

Granted a decline in budget spending for military purposes, there are a number of programs which are worthy claimants to government spending at times when they do not pose the threat of deficits and inflation. Certainly under conditions of temporary recession accompanying a cutback in defense, the American highway program, which is now bogging down under a shortage of funds, could be accelerated. School construction programs, financed under a system of federal grants to states, are certainly another legitimate device for temporary support of general business conditions.

Major construction projects—flood control, water power, navigational construction, bridges, etc.—abound across the country, and only await an opportunity when federal funds can be funneled into them temporarily without inflationary implications. If need be, the government's several housing agencies could be temporarily equipped with enough funds to guarantee such special residential building programs as urban renewal, college construction, etc.

A package of tools with which to fight recession in the event of a decline in defense spending thus seems to be ready to hand. It is also worth noting, however, that a decline in defense would help to solve inflation, one of the more pressing problems of the past 15 years.

The additional private saving which will be made possible by tax reductions accompanying falling government spending is one of the paramount benefits to be derived from a lessening of cold-war tensions. It will mean, for the American economy, a long step toward a healthier, more invigorating, less inflationary balance between public and private economic activity.

Between Book Ends Keyhole to the Sun King

SAINT-SIMON AT VERSAILLES, translated by Lucy Norton, with a preface by Nancy Mitford. (Harper, 312 pgs., $6.)

In a treasury of trivia, this court chronicler details the great and little gossip of that long-lived Sun King, Louis XIV, who kept his great nobles so busy with minor chores that they had no time for making trouble. So he sat on his golden throne—or his commode—amidst the fabled splendors of Versailles, rained glories on his bastard sons and daughters, and ruled for 72 years of the seventeenth century.

Nancy Mitford

M. le Duc de Saint-Simon was a courtier and from the true blue blood. He handed the candlestick to His Majesty and assisted at le coucher. Nominally he commanded a regiment and married an immensely wealthy wife for her money but also loved her just as dearly—indeed, these memoirs are jeweled with testimonials to her fair loveliness, her courtly counsel, her fidelity. And Saint-Simon wrote, voluminously, tirelessly, secretly, all the events his eyes witnessed—many a historian has pored thankfully over the nearly 3000 manuscript pages of the ducal diary.

For the non-historical set, Nancy Mitford's saucy and knowing preface will set the stage properly although you may still have a little trouble keeping the assorted monsieurs and monseigneurs and madames, the poor, proud rascals of the royal family, sorted out. The Mitford wit also shows itself in the footnotes which she combined with Lucy Norton to furnish. Some of them are pedantic, some provoking of a smile.

For her selections, Mrs. Norton has, perhaps wisely, chosen something for everything. A little sex—word pictures of Montespan, the mistress-mother of the quartet which Maintenon governessed until she successfully won their love and the King's and shoved the Montespan out of bed so she could climb in herself. A little dirt in the Rabelais manner in anecdotes from latrine and boudoir. Some marvelous, for their curiosity-value in our democratic age, scenes of that wonderland in which a few had everything. And many, too many for this reader's taste, death-bed accounts of princes and princesses.

The book, British-printed, is beautifully produced. The Saint-Simon version of Versailles reminds us of another prodigal outpouring of golden treasure, piled up a la packrat, in the San Simeon estates of a Hearst in the Hollywood manner. This is keyhole history—and William Randolph would have really appreciated it as a modern Louis. For the finicky taste, it finally develops tedium.

DORIS FLEESON

How Much Is Mr. K Acting?

SAN FRANCISCO.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS accompanying Premier Khrushchev are showing signs of strain over his increasing tendency to take offense over what seems to an American minor matters and to hurl fierce invective at people not relevant to his primary mission here.

That is why U.N. Ambassador Lodge began to underplay his truth squad role. But it did no good. Khrushchev continues to shoot down wood pigeons with mortar fire and, in the starkest drama of his journey, threatened at Los Angeles to go home if he is not wanted here. To an American, Mayor Poulson of Los Angeles had merely seemed unusually inept in his introductory remarks; Khrushchev reacted as if this very minor public official had the power to declare war on the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev

Real or Synthetic Anger?

Americans will feel that Bob Hope wrapped up the Hollywood clambake with his nervous remark that "there are too many comedians around here;" Khrushchev acted there as if he had been suddenly surrounded by the Strategic Air Command.

Does the Soviet leader feel this is the best way of getting and holding the spotlight? Is he only protecting his propaganda flanks so that he can blame the benighted Americans if his journey fails in solid achievement? Or does he genuinely feel that in some way he and his country are being slighted?

The State Department experts wish they knew. They have not tried to tell any of the official hosts how to treat the Khrushchev party.

Danger in Disneyland.

President Eisenhower's general admonition was that the Russians are the nation's guests and they should be allowed to see the country, warts and all. Perhaps naively it was thought Khrushchev would have fun? He seems only to have it at the expense of others.

It seems clear enough that the enormous security precautions taken for the Khrushchev travels are getting under his skin.

His excuse for ridiculing them in extravagant terms is that his family wanted to see Disneyland. They can't because local police told federal security forces it would be impossible in that vast children's playground to protect him.

Mrs. Khrushchev has said frankly that she is disappointed, which perhaps put an extra edge on her husband's protests.

Lesson for Washington.

In any case, just when security officials were patting themselves on the back for getting the Soviet dictator out of the New York jungle unscathed, they find themselves kicked in the pants because of what they won't let him do.

There is probably a lesson in this for Washington as the hard bargaining sessions approach in the seclusion of Camp David.

It is not as if the Soviet Premier were a flop on the road. He has had his failures as at the Economic Club in New York, where his arrogance and boasting alienated the financial and business community he hopes to attract with the huge Russian market bait.

Matronly Triumphs.

But he has everywhere dominated the scene and his biggest pitch—his United Nations plea for disarmament—was both a propaganda success and accepted by the West as offering a basis for true negotiation.

He can be proud, too, of the good notices heaped upon his family, especially his wife. That intelligent and pleasant matron did not even have to raise her voice to cut the Hollywood queens down to size.

The principal objector to one of the rare jests at her lack of style was the wife of the Governor of New York who telephoned in person to the offending newspapers and complained.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 22—State Senator C. R. (Ted) Hawkins of Brumley died yesterday at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. He was 58 years old.

He had entered the clinic for treatment of internal bleeding, complicated by a heart condition.

Senator Hawkins, a Republican, was Senate minority floor leader during the last legislative session. He represented the Thirty-third Senatorial district in central Missouri and had served in the Senate since 1944.

Senator Hawkins had been chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee for the Study of Public Education, which developed the 1955 Foundation program of state aid for schools. Last year he urged a broad reappraisal of the program.

He also headed the legislative research subcommittee on education and training of deficient children.

He was instrumental in obtaining approval of recent legislation dealing with improved care for handicapped and mentally retarded persons.

Physically small, he was widely known in Missouri as a fiery advocate of causes he espoused. In debate he could display an acid tongue when so minded.

Senator Hawkins was born in Brumley, in Miller county south of Jefferson City. He was president of the Bank of Brumley, having entered the bank's employment as assistant cashier in 1920.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mabel Hawkins, and four daughters, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Collins and Miss Sue Hawkins of St. Louis, Miss Teddy Jean Hawkins of Jefferson City and Miss Julia Ann Hawkins.

In Jefferson City, Senator Hawkins's colleagues paid tribute to him as a man of courage and a champion of improved schools and child welfare.

A special committee of Senators was organized to attend the funeral, tentatively set to be held in Brumley later this week.

Senator Michael Kinney of St. Louis, dean of the Senate, will be among the Democrats attending the funeral. "We have lost a very able man who rendered great service to the Senate," Kinney said.

EPISCOPALIANS OPEN DRIVE FOR $1,000,000

Fund Sought for Development of New Parishes and Missions.

The Missouri Diocese of the Episcopal Church has launched a campaign to raise $1,000,000 for the expansion and development of new parishes and mission churches, it was announced today.

The campaign will continue through the winter, with a tentative closing date set for next spring, before Lent begins. The drive was approved unanimously by the council of the diocese, with the indorsement of Bishop George L. Cadigan.

The $1,000,000 in new capital funds will enable the diocese to meet the needs for new church sites and new missions which existing funds have failed to meet, Bishop Cadigan explained.

The diocese has established 10 new congregations during the last 10 years, four in the St. Louis area. Four of these new parishes already have reached the status of self-support. Establishment of these new parishes has exhausted available funds for the purchase of new sites and the construction of new buildings, an officer of the diocese stated.

Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets, the cathedral church of the diocese, has joined the diocesan campaign. The cathedral plans to expand its program to meet new needs created by the Plaza and Mill Creek developments.

Part of the capital funds raised will be used as a revolving fund for loans to new parishes and other congregations needing financial aid.

W. C. HEITZ DIES; EX-POLICE CAPTAIN

Headed Identification Bureau Here for 10 Years Before Retiring.

Former Capt. Walter C. Heitz, who headed the police identification bureau here for 10 years before retiring in 1953, died of cancer today at St. Anthony Hospital after a long illness.

Capt. Heitz, 72 years old, returned here last Aug. 15 from Los Angeles, where he had lived since leaving the department. In California he was assistant chief of plant protection at the Anheuser-Busch brewery until 1957.

A policeman since 1913, Capt. Heitz was assigned to the old "Bertillon room" at headquarters in 1918 and was credited with many advances in use of fingerprinting, photography and mechanical equipment for classifying criminals and clues.

In 1948 he studied identification systems in other cities and developed a personal appearance file using a mechanical sorter. Description cards are fed into a machine, records of persons fitting rough physical characteristics are singled out and their photographs flashed on a screen for witnesses to view.

Capt. Heitz and his wife lived at 5347 Chippewa street before moving to California. She died in July 1958. Surviving are a brother, John L. Heitz, and a sister, Miss Bess Heitz, both of St. Louis, and a nephew, former Police Sgt. Robert L. Heitz, who was retired in 1957 because of physical disability growing out of bullet wounds suffered during the holdup at the Southwest Bank in 1953.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at Kriegshauser undertaking establishment, 4228 South Kingshighway, with burial in St. Paul Churchyard.

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE DEDICATION SEPT. 30

Davis Hall Ceremonies Set —Museum Open to Public on Oct. 1.

The formal dedication of Davis Hall at the new Museum of Science and Natural History will be held at 3 p.m. on Sept. 30, Murl Deusing, museum director, announced today.

The museum, which is in Oak Knoll Park, Clayton, will be open to the public for the first time the next day, Oct. 1.

The opening exhibit will be "The Story of Flight." It will be shown in Davis Hall, the only exhibition room completed at the museum thus far.

Deusing said there are plans for subsequent exhibits in the fields of natural history, biology, health, physical science and industrial science.

The museum is in the old Goldman mansion, at 1 Oak Knoll drive. The Academy of Science of St. Louis, which owns the museum, plans to convert the adjacent Rice mansion for use as part of the museum.

"The Story of Flight" will be in three parts. "The first part will show the bird as a flying machine," Deusing said. "The second will depict how man first learned to fly, and the third will picture the development of flight from World War I through the jet age."

J. Lionberger Davis, a St. Louis philanthropist and art collector, donated $100,000 to the museum. Funds for Davis Hall came from his donation.

The gift was given in memory of Davis's father and grandfather, John David Davis and John Robert Lionberger.

The museum will be open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. It will be closed on Mondays.

The museum will sponsor a school visit program beginning in October. St. Louis area students in the fifth through eighth grades will be taken to the museum for the flight exhibit and lectures on science.

Dodgers, Tied for Lead, Face Spoiler-Minded Cards Tonight

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
SPORTS
4B Tues., Sept. 22, 1959

Cubs Drub Redbirds; White Hurt

By John J. Archibald

The Cardinals have been giving bonuses to fuzzy-cheeked young players. Now the fans will get one—the opportunity to sit in on the showdown of the exciting National League pennant race.

Two of the top three teams will be at Busch Stadium this final week of the season, beginning tonight with an 8 o'clock appearance of co-leader Los Angeles.

The Dodgers, who share first place with the Milwaukee Braves and lead the San Francisco Giants by just one game, will be here again tomorrow night. There will be no activity at Busch Stadium Thursday, but the Giants will come in for night games Friday and Saturday and a season-ending (and perhaps pennant-deciding) game Sunday afternoon.

The Braves tied for the lead last night when they downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-6. The Dodgers and Giants were idle.

While the visiting Dodgers and Giants are fretting and fuming about pennant chances, the Cardinals are expected to be what is known in the trade as "loose."

When a ball club no longer has to be concerned about its final place in the standings it is considered to have reached a relaxed mental state that gives it an advantage against foes with visions of sugar plums and pennants and World Series money.

Cubs Wallop Birds.

The Cardinals, with seventh place virtually sewed up, gave a preview of what looseness could do for a team as they lost to the Chicago Cubs, 12 to 3, last night. Everything was nice and loose—the pitching, the defense . . .

Fans in the bleachers especially had to stay loose to avoid being conked by the baseballs being driven over the fence by the Cubs. The visitors had four home runs among their 12 hits—two of them by George Altman (Nos. 9 and 10), and one each by Ernie Banks (No. 43) and Tony Taylor (No. 8).

The Cardinals will face the contenders without the services of Bill White, who suffered a severe gash over his left eye, a less serious cut on his left knee, and a concussion when he crashed against the left field wall. He was trying to catch a drive hit by Banks, which went for a triple.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, club physician, said that 25 stitches were needed to close the cut over White's eye, but no permanent damage was done. Four stitches were needed for the knee. White will remain in Jewish Hospital for several days and is not expected to play any more this season.

Cardinal Manager Solly Hemus said that he will send Larry (13-13) Jackson against the Dodgers tonight. Either Danny (10-8) McDevitt or Sandy (8-6) Koufax is expected for the visitors.

Miller to Start Twice.

While the Redbird lineup will consist almost entirely of seasoned players, in order to present the strongest possible team against the pennant contenders, Hemus will make one interesting exception. A late-season arrival, 20-year-old pitcher Bob Miller, will hurl against the Dodgers tomorrow night and pitch Sunday against the Giants as well.

"It will be Jackson and Miller against the Dodgers and (Wilmer) Mizell, Jackson and Miller against the Giants," said Hemus.

Miller, the native St. Louisan who spent most of the season with Rochester, has a 4-2 won-lost record, and his 3.05 earned-run average is bettered only by reliever Bob Duliba on the Redbird staff.

Jackson is the tested and able veteran moundsman, however. Having pitched far more innings than any other Cardinal, 246⅓, Jackson has the best E.R.A. of any of the season-long members, 3.32. Larry can't do much to help the Redbirds any more this year, but the 28-year-old right-hander can have a lot to say about who wins the pennant.

Redbird Notes

Tom Hughes was the Cardinals' starting pitcher last night, but after retiring the Cubs in order in the first inning, he was routed in the second. A triple, a double and two singles drove him to cover with one out . . . Ernie Broglio relieved and George Altman hit a three-run homer off him. The Cubs scored six runs in the frame and after that there wasn't much of interest for the crowd of 4083.

Joe Cunningham had a single and a double in three official times at bat (in addition to drawing two bases on balls) and increased his average to .351. Milwaukee's Hank Aaron had three-for-five and now has a .359 mark..

Pennant Fever Boils Over

First Aid for White

Braves Beat Bucs After Two Brawls; Spahn Ties Record

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 22 (UPI)—Manager Fred Haney hoped today his Milwaukee Braves will thrive on their newly-found "stimulant" and surge to their third straight National League pennant.

The Braves moved into a first-place tie with the idle Los Angeles Dodgers last night when they defeated the stubborn Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 6, in a game marked by two brawls.

Milwaukee Shortstop Felix Mantilla tangled with Pirate First Baseman Dick Stuart in the fourth inning and the dust had scarcely settled when Pittsburgh Coach Sam Narron ignited another uprising.

The fights only served to fire up the Braves for in the next inings they broke a 2 to 2 tie when Eddie Mathews powered a three-run homer in a fashion rare at Forbes Field. The wallop cleared the roof of the right field stands, duplicating a feat accomplished only by the great Babe Ruth, Mickey Mantle, Wally Moon, Ted Beard and Bob Skinner.

Mathews also hit a two-run homer in the ninth, his forty-third, which tied him with Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs for the league lead.

"Tempers will flare in a tense game," Haney commented. "A scrap will stimulate them. I can't tell you what started the fuss. When I got to the battle scene I darn near got trampled on."

The fight began when Don Hoak's grounder took a bad hop near short and Stuart raced toward second. Mantilla, intent on fielding the ball, collided with Stuart. Time was called while Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh ran on the field to charge interference and demand Stuart be awarded third base.

Suddenly Mantilla and Stuart started swinging and got into a clinch. Players streamed from their positions and both dugouts onto the field. The umpires restored order and play was about to resume when Narron charged at Mantilla and the rhubarb was on again. This flareup was put down and Bill Mazeroski singled Stuart home to tie the count at 2-2.

Warren Spahn, who needed help from Don McMahon in the ninth inning when the Pirates scored three runs, became a 20-game winner for the tenth time in his career and tied a National League southpaw mark set by Eppa Rixey. In a career which extended from 1912 to 1933, excluding 1918, Rixey amassed 266 victories against 251 defeats.

Spahn has matched Rixey's victory total and has lost 172 games.

Bob Friend was the loser for the Pirates and now has an 8-19 record. Mathews's first homer came off Friend and his second off Bennie Daniels, the Bucs' fourth pitcher.

The Braves play at Pittsburgh again tonight with lefty Juan Pizarro facing Harvey Haddix, the slim southpaw who pitched 12 perfect innings against Milwaukee last May only to lose in the thirteenth.

Giants Use Sanford In Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Fighting to keep their National League pennant hopes alive, the San Francisco Giants today called on Right-hander Jack Sanford (15-12) to face the sixth-place Chicago Cubs in the first of a two-game series.

The Cubs used Right-hander Dave Hillman (7-11). Hillman entered the game 1-2 against San Francisco this season.

Before the game, Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants said he would use Left-hander Johnny Antonelli (19-10) tomorrow against Right-hander Bob Anderson (12-12). Three of Anderson's victories have been over the Giants while Antonelli is 3-1 against the Cubs.

San Francisco scored one run in the second on a walk to Daryl Spencer and singles by Hobie Landrith and Jimmy Davenport.

Singles by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey, an outfield fly and a force play gave the Giants the tying run in the third.

Joe Gordon Saluted in Editorial

The Press saluted Gordon with its "Big Hand" award for numerous contributions including his actions "as a sportsman and gentleman during the weeks of tension in a difficult situation which finally forced him to resign."

The newspaper also credited Gordon with having "the courage to use untested players to such advantage that they made the Indians into a pennant contender" and noted the "big part he played in the revitalization of baseball in Cleveland, after a period in which the public had lost interest."

The Press reviewed Gordon's hiring last year when "the Indians were in trouble and their fans had abandoned them." It detailed how the relationship between Gordon and General Manager Frank Lane continually grew worse until "Gordon was forced to make a stand."

The editorial pointed out that "Joe Gordon was called upon twice to help improve Cleveland's baseball fortunes." And it concluded, "the record says he delivered both times."

George Sisler Jr. Renamed Rochester General Manager

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 22 (UPI)—George Sisler Jr. was renamed to his post as general manager of the Rochester Red Wings yesterday at a board of directors meeting.

Frank Horton, president of Rochester Community Baseball, Inc., also disclosed that Ed Bastian has been rehired as assistant general manager of the International League club.

Club officials also revealed the community-owned corporation, which has 8222 area stockholders, currently owes only $25,000 of the original $175,000 borrowed Feb. 27, 1957, when the fan-owned club went into business.

Infamy vs. Integrity

Thirty-five years ago in the stretch of another close National League pennant race, a young outfielder of the pennant-contending New York Giants approached the shortstop of the floundering Philalephia Phillies.

Jimmy O'Connell, a personable kid, wondered whether Heinie Sand and the Phillies preferred to see New York or Brooklyn win. Wilbert Robinson's Dodgers, closing in fast, were only one game behind John McGraw's Giants, who were headed for a fourth straight pennant.

Sand said the Phillies didn't care if either or neither team won. At this point O'Connell talked himself into baseball oblivion. "In that case," he said, "if you don't bear down today, Heinie, there's 500 bucks in it for you."

Sand brushed off the attempted bribe, but that night he became concerned. The shortstop, 27, remembered that George (Buck) Weaver of the Black Sox always had insisted he had been implicated by his silence. In the middle of the night Heinie phoned his manager, Collinsville's Art Fletcher.

Events moved swiftly then. Fletcher called John Heydler, National League president. Heydler phoned Judge K. M. Landis. The commissioner high-tailed to New York, heard the testimony, including O'Connell's admission of guilt. The Judge barred him from baseball for life and also banished Cozy Dolan, 42, a Giant coach the young outfielder identified as having put him up to the attempted bribery.

Dolan tried to see McGraw at the Polo Grounds, where the Giants rebounded to clinch the pennant. McGraw's early white-hot rage had turned to cold fury. He refused to talk to the veteran coach, who tearfully turned away into the baseball shadows.

'Never Prouder . . .'

Although since 1924 there have been September showdowns annually in one or both major leagues, there hasn't been a hint of a scandal. This is, as Warren Spahn called it one night earlier this summer, "integrity time" in baseball.

Milwaukee's lefthanded master reminisced as he sipped a beer with Lew Burdette in the quiet of the Busch Stadium visitors' clubhouse, deserted of players except for the famed pitchers who will make the Braves a team to be reckoned with this thrilling week.

"I'll never get completely over the sting of that last series here in '56," Spahn said, "but as I've often told people, I'll never be prouder of baseball as my profession."

You'll remember the 1956 race as almost identical to the present three-way tussle. Three years ago this date, Milwaukee and Brooklyn were tied for first place and Cincinnati trailed by two games. When the Braves showed up here the final weekend, they had regained the lead—by a length.

Brooklyn was rained out on the final Friday night as the Cardinals, knocking out Bob Buhl, beat southpaw Taylor Phillips in relief, 5-4. Going into the final 48 hours, Milwaukee had a half-game lead, but now it was on the "won" side of the ledger.

As Eddie Stanky would put it, the Dodgers by now had the bit between their teeth. The next-to-last day they took a doubleheader from Pittsburgh and took the lead, too, as Spahn and the Braves lost a 12-inning masterpiece—and the pennant—in a game neither

Perry Is Indians' Choice

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 22 (UPI)—The question of whether the Go-Go White Sox will storm into their first American League pennant in 40 years or will slip in by the back door could be settled here tonight.

The Sox, recovering from a lost weekend which saw their league lead cut to 3½ games, could clinch the flag with a return to form against the Cleveland Indians. The fact that they own a 14-7 season edge over the Tribe is no small comfort in the final game.

What happens when veteran Early Wynn (20-10) opposes brilliant young Jim Perry (12-9), before an expected crowd of 40,000, could mean the end of the road for Manager Joe Gordon as well as the Indians.

Despite a frightening record of seven defeats in 12 games over the past two weeks, Chicago Manager Al Lopez isn't pressing any panic buttons. And he insists his players haven't lost any confidence.

"We're still very much relaxed and playing like it was the start of the year," he said. "The players took it hard in the locker room after losing a second straight time to the Tigers Sunday, but I want them to take tough defeats hard."

Lopez, who steered the Indians to a pennant in 1954, faces a rougher closing schedule than the Indians following tonight's game. The White Sox play the fourth place Tigers three games, while Cleveland will meet the seventh place Athletics four times.

"I'm not figuring past the game coming up," said Lopez. "Let's play tonight and see what happens."

If the Tribe loses, Bill Veeck's stock of champagne will be waiting for the conquering White Sox when they return to Chicago. And it will mean Gordon will be out as the Cleveland manager.

Pitching Coach Mel Harder will take over the Cleveland team when the race is decided on orders from General Manager Frank Lane.

Spartan Signal Callers

Second Bid By Gambee With Hawks

By Harold Flachsbart

This is the second "rookie season" for Dave Gambee, 6-foot-6½ Hawk frontliner from the Pacific Northwest.

First draft choice by the Hawks in the 1958 draft of collegiate players, Gambee underwent an appendectomy shortly after the start of the '58-59 National Basketball Association campaign. He had appeared briefly—seven minutes to be exact, in two games—but then was sidelined for the season.

It was a tough break for a powerful-built 21-year-old athlete. But Owner Ben Kerner kept him on the payroll and Gambee, after his recovery, worked with the team every time the Hawks practiced in their home port.

Now Gambee is a rookie again, but with a much better chance to make the St. Louis squad. Coach Ed Macauley indicated he might carry as many as six big men. And the only experienced frontliners in camp at Concordia Seminary's field house are Bob Pettit, Cliff Hagan, Clyde Lovellette and Hub Reed.

"No, I don't think the year in which I was sidelined hurt me," Gambee said. "It helped me instead because I learned from practicing with the Hawks and learned from watching them and listening. Although I'm still a rookie, I feel I may know a little more about professional tricks than some of the other rookies."

A modest, handsome young man who was born in Cornwallis, Ore., Gambee doesn't predict he'll make the grade. But he has a quiet confidence, works diligently, and he's a strong man on the boards.

"It's hard to tell what will happen in a camp full of so many good players as we have," Gambee said. "I know I feel good and I'm physically fit this year, so I'm giving it all I have."

As a Pacific Coast all-star at Oregon State, Gambee scored 908 points in three years of college play, a record for the now-defunct Coast Conference. With the Hawks, his rebounding has been more outstanding than his shooting, which seems to run in streaks.

Dave, in one of his best single performances at Oregon State, held Elgin Baylor to five field goals and outscored him as his team beat Seattle. Baylor was one of the pros who impressed Gambee most as he sat on the Hawks' bench, sometimes taking notes for Coach Ed Macauley last season.

Paul Arizin was another outstanding performer in Gambee's opinion, as well as in the judgment of almost any observer. "I guess the good players, the stars in the N.B.A., will impress anyone," Dave said.

It could be that Gambee himself some day will do the impressing.

Starting Ends, Center A Mystery at W.U.

By Harold Tuthill

Lynn Hovland's favorite reading these days concerns the feats of legerdemain performed by Houdini and Blackstone, because it may take a bit of magic to get the Washington U. Bears ready for Saturday's football opener.

"We need about a week's more work to be ready for Missouri Mines," Hovland said yesterday. "We have experienced tackles in Loren McKerrow and Mike Metzger and experienced guards in Tom Regot and John Simone. After that I don't know."

That means Hovland must perform the rabbit-out-of-a-hat trick and come up with starting ends and a center. Also he needs replacements at all positions, so he may have to depend upon freshmen as green as the Myrtle (and Maroon) of the school's colors.

On The Blackboard.

Hovland and Backfield Coach Irv Utz were busy before practice studying names on the blackboard so they could visualize how the squad will line up Saturday for Gale Bullman's Miners.

"We don't even know whether Art Whalen will be available for duty at center," Hovland said. "He has a selling job after school which may prevent him from working out."

If Whalen is unavailable Jim Wehner probably will get the starting assignment at center.

To offset some of the gloom, Hovland got word that John Claiborne had enrolled in school. The former Cleveland High wingman previously attended Missouri but his status at Washington was in doubt until his transcript was received on the Hilltop. "It was my fault the transcript was delayed," Hovland said by way of explanation.

A Lot of Action.

If Claiborne does not start Saturday, he's sure to see a lot of action.

Another bright spot in the Bruin picture is the showing of Maury Tamarkin, former University City lineman, "He's improved tremendously," Hovland said.

Also on a cheering note was the apearance of Dave Mars who missed Saturday's practice because of a slight foot injury. The speedy halfback should be fully recovered by Saturday.

Dykes, Signed to New Contract, Says Tigers Will Be '60 Contenders

DETROIT, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Jimmie Dykes, rehired as manager of the Detroit Tigers for 1960, promptly lit one of his trademark cigars and from behind the cloud of smoke predicted his club will be a pennant contender next year.

Dykes, who has spent 42 of his 62 years in baseball, signed a new contract yesterday.

"I think we have the stuff to go all the way," he said. "We'll have to pick up a shortstop and a first baseman." Dykes added that he wants to strengthen the bench and he'll need more consistent relief pitching.

The signing of Dykes ended several weeks of speculation about whether the veteran of the Connie Mack era would be rehired or if the Tigers would bid for another "name" manager. This speculation grew last week after Joe Gordon announced he was quitting the Cleveland Indians.

General Manager Rick Ferrell said that no one except Dykes had been considered for the 1960 field job.

Dykes took over the Tigers May 3 after they lost 15 and won only two under Bill Norman. Under Dykes, the club won 72 and lost 60 for a .543 percentage.

Conley Signs Baseball and Basket Pacts

BOSTON, Sept. 22 (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced yesterday that Gene Conley, the six-foot-eight pitcher, who always plays professional basketball, has signed for the 1960 baseball season.

Conley, only active player in both the major leagues and the National Basketball Association, also signed his 1959-60 Boston Celtic contract.

The Phillies contract was signed here when John Quinn, general manager of the Phillies, made a presentation to Conley Sunday night as the "comeback player" of the year. The right-hander had a 12-7 record with the Phillies after posting an 0-6 mark last year with the Milwaukee Braves.

Conley had an earned average of 3.00 and pitched three shutouts. He was Philadelphia's most effective pitcher until a bone in his pitching hand was broken, Aug. 19, when he was hit while batting.

The Phillies also have given Conley permission to play basketball this winter.

Jamin, French Star, Out of Opposition

WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 22 (UPI)—Jamin, the French wonder horse, is out of American competition.

Alden Gray, director of racing at Roosevelt Raceway, reveals that a race scheduled for next Saturday night probably will be cancelled because American owners refuse to race their horses against Jamin at any distance over the mile.

Jamin has run two races at Roosevelt Raceway and won both—the mile and a half International Inaugural Trot, Aug. 1 and the mile and a quarter American Trotting Championship last Friday.

Quebec City to Open A.L. Hockey Season On Its Home Ice

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)—The American Hockey League announced today that its new entry, the Quebec City Aces, would have the honor of playing host to the Providence Reds, Oct. 6 in the opening game of the 1959-60 season.

The addition of Quebec City makes the league international in scope for the first time in its 24-year history. Quebec City is the first city outside the United States to have a league entry.

Quebec City, added to Buffalo, Cleveland, Hershey, Providence, Rochester and Springfield, brings the A.H.L. to seven teams for the first time since the 1952-53 campaign when St. Louis was a member.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22 (AP) — Clay Petterfer of Lake Charles, La., won the unlimited hydroplane competition Sunday in the world championship boat races at Lake Springfield.

Fred Goehl of Quincy, finished first in the Class C runabout and Arlen Crouch of Quincy, won the Class F hydroplane competition.

WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 22 (UPI)—Speers Direct won the featured Anthony Pace, a mile and one-quarter event, by two lengths over Royal Direct last night at Roosevelt Raceway. The four-year-old gelding, owned and driven by Bob Cherrix, covered the distance in 2:36 2-5. Widow's Dream finished third. Speers Direct was the second choice in the eight horse field and returned $8.20 for $2.

NOTICE to Cigar Smokers

The vast majority of popular priced (5c to 2/25c) cigars are now being made with the new manufactured sheet binder. Most cigars costing 15c or more are still made with natural leaf binder.
The King Edward brand has both.
The IMPERIAL (6c) is made with the very mild, smooth burning Perfection binder and is our largest seller. It is an excellent cigar in every respect and we are proud to recommend it.
The INVINCIBLE DELUXE (2/15c) is one of the few popular priced cigars still made with all natural leaf tobaccos. Here you have the rich aroma and taste of the properly cured and aged tobaccos that made King Edward the largest selling cigar in the world. The size is larger than average and the end should not come apart while smoking. It is, in our opinion, the finest quality cigar value on the market.

Cunningham Honored by Kiwanis Club

Smoky Joe Cunningham came up with a first in his career yesterday when he received a sportsmanship award from the South Side Kiwanis Club.

Speaking before an overflow crowd at a luncheon at Hotel Chase, the popular infielder-outfielder with the Cardinals said it was the first time he had ever been so honored. "I have seen major leaguers get a lot of awards," he said, "and seen little leaguers get awards, but this is the first time in eight years of professional baseball I ever received anything."

Members of the Cardinal organization were on hand. Speakers included Dick Meyer, representing President-Owner August A. Busch Jr., Jack Buck, Harry Caray and Bing Devine. Joe Spencer, the toastmaster, is president of the South Side Kiwanis Club.

Devine, general manager of the Redbirds told the gathering the Cardinals have been running in the wrong direction but he hoped they would straighten out next year. He added that Cunningham was a "tough cookie" to deal with at contract time.

Field Manager Solly Hemus introduced the Cardinal players and coaches. Afterward he answered questions from the floor, including one about his frequent difference of opinion with umpires.

"Managers have to defend their players in close calls or they lose respect for him," Solly said.

Tilly Walker Dead; Played With Browns

UNICOI, Tenn., Sept. 22 (UPI)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Clarence William (Tilly) Walker, 70, former American League home run king, whose body was found Monday at the home of his brother.

Walker apparently died from natural causes Sunday, according to physicians. The body was found by his brother, W. F. Walker.

Walker was a major leaguer for 13 years. He broke into the majors in 1911, and during his career played with Washington, the old Philadelphia Athletics, the old St. Louis Browns (1913-14-15), and the Boston Red Sox.

Walker, a native of Limestone, Tenn., was also a former Tennessee highway patrolman.

Survivors include two brothers, one son and two daughters.

Grid Browns Drop Two.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Offensive End Farrel Funston and Defensive Halfback Dick Lebeau were released by the Cleveland Browns yesterday, getting the club down to the 36-man player limit. Funston is from the College of Pacific, while Lebeau played at Ohio State.

Australian Horse In Laurel Classic

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 22 (UPI) — Vogel, an Australian horse, now owned by Roy Faircloth of Johnson City, Tenn., today became the fifth official starter for the Nov. 11 running of the $100,000 Washington D.C. International.

Faircloth originally hoped to be represented in the mile and three-sixteenth classic by Sharpsburg, but an injury took Sharpsburg out of training. He later died.

Faircloth flew to Australia seeking a replacement and after Vogel won the Graiglee Stakes in Sydney, he purchased the horse.

In the International, Vogel runs against Up and Coming from New Zealand; Lea-B. from Mexico; Nagami from England and Kuripero from Japan. America's top representative is expected to be Round Table.

Billions on Angling.

The government estimates that about two billion dollars is spent on angling in the United States each year.

McCovey High in Poll On 'Athlete of Year'

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Willie McCovey, 21-year-old rookie first baseman for the San Francisco Giants, today was named winner of the August poll in the race for the Hickok "professional athlete of the year" award.

Winners of the monthly balloting by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters become eligible for the final voting for the year's top pro athlete.

McCovey's spectacular batting in August led the voters to give him 29 first-place votes and a total of 111 points. Gene Fullmer, holder of the National Boxing Association's version of the middleweight title, was second in the balloting with 72 points. Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodger pitcher, was third with 61 and Light-heavyweight Champion Archie Moore was next with 60.

Maloy Rolls 731

Jerry Maloy of the O'Dells, put together games of 228, 245 and 258 for a 731 total to pace the bowlers in last night's round of the Cone Hermann Memorial League at DuBowl lanes. The big total helped the O'Dells win three from South Side Business Men. Other results: Palm Bowl 2, Woody Webbs 1; Thurmers 2, Correntis 1; DeClues 2, Pepsi Cola 1.

LSU's 'Chinese Bandits' Get Off to Fast Start

By Paul F. Dietzel
Head Football Coach, Louisiana State University

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 22 (UPI)—There was a great deal of speculation around the football world as to whether our defensive specialists, the Chinese Bandits, could regain their place in the sun again this fall. That question was aptly answered this past Saturday in our game against Rice.

Last year, rather than call our defensive unit the "Defensive Ram" or some other such name, I went back to my coaching days at the University of Cincinnati and reclaimed the name of my defensive unit there in 1949.

The Bandits of 1958 became quite a well known group mainly because of their approach to the game of football. When Floyd Huddleston wrote a "Chinese Bandit Chant," the L.S.U. student body really became involved in the Bandits' stature. Actually, they became "bandits" in the stands. They sang the "chant" each time the Bandits entered a game.

This past Saturday afternoon, the Tigers had a difficult time getting started in the Rice game. Although we had fumbled and lost the ball only nine times in the 1958 season, we fumbled and lost the ball four times against Rice. But the Bandits had no difficulty getting started. They intercepted a pass, and after a fine return run, became an offensive unit to go right on for a score and a two-point conversion.

The really surprising thing was that in the over-all efficiency, they were the best team of our three starting units. We determine this by an exacting, time-consuming grading system of our game movies. We do not mean to imply that we have the finest athletes on our squad with the Bandits — they just seem to play harder. That is why they are a pleasure to watch. They really enjoy playing the game. They have fun.

The same zeal that they enjoy on the field seems to be transmitted to the stands—and everyone seems to have fun when they enter the game — well, almost everyone.

They have proved to me many times that the most important part of an athlete is the seven inches right between the ears. That is proved each week. In all sections of the country, there are teams with superior athletes on their rosters. The mental attitudes of those squads will be the deciding feature in their clutch games.

Oldtimers Have Won 34 Fairmount Park Races

Remember? 5...15...25 Years Ago

1934—The Cardinals lost twice at Chicago, 4-3, and 3-2. Hank Sauer's fortieth homer helped the Cubs win the opener. Steve Bilko and Ralph Kiner connected for Chicago in the second game. . . . The owners of the Philadelphia Athletics met secretly as rumors persisted that the club would be sold.

1944—The Browns nudged within half a game of the first-place Tigers by defeating the Senators, 9-4. The game had a side feature, a fist fight between the Browns' Tommy Turner and Washington's Roberto Ortiz. The latter became angry over jockeying from the St. Louis dugout during the Senators' batting practice.

1934—Freddie Miller retained the N.B.A. version of the world featherweight title by outpointing Nel Tarleton, British champion, at Liverpool before 50,000 fans, largest crowd to watch a fight in England. . . . The Braves' Flint Rhem beat the Giants, 3-2, cutting New York's lead over the idle Cardinals to 2½ games.

Bold Man, Mucho Frio Top List

By Herman Wecke

Oldtimers, horses which are nine years old or older, have been holding their own in the competition against the "rookies" at Fairmount Park.

Paced by a pair of four-time winners, the old horses have won 34 races. There's Ralph Hughes's 10-year-old gelding, Bold Man, which in six starts has won four times and finished second twice. Waltons Lewis's nine-year-old Mucho Frio has four firsts and a third to his credit.

The others which have had more than passing success are Cross Ring, an 11-year-old, owned by Olin Sledge, with three wins and four seconds in seven starts. Then there is the nine-year-old Equimore, from the Mrs. E. B. Shipp barn, with three firsts, three seconds and a third in seven starts. Equimore has earnings of $9062 for the campaign.

Two "Grand Daddies."

Go Jeep Go and Count Ivener are the "grand daddies" of the oldtimers racing at the Collinsville track. Earl Burwell's gelding has one victory and two seconds in three starts, while S. Ivener's color-bearer has been in the winner's circle once. Before winning, Go Jeep Go had a record of nine seconds at Cahokia and Fairmount. The night he did win, he was given a real ovation by the Saturday night crowd.

Ed R is the top performer among the 11-year-olds, with two wins and a third. Vandanell has one second and 10 thirds. Two-time winner among the 10-year-olds is Starlon, Bear Cub, Dainty Dish, Legate and Derby Play each have one first. In addition to his win, Derby Play has five seconds and two thirds in eight starts.

Nine-year-olds which have been in the winner's circle are Bright Imp, Industrious and Warless, two each; Cleetsie, Polo, Dry Bones and Spinner's Boy, once each. Another nine-year-old, Danger Martin, has three seconds and three thirds.

Shipp Horses to New Orleans.

The Mrs. E. B. Shipp string, under trainer J. B. Weir, has been shipped to Jefferson Downs, New Orleans. Included in the shipment were Equimore, Laird Fraizer, a four-time winner at Fairmount; Picmar, recently claimed for $2000; and Diamond Princess . . . Jockey Herbert Hinojosa, who rode at Cahokia, has been set down for rough riding by the Latonia stewards.

Mel Duhon, well known to St. Louis race followers, is having success with long shots in Ohio. . . . On successive days at Cranwood, he won with Little Markay, which paid $44.20 for $2 and Dr. Van Bond, which refunded its backers $90, $33.20 and $10.80 across the board. . . . Dr. Van Bond formed the first half of a $378.60 double. . . .

Fairmount inaugurates its final four weeks of competition with a nine-race program tonight. . . . Post time for the opener is 8:30 o'clock.

Soccer League Meets

A meeting of the St. Louis Soccer League will be held at Thurmers, 3159 Cherokee street, tonight, starting at 8 o'clock. Any manager interested in joining the senior circuit is invited to attend.

Havana Seeks Fourth Victory in Playoffs

HAVANA, Sept. 22 (UPI) — The Cuban Sugar Kings will send righthander Raul Sanchez against the Richmond Virginians tonight in an effort to wrap up the International League's playoff title and move into the Little World Series.

Sanchez, who won 11 games during the regular season and beat Richmond, 2-1, in the third playoff game last Friday, will be opposed by Southpaw Bill Short. Short, a 17-game winner during the regular season, beat the Sugar Kings, 5-3, in the second playoff contest. Havana leads in the series, 3-2.

Moore to Box Neill

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22 (AP) World featherweight champion Davey Moore will meet Bobby Neill, featherweight kingpin of Great Britain Oct. 20, it was announced yesterday. Willie Ketchum, Moore's manager, said the fighters will be overweight and no title will be at stake in the 10-rounder.

Fort Worth Wins; Protest Disallowed

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 22 (AP)—Fort Worth beat Minneapolis, 5-3, last night to take its first game in the American Association playoff. Minneapolis has won two.

The game was played under protest from the sixth inning.

The dispute arose when plate Umpire Dave Carabba called Spencer Robbins out when he was hit by his own batted ball.

Minneapolis Manager Gene Mauch argued, then announced he was protesting.

League President Ed Doherty today disallowed the protest. The disputed play was a matter of judgment by the plate umpire.

Steve Ridzik, who was knocked out of the box Sunday, came back last night to stop the Millers with one infield hit through the final three and one-third innings.

The winning margin came in the eighth inning when Emil Syngel's hard liner to center took a hop over Tom Umphlett's head and went for three bases, scoring Ken Walters from first.

Tom Bourland of the Millers and Joe Schaffernoth of the Cats were the starters, but neither was around after the sixth.

Dr. London Wins Two Handball Titles

Dr. Stan London won the singles title and teamed with Al Goldstein to take the doubles championship by default in the Fire Department Handball tournament at Engine House No. 18. London defeated Bill Frederickson, 14-21, 21-5, 21-8, in the singles. Harry Dreyfus and Nick Riggio defaulted in the doubles.

In Class B competition, Harry Hausmann downed Bill Conley in the singles final, 21-11, 21-15. Ed Hemingway and Conley took the doubles title from Carl Knight and John Dangos, 21-12, 21-15.

Young QB May Start For Illini

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

CHAMPAIGN, Sept. 22—Ray Eliot may gamble on a sophomore quarterback Saturday when Illinois opens its football season at Indiana. He is debating presently between Rookie Mel Meyers of Dallas, Tex., and junior letterman Russ Martin of Carbondale as a replacement for the injured Johnny Easterbrook.

Meyers, a six-foot, 180-pounder who can both pass and run well, lacks experience. Martin missed spring practice due to baseball but played 143 minutes last season as No. 3 man behind Easterbrook and Bob Hickey.

Hickey, 6-3 Chicago senior, was the heir apparent to Easterbrook's post but had a bad day in Saturday's scrimmage when Easterbrook was hurt. Eliot's thinking as of now is to use Hickey on offense only if an all-out passing attack is indicated, and on defense most of the time.

The veteran coach is downcast by the turn of events. "We've had it," he commented when he learned of the extent of Easterbrook's injury.

Further X-rays Sunday lightened the gloom somewhat when they revealed no fracture of the navicular bone in Easterbrook's right foot. It was offset, however, by the added news ligament damage in the area could be just as costly as a broken bone. "Easterbrook's recovery period is indefinite," the team physician said. "He could be ready in a week, or again it may be five weeks."

Only three sophomore wingbacks—Ron Roemer, Bill Coleman and Mel Ross, were among the able-bodied. Dickens was hoping letterman Randy Williams, the Number One man, would get over a pulled muscle by Saturday.

Dickens lightened up contact scrimmage Monday and emphasized defense, particularly against Illinois passes.

Penn State's Lucas Named Back of Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (UPI)—Richie Lucas of Penn State, one of the nation's slickest T-formation quarterbacks, was named today in the year's first United Press International backfield-of-the-week along with two veterans and one spectacular sophomore.

Selected with Lucas in the "Big Four" of the week, for outstanding performances on the first weekend of major college football, were Jack Cummings of North Carolina; Dave Gross of Oregon and a youngster of tremendous promise—Sophomore Dick Noval of Maryland.

Lucas, senior signal-caller at Penn State, put on one of his usual nifty shows at Missouri, hitting one touchdown pass and setting up two other scores as he connected with 10 of 11 tosses in a 19-8 victory.

Izo Rejoins Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 22 (UPI)—Quarterback George Izo reported to Notre Dame's football practice yesterday for the first time since Sept. 9 when he injured his knee. Coach Joe Kuharich withheld Izo from contact, but Izo ran in a dummy scrimmage for about 15 minutes until his knee began bothering him again.

Prep Player Too Heavy For Scales

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Sept. 22 (AP) — Taylorville High School has an offensive weapon it dare not use for fear of breaking teammates' bones — Gerald "Tiny" Hancock.

Tiny, 17, an Owaneco farm boy, is a senior tackle. He's 6 feet 4. The big fact is he weighs 315 pounds.

Coach Jim Lovin, who believes Tiny is the biggest and best proportioned high school football player in Illinois, says:

"He probably could carry the ball up the middle but I worry about him falling on our own players and breaking bones. We never tackle him in scrimmage."

"He's amazing when he blocks. He can take half the line with him. Put him in at guard and you can pull out the tackles," says Lovin.

The blond giant is an excellent collegiate football prospect in Lovin's opinion. Good-natured, but still possessing a strong competitive spirit, Tiny shows quickness in moving short distances and speedily diagnoses plays. He is an above average student.

A little on the fat side, Tiny now measures 44 inches at the waist. His arms are big.

Up to now, he has played at defense only. This year he becomes a part of the offensive group as well. Tiny has trouble making practice because of farm chores.

Tiny probably has not stopped growing. Lovin said the boy weighed 280 pounds last year. This year weighing in couldn't be handled at the school because the scale stops at 300 pounds.

His 315 pounds is about one seventh of the little more than a ton of weight making up Taylorville's first team. Two players weigh 226 and 221 and two others both weigh in at 190. The lightest man is Quarterback Ron Molchan at 146 pounds.

Robinson Signs for Pender Title Bout

BOSTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson and Paul Pender will fight for the middleweight boxing championship of Massachusetts and New York, Dec. 14.

Robinson signed a contract yesterday to defend his version of the championship against Boston's challenger. The 15-round bout will be in Boston Garden.

The 39-year-old Robinson will get 42½ per cent of the live gate and 75 per cent of auxiliary rights, including television.

The television contract has not yet been signed.

Robinson was stripped of his title by the National Boxing Association because of inactivity. He has not fought since March 25, 1958, when he won back the tilte from Carmen Basilio.

Meadow Maid Wins Grand Circuit Race

DELAWARE, Ohio, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Meadow Maid, the Del Miller Stable's three-year-old eligible for Thursday's $70,000 Little Brown Jug pacing classic, tuned up yesterday by decisively beating fillies of her age as Grand Circuit racing started at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Meadow Maid took charge at the three-eighths pole and headed the select field across the finish line in 2.03 1-5. It was the fastest mile of the afternoon until she won the second heat in 2:02 1-5.

Loss and Gain

Spahn, as usual a 20-game winner, was handicapped by his hitters feeling the pennant pressure and pitching opponent Herman Wehmeier feeling nothing. Wehmeier, for this night a mid-century Christy Mathewson, dueled into the twelfth inning, aided incredibly by Bobby Del Greco's brilliant ballhawking in center field.

Del Greco had eight putouts, most of them difficult. "Then," moaned Burdette, "the first time we saw him the next season, he dropped the first fly hit to him."

When the end came that night, 2-1, a result of Stan Musial's double and Rip Repulski's one-out grounder under Eddie Mathews' glove, Spahn was emotionally upset. He left the mound sobbing and in anger threw his glove at Jack Hogan as The Associated Press photographer pressed forward to snap a dramatic picture.

"Yeah," Spahn reflected, "I was hurt and mad then, and I'll never forget that game, but, as I said, I was proud to be a ball player. The Cardinals, finishing fourth, stood to make more money individually if we played in the World Series than Brooklyn because we had a bigger park.

"They sacrificed financially for an ideal—for their own integrity and baseball's."

Virtue will prevail. Back in 1934 when the Gas House Gang overhauled the Giants the final week, reporters and even some Redbirds wondered just how hard the futile Phillies would play against New York. After all, Jimmy Wilson, the Philadelphia manager, had feuded here with Frank Frisch when Wilson wanted the job Frisch got.

No one needed to worry about Jim's honesty. No one, that is, except Bill Terry and the Giants, who were trimmed twice each by the Phils and Casey Stengel's lowly Dodgers the last four games.

Old College Try

Maybe the Cardinals, Cubs, Pirates and Phillies, the teams which will meet Los Angeles, Milwaukee and San Francisco this week of decision, will have private preferences. No matter how they feel, they'll go all out.

Back in 1942 when the rapid-running Redbirds caught and passed Brooklyn after trailing by 15 games, the veteran Lon Warneke lost a full Series share because the Cardinals had shipped him back to Chicago in mid-season. By then Landis had ruled, wisely for everyone's protection, that a player could not share in the reward won by a club he'd left.

Warneke, nevertheless, had a soft spot for the Cardinal kids, though you couldn't tell it the way he battled Mort

LON WARNEKE

Cooper in a 1-0 dandy the next-to-the-last Sunday of the season at Chicago. The game was decided when Johnny Hopp scored on the front end of a double steal.

The final day when the Cards were two up with two to go, Warneke again faced them, this time at Sportsman's Park. In the fifth inning of the pennant-clincher, the old Arkansas Hummingbird's defense collapsed and Cardinal bats shelled him to the showers.

Head down, the Hummer trudged to the third-base home dugout, the short cut to the visitors' dugout. Looking neither left nor right as he descended the steps, Warneke growled affectionaly to his former teammates:

"All right, you so-and-sos. You've got it now. Make damn sure you hold it."

Kahn to Testify At Hearing of New York Board

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Irving Kahn is scheduled to testify before the New York State Athletic Commission today at the hearing concerning the promotional activity surrounding the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight championship fight last June 26.

Khan is president of Teleprompter, Inc., which had the radio, TV and movie rights to the fight. After his testimony today the hearing will be adjourned until Sept. 29, when Cus D'Amato has been ordered to appear.

D'Amato presently is reported to be in Puerto Rico for a fight next Saturday night involving his unbeaten middleweight, Jose Torres, and Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba.

Edwin Schweig, attorney for D'Amato, Patterson and Patterson Enterprises, said D'Amato will not fly, and consequently would not be able to attend a hearing Sept. 29. The commission, however, took a dim view of Schweig's request the appearance of his client be postponed until Oct. 7, inasmuch as D'Amato has had ample notification.

D'Amato currently is under suspension for failure to appear as ordered at an earlier hearing. What the commission will do if he fails to show up Sept. 29 is problematical.

Schweig was the only one to appear at yesterday's hearing, which involved mostly legal matters concerning contracts and dates. He said the reason he would not honor a document signed by Patterson, D'Amato and Rosensohn Jan. 29 was that he had ordered his clients to sign as a favor to Rosensohn, and did not consider it a binding contract.

He also touched on his visit to Sweden and his conversation with Johansson concerning the proposal to have Harry Davidow, a friend of D'Amato, as the Swede's American manager.

Budweisers To Bowl Emge Five Tonight

The Budweisers, who opened their season in the B.P.A. Champions League last week by sweeping three games from arch-rival Falstaff, will take on the newly formed Emge Bros. club when the traveling league competes at Embassy Lanes tonight. Bowling in the establishment at 1251 Ferguson avenue, University City, will start at 9 o'clock.

The Women's Traveling League will bowl at Embassy at 7 o'clock.

Newly crowned city match game champion Paul Thompson, as well as the next highest finishers, Chuck Shimkus and Jerry Tharp, will be in the Bender lineup when that team meets the Willens. In their opening match, the Willens won three from the Leonards, while the Benders were shut out by the Cliff Antons.

Raben will meet Falstaff and Anton will oppose Leonard in other matches tonight. There is no charge for admission.

Softball Crown For Firemen First Season in League

Around various fire engine houses in the city, they're still celebrating the victory of the Water Squirters in the Y.M.C.A. Industrial Softball League playoffs.

The Water Squirters, composed of members of the St. Louis Fire Department's Sports Club, completed its first league season with a 10-2 won-lost record. The Squirters then captured the playoff title by defeating McDonnell, 3-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Bob Nelson of Hook and Ladder Company No. 19. Nelson struck out 11 in the final game. Bob Donovan of Engine Company No. 38 hit a two-run homer.

Trabert Advances

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Pancho Segura advanced to the quarter finals of the London professional tennis championships last night with a 6-2, 7-5 victory over Paul Remy, former French Davis Cup player.

Tony Trabert, former United States Davis Cup star also moved into the quarterfinals by beating Australia's George Worthington, 6-2, 6-4.

BRITISH INTEREST IN KHRUSHCHEV'S ARMS PROPOSAL

LONDON, Sept. 22 (UPI) — Leaders of both of Britain's major parties said in campaign broadcasts last night the West should pay serious attention to Premier Khrushchev's disarmament plan.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd voiced the views of the Conservative government while Laborite leader Hugh Gaitskell spoke for the opposition.

Diplomatic sources linked the coming election with the stand taken by the two parties. They said neither the Conservatives nor the Laborites were likely to take a stand against any sort of disarmament proposal in the heat of a campaign.

Lloyd said Khrushchev's proposals for phased disarmament closely paralleled the Conservative program.

"I welcome the fact that Mr. Khrushchev made these proposals," he said. "They must be examined carefully.

"We Conservatives want to move forward by balanced stages toward the abolition of all nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction and the reduction of all armed forces to a level which will rule out the possibility of war.

"The difficulty is in getting an agreement to carry out the process. The trouble has always been over control."

Gaitskell said he thought the West should have welcomed the Khrushchev plan more warmly.

"Getting rid of all arms with proper control is something we should all welcome," he said. "If you say it's just propaganda, I'd say the best thing is to test it.

"It will be exposed if it is (propaganda). If not, we shall get somewhere."

A poll published yesterday in the Daily Mail (Conservative) showed a reduction of the Conservative party's lead of 7 to 3½ per cent from previous polls. Prime Minister Macmillan was still out front with 42.5 per cent, Labor 39, Liberals 8, and "don't know" 10.4.

Tito Praises Plan.

By the Associated Press.

President Josip (Tito) Broz of Yugoslavia yesterday said that Premier Khrushchev, in his United Nations speech Friday, "outlined a maximal disarmament program. I think that it is ideal."

"We will always greet such constructive proposals with the greatest enthusiasm and give them support," he said.

Prime Minister Nehru of India also hailed Khrushchev's plan. At a news conference in Tehran, winding up a four-day visit to Iran, he described Khrushchev's proposal as "brave" and said nations must bravely consider it.

Exchange

Red China in the United Nations than it did yesterday. Walter Robertson, former assistant Secretary of State, who has built his career on opposition to Red China and friendship for Chiang Kai-shek, spoke bitterly and at length.

No informed person seriously expected that Red China would be seated at this session of the United Nations. Robertson's vigorous presentation was interpreted among many diplomats of all political persuasion as part of a maneuver by the United States.

TOWARD RED CHINA, Robertson was saying in effect, the United States is remaining bitterly anti-Communist. This was intended to reassure such people as Chiang Kai-shek and President Singman Rhee of South Korea. Meanwhile, the White House was putting out statements urging Americans to be polite to Khrushchev, and the plan for negotiations between the United States and Russia was proceeding.

There is some evidence here that Red China, for the moment, is not very eager to join the United Nations and that Russia is not in a mood to change China's mind. Turmoil in Asia may well suit Red China's purposes, unhindered by whatever pressure toward adherence to the U.N. Charter might be brought to bear if Red China were a member.

Russia is believed by some diplomats here to be in a mood to stabilize the situation in Europe—to consolidate its gains in Eastern Europe. Furthermore, Soviet sources state clearly that it would be to Russian advantage to divert expenditures from armaments to consumer goods, and to economic aid to underdeveloped nations, notably Red China. Some disarmament may therefore be a practical Russian goal which Soviet diplomats believe may be a practical American goal as well.

THE EISENHOWER ADMINISTRATION, the Russians believe, may have come to believe that expenditures for arms have contributed to inflation.

Chiefly, however, the Russians believe the present exchange of visits between the United States and Russia was forced on the United States by our European allies, notably Britain. In his address to the General Assembly last week British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd took credit for having initiated the diplomatic movement resulting in the exchange visits of Mr. Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

The peacemaker role especially suits the British Conservative party, of which Lloyd is a member, on the eve of British election. The danger of a nuclear war, however, is realized by all of the nations involved.

As a footnote to this report on the views of Soviet and other diplomats in the United Nations it may be added that Russian sources say they do not believe that any heckling undergone by Khrushchev in Los Angeles or elsewhere will be reflected in the reception for President Eisenhower in Russia. The Russian people, they say, are too friendly to Americans for that.

Non-Russian diplomats add that the Soviets are unlikely to be diverted by such tactics from their main purposes.

Iowa Farmer

in other forms such as soybean meal or cottonseed meal. These are the articles in Garst's faith in agricultural plenty as a way to end hunger and get the well fed lion to lie down alongside the contented lamb.

A MAN of extraordinary zeal and persistence, he is bound to find a chance to talk about these things to Khrushchev even in the midst of the whirlwind of the Khrushchev tour.

Celluloses are normally wasted because only ruminants—cattle and sheep—can use them and there has never been before an unlimited amount of protein such as now exisits in the form of urea for the proper balancing of these unlimited celluloses. Therefore says Garst, warming to his theme, this means enough food so that we can all have lamb chops for breakfast, roast beef for lunch, steak for supper, enough wool to keep everyone warm and butter and milk, hides and leather in almost unlimited quantities.

While Khrushchev, as he has proved again and again on his tour, is a dedicated Communist he is also a practical man. It did not take long to show him the benefits of hybrid seed corn. So, similarly, he may be convinced by the new Garst doctrine. What it means in manpower, in the strength of a nation, is all too obvious. In 1930 it took one-third of the American people to produce food and fiber. Today 12 per cent of the population produce so much that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson goes to bed every night worrying about the vast mountain of surpluses.

In India, says Garst, they use about 85 per cent of the people in agriculture and in eastern Europe it is probably about 50 per cent. So Khrushchev, in the role of corn king, and the Iowa business man-farmer, sitting down together, may have more to say about how to bring peace than Khrushchev as the protagonist of Communism and his political opponents who want to ram the free enterprise system down his throat.

TWO TEACHERS FIRED AT EAST SIDE SCHOOL

Two teachers at East St. Louis Lincoln Senior High School were fired, two were suspended and three were reprimanded yesterday by the Board of Education of School District 189, East St. Louis. Each was charged with unbecoming conduct for professional people.

Those fired were Earl (Tree) Harris, basketball coach and physical education instructor, and Cleveland H. Chandler, driver education teacher.

Those suspended were Frederick T. Teer, track coach and teacher of social sciences and history, and Mrs. Camille Dabney, physical education teacher. Their suspensions are for the duration of the present semester, which ends about Feb. 1, 1960.

The school board's action followed an investigation by Robert Rice, board of education attorney. He declined to reveal the specific charges against the teachers, stating that they stemmed from a variety of offenses.

IMPORTS CONTINUE TO EXCEED EXPORTS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP) —The deficit in this country's balance of international payments increased a bit in the April-June quarter, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

The United States paid out to foreign countries during the quarter $967,000,000 more than it received. This compared with a deficit of $894,000,000 in the preceding three months. These figures reflect flows of goods, services and capital.

Statistics for the first half of 1959 show that the deficit has been running at an annual rate of nearly four billion dollars. The actual deficit last year was about $3,400,000,000.

The report showed that United States exports of goods and services increased in the second quarter but imports rose even more sharply.

Imports of merchandise increased to an annual rate of $15,700,000,000 in the April-June period — the highest level ever reached. The rise centered in wood products and newsprint, non-ferrous metals, vehicles and textiles.

Exports rose $400,000,000, on an annual basis, to $15,600,000,000. About half the gain was in agricultural products and about one-third in finished manufactures.

The report said that the upward trend in exports, which fell sharply last year, continued through July. For the May-July period, it said, exports were at an annual rate of $16,400,000,000.

As a result of all foreign transactions with the United States, other countries added $1,160,000,000 to their gold and liquid dollar assets during the second quarter. United States gold sales were about $400,000,000, compared with $96,000,000 in the first quarter.

RECOVERY DRIVE FAILS AND MINUS SIGNS ON TOP

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)—The stock market failed to capitalize on an early advance today and eased somewhat in moderate trading.

The decline stemmed mostly from a lack of support than from any selling pressure. Brokers said many investors were keeping to the sides lines pending clarifications of various economic and political uncertainties.

Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials was 616.45, off 1.70 points at the close; the 20 rails 150.28, down .34 and another new 1959 low, and the 15 utilities 85.21, up .16.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 70 cents to $214 with the industrials down $1.10, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities down 10 cents, both of the latter to new lows for the year.

Of 1288 issues traded, 587 declined and 405 advanced. There were 196 new lows for the year and two new highs, American Motors and Heller.

The feeling in Wall Street is that the market's sharp reaction of the past month has strengthened its technical position. Brokers look for a sharp turn-about in prices after settlement of the long steel strike.

Electronics issues were fairly strong with du Pont up more than 2 points after reaching a high of nearly 5. Litton firmed as did Zenith. I.B.M. advanced around a point. Warner Lambert dropped a point in the drugs. Rails on average again touched a new 1959 low.

Cities Service and Jersey Standard each touched new lows on losses of around a half or more. Socony also eased.

American Motors was among the more active issues and hit a new high for the year. Ford, and Chrysler firmed while General Motors eased.

Losses of 1 or more included Motorola, Minneapolis-Honeywell, Schering, and Wagner Electric. General Time was up more than 2. National Lead rose more than 4 and Reynolds Metals more than 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange moved irregularly lower in moderately active dealings.

CORPORATE BONDS SHOW SHARP BREAKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The corporate bond market turned sharply lower in heavy trading late today. U.S. Government bonds continued to drift downward on light turnover.

Industrial convertibles lost their morning gains to resume yesterday's sharp slide.

Over the counter dealers quoted intermediate Treasury bonds down 1-32 to 2-32. Long range issues were off 2-32 to 4-32.

The treasury's 13-week bill rate dropped to 3.958 per cent from 4.166 per cent a week ago. The decline halted a rise of six consecutive weeks, the last four to 26-year highs. A companion issue of 26-week bills drew 4.766 per cent, down from 4.796 per cent a week ago.

President Eisenhower signed a bill today permitting higher interest rates on Government savings bonds and simultaneously approved treasury plans to raise the coupon on "E" and "H" savings bonds from 3¼ to 3¾ per cent.

Telephone Issue Sale.

New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. raised $45,000,000 through sale of 35-year debentures at a borrowing cost of 5.72 per cent. This is the highest cost for a bond issue by a Bell system subsidiary since 1923 when American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the parent firm, paid 5.95 per cent. The $45,000,000 of New England Telephone securities went to a syndicate led by Halsey, Stuart & Co. on a bid of 100.42 for a 5¾ per cent coupon. They were reoffered at 101.90 to yield 5.625 per cent.

First Boston Corp. offered a block of 146,712 shares of Southern New England Telephone Co. common stock at $40.25 a share. The public offering is part of a 688,885-share offering the company is offering stockholders on the basis of $35 a share for each 10 rights held. First Boston acquired the block through 1,467,120 rights purchased yesterday from American Telephone & Telegraph Co. at 36.6 cents a right.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Banks offered about 133 million dollars of 5¼ per cent nine-month debentures at par through John T. Knox, fiscal agent, and a group of securities dealers.

$4,000,000 Oxygen Generating Plant to Go Up at Granite City

Air Products, Inc., to Supply Increased Needs of Granite City Steel, Other Industrial, Medical Users.

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent.

A $4,000,000 oxygen generating plant will be constructed in Granite City by Air Products, Inc., to supply the increased needs of Granite City Steel Co. and other industrial and medical users in the St. Louis area, the company announced today.

The new plant will have capacity to produce daily 170 tons of oxygen, 99.5 per cent pure. A large part of the output of the new plant will be piped to Granite City Steel's open hearth furnaces, where it is to be used to speed the production of steel. Other industrial and medical users in the St. Louis area will be supplied oxygen in tanks.

The oxygen supplied to users in the St. Louis area will be liquified at a temperature of 320 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit). This reduces the pressure in the tanks, making them easier to handle.

W. H. Kester

The new plant will have more than twice the capacity of the present unit, which has a daily capacity of about 75 tons of oxygen. The present plant is on the site of the Granite City Steel Co.

Granite City Steel is expanding its capacity by about 10 per cent in a three-year program. Part of the expansion is being achieved by the use of oxygen to speed the removal of carbon from the iron in the open hearth furnaces.

Tonnage quantities of nitrogen and argon will also be produced for general industrial use.

Air Products has formed a new industrial gas division to distribute oxygen, nitrogen, argon, hydrogen and acetylene by pipeline and in truck-trailer, railroad tank cars and cylinders.

The company also is building major gas producing plants in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Wierton, W.Va., as part of a $37,000,000 expansion program.

Barge traffic on the Mississippi river slowed in August and the amount of freight moved through the Chain of Rocks and Alton locks was less than a year earlier, reversing the uptrend of recent months.

Barges carried 1,941,987 tons of freight through the Alton locks in August, compared with 2,002,294 tons in July and 2,107,768 tons in August 1958, the Army Corps of Engineers reported today.

The amount of freight barged through the Chain of Rocks canal in August totaled 1,966,384 tons, compared with 2,061,880 tons in July and 2,012,007 tons in August 1958.

The four barge lines not operating because of the lack of a labor contract between the carriers and the National Maritime Union are: Federal Barge Lines, Inc., Mississippi Valley Barge Line Co., American Commercial Barge Line Co. and Union Barge Line Corp.

The amount of grain and miscellaneous products, including steel, moved through both of the lock systems in August was less than a year earlier, the Corps of Engineers reported. However, the amount of other major categories of freight, petroleum, coal, sulphur and cement, sand and gravel, was larger than a year earlier.

Harold A. Brown, formerly general sales manager of Rold Gold, Inc., has been appointed branch manager of Gordon Foods, a division of Sunshine Biscuits, Inc.

STOCKHOLDERS APPROVE ERIE-LACKAWANNA MERGER

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Erie Railroad and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad stockholders voted overwhelmingly in favor of a merger of the two railroads.

Erie stockholders quickly dispatched with the day's business, voting 1,785,601 to 7611 in favor of the merger. But the Lackawanna meeting dragged on for several hours with heated discussion.

The final Lackawanna vote was 1,260,650 in favor of the merger and 26,619 against. It was necessary to have 1,092,416 Lackawanna votes in favor of the proposal.

Next move in the merger plan will be meetings of various bondholders of the Lackawanna railroad. They must approve supplemental indentures providing for certain modifications under which such bonds were issued. These meetings will be held at various times this month.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will hold hearings on the proposal at Buffalo starting Sept. 29.

The merger terms call for Erie common stockholders to get 1¼ shares and Lackawanna stockholders one share each of common in the new company for each share now held.

SOYBEANS HIGHER ON CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP) — A report that soybean crushings during August were somewhat heavier than expected had a strengthening effect on that commodity today on the board of trade but the grains were steady to weak most of the time.

Wheat came under heavy selling late in the session and at times was down well over a cent a bushel in spots despite a report that had been described earlier as at least slightly bullish.

Rye ranged out to losses of a cent or more while corn and oats shifted within a small fractional range.

The census bureau said soybean crushings during August totaled about 29,500,000 bushels. Although the figure was below the previous month it was larger than earlier advices had indicated.

LATEST NEWS FROM BUSINESS WORLD

INDUSTRIAL RAYON CORP. Monday cut the price of 1100 denier tyrex viscose tire yarn four cents a pound and 1650 denier tyrex viscose yarn five cents. The new prices are 62 cents a pound for the 1100 denier and 55 cents for the 1650 denier. Last month du Pont reduced the price of nylon tire cord by 9 to 14 cents a pound, a cut of 8 to 11 per cent. The slashes indicate growing competition between rayon and nylon producers for a major share of the important tire cord market.

CATERPILLAR TRACTOR CO. reported a 15-cent profit per share of common stock last month, 2 cents less than August, 1958. Sales rose from $60,318,619 in August of last year to $62,693,366 for last month. For the first eight months of 1959, profit per share was $1.39, an increase of 50 cents over the figure for the same period in 1958. Sales increased by more than $133,000,000 to $533,976,576.

COTTON TEXTILE MARKET was steady Tuesday. Some selling houses reported fairly active bidding for a few print cloth constructions for first quarter delivery. The bids were below mill quotations. Some mills, following a moderate improvement in sales last week, raised asking prices slightly. Small sales of sheetings were noted for the fourth quarter. Industrial goods were said to be selling in a moderate way into the first quarter.

E. I. DUPONT DE NEMOURS and Co. announced immediate reductions in the price of heavy denier super cordura rayon used in tire cord. Textile rayon prices were unchanged. The price of 1100 denier was cut four cents to 62 cents a pound; 1650 denier was down five to 55 cents a pound, and 2200 denier cut three cents to 54.

Corporate Reports

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Only income per share as stated by corporations is given in following table. In some instances comparisons with preceding year may show wide swings (gains or losses) which may be due in cases of loss or largely reduced income to some extenuating or substantial influence or in case of nonrecurring benefits in preceding year. Increase in number of shares may distort per share figures. These facts should be sought in detailed reports issued by the companies.

"Easy" Credit

That's why—even though lending money is our business—helping you to borrow wisely is a most important part of our job.

Credit, we believe, should not be used carelessly, because credit—whatever its form—never really pays for anything. It merely defers payment and usually must be repaid by work and sacrifice.

Of course, you often can borrow wisely. You may need credit to carry on your business, or buy a home, or make a major purchase that offers a needed service or convenience. But, in general, don't borrow unless there is an important need.

One of the greatest services we provide our customers is careful, conscientious counsel on loans. Helping customers to borrow wisely is part of this bank's obligation to its community.

YOUTH ADMITS GANG KILLING IN BRONX

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)—A 16-year-old Puerto Rican gang leader admitted today he was the youth in the blue trench coat who shot and killed a 16-year-old high school student on the steps of a school yesterday.

Authorities identified the teen-age killer as Edward Perez of the Bronx, one of the members of the "Royal Knights" gang picked up for questioning after the killing of John Guzman, of the Bronx. Guzman was a member of the "Valiant Crowns" gang, possibly its president.

Perez was booked on a charge of homicide this morning and seven members of the Knights were booked with him for acting in concert to kill Guzman.

Eyewitnesses to the killing said eight or 10 boys dressed in blue, tan or white trenchcoats converged on the youth as he chatted with several companions in front of Trinity Episcopal Church in the Bronx. There was an argument and Guzman started to run toward nearby Morris High School where he was a sophomore.

Police still are seeking other members of the "Royal Knights," who scattered after the shooting.

The Knights and the Crowns had set up a truce some time ago, but recent incursions into each other's "turf" (territory) had heightened tensions. Police said the killing was touched off by the invasion of Crown territory Sunday night by a Knight who wanted to visit his girl.

A summer-long wave of juvenile violence in New York has resulted in the death of at least 20 teen-agers. Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will tell a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency about the city's fight against teen crime when it opens nation-wide hearings here tomorrow.

FINED $25 ON CARELESS DRIVING CHARGE IN COUNTY

Robert E. Crancer was fined $25 and $13 costs by County Magistrate Joseph W. Murphy yesterday after Crancer pleaded guilty of careless and imprudent driving.

State police, who arrested Crancer Aug. 7, said Crancer was driving 70 miles an hour in a 40 miles-an-hour zone. They said they followed him for more than two miles on Manchester road in Kirkwood, Glendale and Rock Hill.

Crancer, who lives at 453 Gray avenue, Webster Groves, was released after his arrest on a $200 appearance bond signed by Mrs. Virginia Elam, wife of Magistrate A. Bertram Elam. The release was authorized while State Trooper Joe Upton was seeking a warrant from Murphy. County Prosecuting Attorney Norman H. Anderson later said he would investigate the circumstances surrounding the release.

NORTH BROADWAY TAVERN ROBBED BY 2 ARMED MEN

The men entered the establishment about 7:20 a.m. One wore a white handkerchief over part of his face. The other wore sunglasses and a hat pulled over his eyes.

They locked Mrs. Ann Hagerty, wife of the owner, two customers and a porter in a back room, then emptied the cash register and left. Mrs. Hagerty said they took more than $100, but she was uncertain of the exact amount.

KHRUSHCHEV WON'T BE ONLY BURIER IN DES MOINES

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 22 (AP)—A new, though unintentional reminder of his "we will bury you" remark, will confront Soviet Premier Khrushchev on his arrival in Des Moines today.

A sign on the marquee of the Hotel Fort Des Moines, where he will stay, reads:

"Welcome, Iowa Cemetery Association."

The association is holding a meeting there today.

DOWNTOWN GROUP SPEAKER

Arthur E. Wright Jr., executive secretary of Downtown in St. Louis Inc., will be one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the International Downtown Executives Association tomorrow through Friday in Minneapolis.

The association consists of executives working on downtown redevelopment programs in the United States, Canada and several other countries.

INTRODUCING TED'S NEW CAR PAYMENT PLAN '59 PLYMOUTHS ONLY!
$100 DOWN OR TRADE EQUITY
$49 PER MO. 42 Mo. Includes Finance Charges
Never before in St. Louis has a new car automobile agency had a plan whereby the average working man and his family can own a new automobile for such a LOW DOWN PAYMENT and low monthly payments as listed above.

OUR NEW PLAN ENABLES YOU TO DO THIS:
1. PURCHASE A NEW CAR for a monthly payment you can afford and a down payment everyone can manage.
2. DRIVE A BRAND-NEW '59 PLYMOUTH with no higher monthly payment than you would have on a Used Car.
3. ELIMINATE THE CONSTANT MAINTENANCE PROBLEM of spending 10 and 15 dollars a month for those little things that are constantly going wrong with Used Cars.
4. RECEIVE FAR MORE FOR YOUR MONEY invested in transportation and have trouble-free driving for many months.
5. IF YOU HAVE A CAR NOW or owe money on it we will pay it off and accept the trade-in as the down payment.

Souvenir Cap for Tourist

Beaming face of Premier Nikita Khrushchev is topped by a longshoreman's white cap, presented to him as he visited the Longshoremen's union hall at San Francisco yesterday. Cap was presented by one of the union members, who received Khrushchev's snap brim fedora in return. "An exchange of peace," Khrushchev said. His official escort, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, stands tall and amused at upper left.

Checking Housing Development

All construction activity has stopped as workers join crowd surrounding Premier Khrushchev (arrow) at housing development near San Francisco yesterday. The sightseeing Russian leader made an unscheduled stop at the project on the return trip from San Jose where he toured the plant which turns out computing machines similar to the one which fascinated him at the United States exhibition in Moscow last summer.

Hal Boyle

Actor Who Looks Like Cop or Crook

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP).

ACTOR EDWARD BINNS has two profiles—and can't decide whether this is a curse or a blessing.

It all came about as the result of a nose broken in his youth.

EDWARD BINNS

"If I turn my head one way, I look like an honest cop," he remarked. "If I turn it the other way, I look like a hood.

"But is this good or bad?"

It's good to the extent that his double profile has helped keep Eddie one of the busiest actors in the craft. In the last two decades he has appeared in five Broadway plays, 15 movies and some 400 television shows.

It's bad, he feels, in that producers too often cast him in police or hoodlum roles. Gifted with one of the most memorable faces in show business, his problem has been to make his name as well known as his face.

"People on the street mistake me for someone on the FBI-wanted list," said Binns. "Detectives tell me I look just like a detective. That's funny to me, because no real detective I ever met really looked like one."

A peaceful man by nature who served as an armament officer in the second World War, Eddie is a former instructor at Pennsylvania State University. He is married and has three daughters.

"I like action roles," he admitted. "But the best role for an actor is one that combines action with thought. A preoccupation with violence gets to be a bore.

"I've had to fire guns hundreds of times, and every time I pull the trigger it startled me. I wonder what I am doing with a gun in my hand. After all, I was raised a Quaker, and have a distaste for violence."

Binns achieved star status this summer playing detective Lt. Roy Brenner of the police confidential squad in "Brenner," a new CBS network show.

"It was a real break for me because it helped the public associate my face with my name," Eddie said.

The program, the only one currently being filmed in New York City, got off to good critical acclaim. But it has been dropped by the sponsor, and its fate is dependent on whether CBS can find another sponsor and time spot for it.

"We're trying hard to put the emphasis on character," said Eddie. "There are a million shows that don't. We tell real stories about real people who happen to be cops, but without mock heroics of any kind.

"They complain about too much violence on television. In the first 22 shows I haven't shot one man. I did punch one fellow in the stomach, and I kissed a girl. Is that too much violence?

"But still we were dumped, even though we had good ratings. The reason given was that the public doesn't want a show that faces up to life, and shows life as it is. They say the public only wants to escape life."

Binns shook his head thoughtfully.

"But do sponsors and the agencies really know what the public wants?" he asked. "I'm an incurable optimist. I believe the great mass of people look for honest, truthful, authentic stories well acted, and are fed to the teeth with the rash of cheaply made, canned junk—the Western and private eye stereotypes.

"Television has an incredible potential, but it's been taken over by the hacks. It's time the creative people took it back and made it exciting again, as it was a few years ago.

"Someone once praised one of our shows by saying it was 'like real.' That's the best compliment an actor, writer or producer can get. Television needs more shows that are like real."

Ann Landers

Goodnight Kiss

Dear Ann Landers:

I'M WRITING THIS LETTER in all seriousness. I've asked a few people, but they laugh or shrug their shoulders. When a boy kisses a girl goodnight, who should make the first move to break away—the boy or the girl?—B. B.

Dear B. B.: There's an old myth that males are more aggressive than females. The gal who wishes to preserve this illusion breaks first—and lets him chase her until she catches him.

Dear Ann:

MY HUSBAND AND I enjoyed the series of letters from women named Ursula. It's amazing the number of wives who are worried about losing their men. Chuck's wife was the smartest of all. When she suspected competition, she "turned on the heat," and made home a nice place to be.

Why can't women see the obvious? You can't make a man love you or stay home with you if he does't want to—and nagging will surely drive him away.

I learned this the hard way. My first husband had an Ursula. I was young and stupid. Instead of being warm and loving I behaved like a lunatic. I screamed at him, phoned his mother, went to see the woman and made a fool out of myself. The situation became ugly and beyond saving, so I had to get a divorce.

No marriage contract is a guarantee that it's going to work—any more than a fishing license is a guarantee you're going to catch fish. There are Ursulas all over the place and the smart wife keeps her husband so happy and busy that he doesn't even see them. SMARTER NOW.

Dear Smarter Now: So are we—as a result of your fine letter. Thanks for writing!

Dear Ann:

AS FAITHFUL READERS of your column we can't forgive you for being a braggart without a sense of proportion. Re: your answer to Flo: You said you had ironed enough sheets to reach from Utica, N. Y., to Chicago.

Utica is 645 air miles from Chicago. If large sheets were placed end to end, measuring 8½ feet diagonally, without tying, a total of 40,066 sheets would be used. This means you'd have ironed six sheets every day for 18 years and 3 months. When do you write your column?—L.L.G's.

Dear G's: OK — so I'm a braggart without proportion! Will you settle for 10 lashes with a knotted bedsheet?

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISAPPOINTED: Sorry but I can't even print a small percentage of the letters I receive. Everyone who sends a self-addressed stamped envelope gets a personal reply in the mail. Better than this I can't do.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help for the Alcoholic," inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Surgeon Who Tries to Predict Future

A Student of ESP, Nashville Doctor Forecast Kentucky Derby Finish, Other Events

By Virginia Irwin
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

FOR THREE YEARS Dr. Spencer Phillips Thornton has been making predictions about the future and watching those predictions come true with startling regularity.

A Nashville (Tenn.) surgeon, he gained nation-wide attention a few months ago when he predicted the outcome of the Kentucky Derby. A week before Derby day he said that Tomy Lee would survive a foul claim and a photo finish to score an upset victory, coming home ahead of Sword Dancer and the favorite, First Landing. The prediction was notarized, sealed and locked in a Nashville bank vault. When it was opened the day after the race in the presence of two bank vice presidents and newspaper men, the young doctor had foretold win, place and show right on the button, along with the photo finish. The amazing forecast made news all over the country.

Recently "prophet" Thornton has been appearing on the Jack Paar show, entertaining the national television audience with predictions and "trimmings" that Thornton laughingly describes as "psychological trickery." This Friday the "Best of Paar" will include a re-run of his Aug. 18 performance on the show.

Dr. Thornton doesn't take himself seriously, even though others do. He's a pleasant young man, likes to be called "Spence" rather than doctor, and disclaims any ability to see the future. His hobby is studying and experimenting in the field of extrasensory perception.

"I'm skeptical of people who claim they can predict the future," he said on a visit to New York. "But I do think that a lot of people have ESP abilities and I'm not talking about mediums or swamis or oddballs in turbans. I mean just ordinary people. I'd like to see the day when we quit thinking of ESP as a supernatural thing and begin to think of it as a new step in learning."

Dr. Thornton could make a nice living with a mind-reading and memory-magic act he couples with lectures on ESP. He worked his way through college and medical school on his ESP lecture fees.

But his consuming ambition is to be a medical missionary and he has just given up his practice in Nashville to begin a year of intensive study at the Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky. He wants to put his knowledge of medicine and surgery to work in "one of the world's areas of great need." He isn't predicting where he'll go but he has a feeling that this time next year will find him in Indonesia, Java or Hong Kong. Money he earns on TV and from his ESP lectures will be used to build a hospital somewhere where it's sorely needed.

Born in West Palm Beach, Fla., Thornton comes from a scholarly family. Both his parents are high school teachers. When he was about 12 years old he saw a vaudeville trained-memory act and decided to train his own memory. Eventually he developed an act of his own and then got interested in extrasensory perception.

"I feel that ESP is a tremendous force, not supernatural or electrical waves or anything else we know today," he says, "and I predict that in 20 years we'll have no more awe of it than we have of TV today."

At Bowman-Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem, N.C., he developed more interest in ESP. When he was sent as an instructor to the Army Medical Service School of Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, Tex., he conducted with Col. Vincent Hack a series of experiments in color ESP. Primarily they were interested in the effects of color on the subconscious mind.

Returning to civilian life, Dr. Thornton opened a group practice with three other doctors in a downtown Nashville clinic and continued experimenting with ESP in a semi-scientific way. He began to work mental magic into his lectures on health and faith to youth and civic groups and then began dabbling in predictions of the future.

"It all started as a stunt," he said, grinning, "and nobody was more surprised than I was when I started hitting."

About a week before one of his lectures he would mail a sealed envelope to the chairman of the organization sponsoring his appearance. Inside the envelope would be a list predicting the headlines that would appear in the local paper on the night he was to speak.

"Spence" scored a big hit in 1957 when he predicted that President Eisenhower would recover from a heart attack in time to attend the NATO meeting. And from then on his batting average began to jump. Since the beginning of this year his record has been very good.

He predicted Bert Combs's victory that upset Happy Chandler's man in the Kentucky gubernatorial contest. He predicted that Castro would intervene in the invasion of Panama in late April. While the Cuban hero didn't show up in person, two bearded Cuban army officers made the invaders lay down their arms. And he predicted, weeks beforehand, the United States Government's announcement that it would soon try to rocket mice into outer space.

Invited to appear on a Nashville radio station, Dr. Thornton on April 3 predicted that "in two weeks there will be a major air crash on the West Coast." Two weeks later to the day an AP dispatch from Mexicali, Mexico, reported 26 killed when a Mexican airliner crashed near the California border. On April 23 he predicted "Clare Boothe Luce will be confirmed as United States Ambassador to Brazil, but on April 29 her husband will ask her to resign. She will resign." Thornton again hit the date right on the nose.

He rounded out his remarkable record for April by making his Kentucky Derby prediction on April 28 and watching it come true a few days later.

People suspect the young surgeon throws in some deliberately ridiculous predictions when folks begin to take him too seriously and regard him as some kind of a spook. For instance, he predicted an outbreak of alligators in New York City in mid-June. New York has been delightfully free of alligators this summer.

"One of my misses was pretty close to home," he said with a laugh. "I predicted shortly before our second child was born that it would be a girl. We got another boy."

"I don't pretend to know why my predictions have hit so often, or when they'll stop," he says. "All I know is that I'm trying to find some sort of a scientific answer, some deeper understanding of extrasensory perception."

In experimenting with ESP, Dr. Thornton and his wife, Ginnie, have developed what he calls an "extraordinary mind-to-mind method of communication." He says he can feel when she wants him to call her on the phone and quite often is surprised when she in turn reads his thoughts. He tells a little story about "empathy and popcorn."

Once he had a craving for popcorn. He hadn't eaten popcorn in years but he suddenly wanted some. Ginnie was out shopping at the supermarket so he concentrated on sending her a message: "Buy popcorn, buy popcorn." She came home with the popcorn.

"That's true, so help me," says the man who admits he is mystified by his own experiences.

Dr. Thornton gets 30 to 40 letters a day from people wanting him to make predictions for them—on sporting events, lotteries and the like. He won't be a party to any of that because he doesn't approve of betting.

He keeps in close touch with Dr. J. B. Rhine, head of the Parapsychology Laboratory at Duke University. Rhine has long been a leading investigator in the field of ESP and welcomes Dr. Thornton's interest.

Dr. Thornton predicted last May that "the United States would not be the first to send a man into outer space. Sometime before Sept. 7, 1959 (regardless of when it is officially announced) the Russians will send a man into outer space."

He predicts that "Nixon will win the Republican nomination with Lyndon Johnson getting the nomination for the Democratic party and Nixon will win the election and be our next President."

A six-footer, 38-year-old Dr. Thornton hopes to continue his experiments in ESP when he goes abroad. He sees no hardship in giving up a successful practice as a surgeon to train as a medical missionary.

"I belong to God, very literally," he says. "I feel that the best use I can make of my life is to invest it in something that will outlast it."

Famous Fables

By E. E. Edgar

MUSICIAN: Inventor Charles F. Kettering was a man of infinite versatility. As a student at Ohio State University, he had to take military drill, which he disliked intensely. There was only one way out and that was to join the school band, whose members were excused from shouldering arms.

When he announced to a friend that this was his intention, the latter asked:

"What instrument do you play?"

"I don't play any," said Kettering. "What are they short of?"

The band needed clarinetists, he learned. So he became a clarinetist. And he made the band. — E. E. EDGAR

COURTNEY SAYS "NO" TO FOLGER'S COFFEE TREES!

Attorney Courtney, of the legal firm of Benchly, Courtney and Case, attorneys for Captain Folger today struck a telling blow to Captain Folger's unusual and dramatic plan to bring a real mountain-grown coffee tree to every coffee lover in America.

In appreciation to the millions of coffee lovers who have made Mountain-Grown Folger's Coffee the largest-selling coffee in the vast area in which it is sold, Captain Folger had planned to give each true coffee lover his own personal mountain-grown coffee tree. Courtney countered with the fact that coffee trees yielding the rare Folger kind of coffee grow only on high volcanic slopes. They must be constantly attended, pruned and sprayed. At harvest, each delicate bean must be hand picked, carefully dried, bagged and transported from the high mountains to the seacoast. And so rare is this Mountain-Grown Folger's Coffee, that one tree yields only one pound a year. In short, whoever wins a coffee tree loses his shirt.

In addition, Courtney added that one coffee tree would be valueless to the true coffee connoisseur. To get the wonderful flavor of Mountain-Grown Folger's Coffee requires the yield of many trees, and the skill Folger's has developed over generations in selecting, preparing and blending delicate mountain-grown coffees to give Folger's its inimitable flavor. Captain Folger looked pensive as he heard the legal opinion and agreed that Courtney had a valid point.

Annual Scramble For Room Mothers

YOU MAY THINK you have troubles but Mrs. C. will trade you, sight unseen. Mrs. C. in is in charge of recruiting room mothers for her school this fall. She was relating her tale of woe to Mrs. T. and I eavesdropped unabashedly.

CLARISSA START

"I do appreciate your giving me all those suggestions," said Mrs. C. to Mrs. T., "but every single one of them had excuses. Good solid excuses, too. Mrs. Z. would love to do it but she's already promised to be room mother for Bitsy's room and Bitsy will be simply heartbroken if she backs out. And Mrs. Y. would love to do it but she was room mother year before last and she thinks other mothers should have the opportunity. And Mrs. W. is going to have another baby, for your information. Yes in January.

"It really hasn't been too bad," Mrs. C. continued, "except that you always get four mothers who are very eager to be room mothers and they're all in the same room, and then there's one like this where you just can't get anyone.

"I can't ask Mrs. S. because she's been named chairman of the fellowship meetings at their church and you know what that means. And I can't ask Mrs. R. because she was room mother last year. So it looks as if there's only one person left to ask."

"Who's that?" inquired Mrs. T. brightly.

"You," said Mrs. C.

At this moment I offered Mrs. C. an assist by encouraging Mrs. T. to accept the challenge. As a veteran, I assured her that the job of room mother is a memorable one.

For one thing you really get to know the other mothers. How can you help it when you telephone all 29 of them so regularly? Now don't let that scare you off, prospective room mothers. You don't really telephone all of them. You just telephone the five on the telephone committee and when they can't reach some by telephone you telephone the ones they couldn't reach. And of course, if you're room mother for the three other first-grade room mothers, as I was, there's a little more telephoning before each P.-T. A. meeting and open house and coffee. And of course, if you're room mother for all the room mothers as Mrs. C. is, you just have a private line installed in your private padded cell.

Looking back on it, I can't recall any real problems, except lining up a mother to be at the cafeteria and on the playground every noon hour and then finding substitutes when the regulars couldn't make it. But all that can easily be accomplished by telephone. There was a little physical endeavor such as canvassing the neighborhood for the school census and the gift for the retiring principal but you can delegate many of the jobs, such as carrying three jugs of cider and a Jack-O-Lantern to the Hallowe'en party, dyeing eggs at Easter, baking cookies at Christmas, buying the teacher's gift. All in all it's real experience.

Just because I'm bubbling with enthusiasm, don't ask me to be a room mother this year because I was one year before last and I think other mothers should have the opportunity. Besides that I'm a club chairman this year and you know what that means. Moreover, I have many other excuses. Good solid excuses. But you go ahead and take the job, Mrs. T. The nicest thing about being a room mother this year is that you won't have to be one next year.

Excessive Drinking

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that after a person has consumed quite a bit of liquor, eating a slice or more of bread will absorb the alcohol and help bring on sobriety?

Mrs. D. B. L."

DR. MOLNER

The answer was (and still is) no. The alcohol is still in the system. But the old idea still lingers. Many people believe if they drink too much they can undo the damage by eating something afterward.

Some readers were quite vehement about my reply. Others demanded an explanation.

I will explain, but with the understanding that this column is not a schoolhouse for cocktail party devotees.

Better people than I have tried to implant the idea of moderation, but their success, if any, has been indifferent. For thousands of years people have been making and consuming fermented liquors. So, since people continue drinking these fluids, and ethyl alcohol is the common critical constituent, let's at least find out a little more of the nature of alcohol.

There are, in fact, a whole group of alcohols—methyl, ethyl, propyl, butyal, amyl, hexyl, heptyl and so on. Of the lot, all are toxic—that is poisonous—ethyl alcohol being the one exception which can be consumed without the imbiber being immediately poisoned. But even ethyl alcohol, once a certain threshold has been passed becomes poisonous, and alcohol poisoning is by no means a thing of the past.

Indeed, it breaks your heart to hear of children who climb on a chair and reach a whisky bottle from which they have seen their elders drink. A few bitter swallows and the child is desperately ill. Sometimes even death follows.

That's the nature of alcohol, and you might as well remember it. It is an irritant. It is a drug as well as a food. That is to say, alcohol has calories, although it furnishes no other nutrition. It is a sedative, being related chemically to ether and chloroform although not as powerful.

A small amount is relaxing. A person "feels at ease" because the senses of propriety and so on are dulled. He or she may later become, as has so often been observed, a "crying drunk," an "affectionate drunk" a "fighting drunk," a "talkative drunk," or "give-away drunk" who spends witlessly and makes all sorts of extravagant promises.

But how is this alcohol absorbed? What effect does eating have? Or black coffee, or walking a drunk around the block? We'll continue this topic tomorrow.

"DEAR DR. MOLNER: Will you tell me if my age is against me? I am 42 and would like to have a bunion operation. People tell me doctors don't want to operate if you are over 40.—MRS. L. C."

Your age is not against you if the operation is needed. Why listen to what "people" tell you? What does your doctor say? Good heavens, I know of plenty of patients who have had surgery (although not for bunions) at the age of 70, 80 and even 90.

Should Bright Pupil Skip a Grade?

Bright youngsters have many hobbies.

How to Get the Best Education For Your Child—

By Dr. Benjamin Fine and Lillian Fine

(NINTH OF A SERIES)

IF YOU ARE THE PARENT of a gifted child you are probably wondering whether that is a blessing or a curse. Too often the talented child is the forgotten child in school. We have special programs for the emotionally disturbed, for the mentally retarded, and for the physically handicapped. Unfortunately, the gifted pupils are almost certain to be asked to shift for themselves.

"In the ordinary elementary-school situation, children of 140 I. Q. waste half their time," writes one researcher. "Those above 170 I. Q. waste practically all their time. With little to do, how can these children develop power of sustained effort, respect for the task or habits of steady work?"

For parents, the waste of talent often is a personal tragedy. Prof. Harold Benjamin, of George Peabody College for Teachers, notes: "About 50 per cent of United States High School graduates who are 'mentally elite' do not go to college now."

Experts find the individual intelligence test, if given by a competent psychologist, to be the most reliable single tool for identifying the gifted. Several tests should be given at several times. Standardized tests of achievement in several subjects are also useful in identifying the gifted. School marks are less reliable.

One thing psychologists, pediatricians, and teachers agree on is the importance of identifying the gifted child as early as possible. The highly endowed youngster who drifts through elementary school unrecognized is likely to develop poor habits of work and of thinking.

If your young child shows signs of unusual ability, it is wise for you to visit a guidance clinic or testing center and discuss the situation with a member of the staff. For a reasonable fee a series of tests will be given and the results analyzed.

What are very superior and gifted children like?

On the whole, they tend to be better developed physically than average youngsters of the same age. They like to read. They are interested in a great many things; they particularly like games and plays. They have many hobbies. They are less inclined to boast and are more trustworthy and act more mature than others their age. Their character and social attitudes are more wholesome than the average.

As a parent of a gifted child you constantly face this problem: To skip or not to skip? About a quarter of a century ago bright children were pushed ahead at a rapid pace. Then many parents found that indiscriminate skipping proved harmful. It is not enough for a child to have a high I. Q. His emotional quotient must also be high.

Now the cycle has come all the way around. Acceleration is once again popular—with this difference: the child's emotional maturity is taken into consideration.

Should classes for bright children be established? Why not? It is not undemocratic to give each child education to his fullest capacity. That will prove, in the long run, the best way to train our talented youth.

You may worry at this point and ask, "Won't special classes for the bright create snobs? Won't the children think too much of themselves?"

We do not believe that experience has borne that criticism out. If you accept his talent and do not make a special fuss over it, your child will undoubtedly accept his superiority in the classroom without much ado.

A third method of providing opportunities for children with superior mental ability is to keep them in the same class with average and dull-normal pupils but to supply "enrichment" for them. They are excused from some of the more elementary work and are encouraged to engage in projects or to read more advanced material on the subject being studied.

Gifted children may have real difficulty finding congenial friends of their own age. Their interests are different from those of average children. To some extent this difficulty continues through life.

An awareness of and sensitivity to the world's injustices and tragic situations is probably the source of another problem of the gifted. Fortunately, most gifted people have a strong sense of humor.

What can you do to help your gifted youngster avoid strains and problems which are mostly not of his own making? Even more than the average child, the gifted need love, understanding, encouragement, and a relaxed atmosphere in the home. And in most cases they are likely to give a great deal in return.

The American Association for Gifted Children (15 Gramercy Park, New York 3, N. Y.) is a useful source of information about ways to help gifted children.

Far more than the average child, the gifted youngster is likely to respond to parental efforts to enrich his education. Books, records, family discussions of cultural matters, excursions to places of historical interest are all recommended.

The development of hobbies can be both educationally and emotionally beneficial. And learning a trade is not only valuable from the vocational point of view; it also helps give a person self-confidence.

When the talented boy or girl finds the public school hostile or, at best, a prison of boredom, you may want to investigate the offerings of private schools.

The question that remains to be solved is how the schools can develop the best program for your talented child. You can help find the answer by supporting whatever efforts are being made in your school, or by initiating those efforts if they are not being made. The gifted can, with profit, take such "tough" courses as advanced mathematics, foreign languages, physics and chemistry.

According to Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard, a talented pupil would take a program of five solid subjects each semester in high school, spend 15 to 20 hours a week on homework, and be held to high standards of achievement.

"He would also have time for courses in such fields as art, music and industrial arts which would enrich his program and whole cultural background," Dr. Conant reports.

Whatever the final answer, the problem must be solved now. A child is in the first grade only once. If that year is wasted, it can never be reclaimed.

Repetition's Effect

By Adele Starbird

ADELE STARBIRD

ONE OF MY DUTIES during the recent flyer I took in housekeeping was to pick up the morning and evening papers which were thrown over the hedge into the yard. Though it had been many a year since I had unrolled a newspaper, my own having been delivered folded to my apartment, I never untwisted the wire this past month without hearing my mother say, "Be sure to throw that wire into the waste basket."

For when I lived at home she always said it, no matter who it was who brought in the paper. She must have said it thousands of times. You would have thought that the members of her family habitually left bits of wire strewn all over the house.

It was the same with other little chores. Anybody who put a pan of milk on the stove was admonished not to let it boil over. If Mother saw us measuring out sugar, she never failed to say, "Don't spill it on the floor. If there is anything that sets my teeth on edge, it is walking on sugar."

But it was the making of ice cream, which always took place on the back porch, that put her in top form. The sight of the gunny sacks, the coarse salt, the big blocks of ice which had to be broken up with potato mashers and croquet mallets, the heavy wood bucket with its unwieldy metal top—all these paraphernalia filled her with foreboding.

"Now don't get any of that mess on the porch. Put plenty of papers down before you start. And don't let the salt get into the ice cream. It ruins it."

The constant repetition was not, for some reason, irritating. We knew that her warnings were an automatic response, an unconscious reflex as natural as a knee jerk. We often laughed at her; sometimes we managed to beat her to the draw, mimicking her before she could get the words out. She took it in good grace, but it didn't change her. If I were to go into her room today with a rolled newspaper, she would say, "Be sure to throw that wire into the waste basket."

She has to the highest degree the feminine instinct for conservation. To take care of things, to preserve them against defacement, to avoid waste, has been a part of her mission in life.

What interests me particularly is that I now have a deeply worn groove of memory which makes it impossible for me ever to pick up a paper or boil milk or measure sugar without hearing the inevitable warning and smiling a little.

And since verbal repetition has so lasting an effect, I wonder if teachers and parents ought not to be more vocal where serious matters are concerned. We have such a horror of preaching, we are so afraid of becoming a bore or a nagger, that we fail to make the clear statements children need to hear. "And how shall they hear without a preacher?"

Our silence constitutes a kind of complicity and earns their just reproaches. More than one young person has asked, "Why didn't somebody tell me?"

As for our dread of repeating ourselves, we might learn from the Old Testament method. "Precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little."

Not too much at one time—that is most important. But a little here and there, and oft repeated, "line upon line."

Sheinwold's Bridge

By Alfred Sheinwold

WHEN A PLAYER leads his fourth-best card in a suit, subtract the number of that card from 11. The remainder is the number of higher cards held by the other three players. This is called the Rule of Eleven.

	♠Q852 ♥976 ♦KQ63 ♣J2
	♠J106 ♥KJ105 ♦A10 ♣AK86

East	South	West	North
1♣	1N.T.	Pass	2N.T.
Pass	3N.T.	All Pass

West opened the ten of clubs, covered in turn by the jack, queen and king. South returned the jack of spades to East's king. East then led the five of clubs.

Leonard B. Harmon, playing the South hand, felt pretty sure that East had returned his fourth-best club. Applying the Rule of Eleven, he discovered that South, West and North had started with six clubs higher than the five.

Declarer knew that dummy had started with the jack of clubs and that his own hand had started with four cards higher than the five of clubs. This left only one such card for West to hold. Since West had already led the ten of clubs, he could not hold any other card higher than the five of clubs.

From this point on Harmon could play the hand in comfort.

It was easy to develop as many spades and hearts as needed.

Now go back to that lead of the five of clubs. Suppose South finesses the eight of clubs instead of the six.

South leads the ten of spades to force out the ace, and East now leads the nine of clubs. South, holding the ace-6 must win with the ace. Whenever South tackles hearts, as he must to get a ninth trick, East can step up with the ace of hearts and take the seven and three of clubs. East defeats the contract, taking two clubs, two spades, and a heart.

St. Louisans Return From Varied Trips

By Peggy Johnson

MANY ST. LOUISANS have returned to their homes after spending the summer traveling in this country and Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Wight Jr., 42 Westmoreland place, have returned to St. Louis after more than a month abroad. They flew to Scotland and motored through that country and Ireland. They were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Nancy Wight, who is now living in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Herndon Smith have returned to their home at 51 Pointer lane, Ladue, after spending the summer at their cottage in Harbor Springs, Mich. Mr. Smith has a studio at the cottage where he painted during their stay there. The Smiths were joined by their son, Jay Herndon Smith, who was graduated from Yale University last year. He will sail for London today aboard the Mauretania. Other Michigan visitors were Mr. Smith's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Halls, 11 Pointer lane, Ladue, who spent two months at Harbor Point.

Mrs. C. Oscar Lamy of the Congress Hotel, was also a summer visitor at Harbor Point. She was accompanied by two granddaughters, Carolyn Gunter, daughter of the W. Davis Gunters, and Jane Gatch, daughter of Mrs. William P. Brodhead. Mr. and Mrs. Brodhead are currently building a home in Sarasota, Fla. Mrs. Lamy is planning to visit them in the South later in the fall. Two other granddaughters, Miss Beatrice Gunter and Miss Ann Averill, debutantes, were honored at a dinner last Tuesday given by their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Barlow, 13 Hortense place, and at a luncheon and dance, Sept. 10, given by Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Shinkle Jr., at Trails End Stables. At the latter party the girls shared honors with Miss Sally Caulk and Miss Cynthia Bland.

Mrs. George W. Hellmuth has been at Robinswold, her summer home in Douglas, Mich., since the middle of June. She returned to her home at 4468 Maryland avenue, Sunday evening, with the news that she has sold her Douglas home, a 17-room house where numerous St. Louisans have been entertained every summer for the past 50 years.

To Aid Goodwill Industries

MRS. CHARLES E. CASPARI JR., and her daughter, Susan, who live in Hampton Park, recently delivered to their neighbors Goodwill project bags to which were attached invitations for coffee tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, at the Caspari home, 8021 South drive. This will be the first of a series of "It's in the Bag," parties for the benefit of the Goodwill industries sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary. Guests have been asked to bring donations in the traditional Goodwill bags.

Mrs. Gray C. Stribbling II has invited her neighbors to her home, 24 Deerfield road, Webster Groves, for a cocktail party Saturday night and at the same time Mrs. Stanley W. Morse will give an evening patio party at her home, 25 Beacon Hill, Creve Coeur.

Early October parties will include a cocktail party to be given by Mrs. William H. Cunliff, 201 South McKnight road, Ladue; a barbecue at the home of Mrs. Donald Sanford McDonald, 731 Barnes road, Ladue; a cocktail party, Mrs. William H. Elston, 37 Picardy lane, Ladue; and a cocktail party, Mrs. Tullius C. Tupper Jr., 2660 South Warson road, Ladue. Parties planned for later in October will be given by Mrs. J. Russell Wilson, 3 Robin Hill, Ladue, who will be hostess to former Webster Groves neighbors; Mrs. Felix N. Williams, 10 Fordyce lane, Ladue, and Mrs. Paul F. Max, 12 Dromara road, Ladue, auxiliary project chaiman.

Later this month Mrs. Robert T. Smith (Eleanor Cunliff) will have a "bring-your-own-supper" party at her home, 4943 Laclede avenue. Others who are planning parties include Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas, 609 South Warson road, Ladue, and Mrs. John L. Christian, 9936 Litzsinger road, Ladue. Mrs. Cunliff is president of the auxiliary.

Miss Christopher Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher William Johnson Jr., 3409 Longfellow boulevard, has departed for Albuquerque, N. M., to begin her freshman year at the University of New Mexico. Her brother, Bradford, has returned to the Webb School, Belle Buckle, Tenn., for his second year.

Children to Visit Maramec Iron Works

JUNIOR HISTORIANS, children of Missouri Historical Society members and friends, will go by special train Saturday morning, Oct. 3, for a day of sight-seeing and study at Maramec Iron Works and Spring, near St. James, Mo. The trip designated as "history expedition No. 2," will be co-sponsored by the society's Women's Association and the James Foundation. The train will leave Union Station at 9:15 in the morning and will return at 5:40 o'clock that afternoon.

Arriving at St. James, the children will be transported by busses to Maramec for a tour under the direction of Robert L. Elgin, representative of the James Foundation. Mrs. George F. McKay is chairman for the trip with Mrs. Nicholas V. V. Franchot III and Mrs. J. Lionberger Davis Jr., assistant chairmen. Young women volunteers, wearing blue smocks, will serve as chaperones. Charles van Ravenswaay, the society's director, will be guest of honor.

The iron works, a major industry until 1876, was established in 1827 by Thomas James of Chillicothe, O., on a tract of land purchased from the Federal Government. Mr. Elgin will show the children the ruins of the mine where they may gather bits of hematite ore used for iron making. On the site of the Indian village children will hunt for arrow heads and Indian relics and nearby they will see the spring which has an average flow of 96,300,000 gallons of water daily.

Mrs. Lucy Worthen James, great-granddaughter of the founder, reacquired much of her ancestors' holdings around the iron works and spring. At her death in 1938 her estate became the James Foundation which administers the park according to her will "in private, considerate control open to the enjoyment of the people." This beautiful site is a favorite Ozark attraction.

A barbecue lunch, games, contests and entertainment by the Missouri Swingsters will be features of the excursion.

Planning Historic Trip

ROBERT L. ELGIN shows how the trip hammer was used in early iron-making at Maramec Iron Works to MRS. NICHOLAS V. V. FRANCHOT III, center, and MRS. GEORGE F. McKAY who are planning a trip to the historic place near St. James, Mo., for children of the Missouri Historical Society members. Mr. Elgin is representative of the James Foundation, which administers Maramec Park.

MR. AND MRS. John Flint Rogers, 124 North Central avenue, Clayton, have had as their guest their daughter, Mrs. William A. Rogers (Peggy Rogers), who returned Sunday to her home in New York. William Rogers, who is associated with the Ford Foundation, and his wife returned recently from Rangoon, Burma, where they spent the past two years. They will depart soon for Mr. Rogers's next assignment in Madras, India.

THE AFRICAN VIOLET SOCIETY of Webster Groves will hold its picnic for members and their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Grindell, Old Colony lane, St. Louis county, Saturday afternoon.

The affair will take place Tuesday, Nov. 10, in the Khorassan room of the Chase Hotel with George Feyer, pianist, as guest soloist. The dinner and concert will be followed by dancing. Mrs. Jantzen is chairman of the concert. Mrs. Oscar Lamy is chairman of the building fund.

Members of the alumnae committee are: Mrs. William J. Garvey, Mrs. R. Emmet Kelly, Mrs. Thomas O. Moloney, Mrs. Leo Maginn, Mrs. Preston Phillips, Mrs. Bernard C. MacDonald, Mrs. Henry Mohrman, Mrs. William Carelton Jr., Mrs. John Shield, Mrs. Jere Sheehan, Mrs. Senter M. Jones Jr., Mrs. Joseph A. Kearns, Mrs. John C. What You Should Know About Your Hair
Do "hair-growing" tonics really grow hair? Can hair turn white overnight? What about the use of hormones? There are many false legends and misconceptions about hair. Learn the facts about dandruff, graying hair, and hair dyes in October Reader's Digest, now on newsstands.
...and here are 6 more of the 46 timely articles and features you'll find in October Reader's Digest
Why I Came Back To Christianity. "Is there a satisfying religion for the modern educated man?" Lin Yutang, Chinese philosopher who once wrote, "Why I am a Pagan," recently startled millions of followers by returning to Christianity. Here in October Reader's Digest he explains why he has "come home again"—back to the only religion which establishes a personal relationship with God.
How to Stay Sweethearts. A scared employee told his boss he was going to be married—was surprised with friendly advice he has followed for 36 years! In October Reader's Digest a husband speaks from experience. Read why there's one reply that should never be made to that wistful question: "Do you love me?"
Watch Your Conversation—Children Are Listening! The tape recorder has proved there are definite patterns of family conversation. Which is yours—critical? quarreling? exhibitionist? This Reader's Digest article, based on research at University of Pennsylvania, shows that what children hear can be more damaging than you think!
$4.95 Condensed Book: Three Against the Wilderness. They got their winter's grease supply by throwing a lighted torch into a bear's den! Timber wolves stalked their young son . . . But in this vivid epic Eric Collier, log-cabin pioneer, tells you why he and his family prefer the British Columbian wilderness to the law career his father had mapped out for him in England. Exciting reading in October Reader's Digest.
They Called Me Incurable. Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer, had always "been arrogantly proud of her health and durability." Then she was struck with "incurable" Parkinson's disease. This article in October Reader's Digest tells the inspiring story of how she fought against 100 to 1 odds . . . got better, not worse!
Why Doctors Hesitate to Prescribe Antibiotics. When you want an antibiotic but your doctor says: "Let's see what develops," should you argue with him?—call another doctor?—take leftover pills from a previous illness? Read in October Reader's Digest why you should do none of these things. There's danger involved!

Martha Carr's OPINION

A Terrible-Tempered Tightwad

Dear Martha:

DO YOU THINK a man can love a woman and still accuse her of everything that is lowdow and against moral principles? I have beem married eight years and in those years there isn't any name dirty enough to call me when he gets mad. He has the most terrible temper fits I have ever seen. We bought a house. My name isn't on the deed. All the money we have in the bank is in his name. We were separated for a time three years ago and he started buying bonds and he put his father down as beneficiary. If I mention it to him he gets mad. I work every day, too. Am I wrong for doubting a man's love when he acts like this?

A READER.

Readers are requested to keep their letters short when writing to Martha Carr. For a personal reply inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope with the letter you send to Martha Carr, in care of the Post-Dispatch. Letters of a medical or legal nature cannot be answered.

This is love? This bad-tempered bully doesn't seem to love anyone except himself and maybe Pop. If he cared anything for you, he wouldn't be calling you dirty names and clutching the family bankroll. What about your money? Do you turn that over to him, too? I think it's about time you were spending a little of it on yourself. But save out enough carfare to get to a marriage counselor. One of the family agencies will help. Family and Children's Service, Jewish Family Service Agency and Society of St. Vincent de Paul are among them.

Dear Martha:

MY SISTER-IN-LAW is one of the meanest women who ever lived. How in the world my brother ever fell in love with her, I don't know. Every time I go to her house she picks a fight with me. I try to call my brother on the phone and she won't even let me talk to him. He has turned into a henpecked boob, and what can I do about it? I think someone ought to open his eyes to the kind of wife he has.

MAD SISTER.

Mean or not, she's his wife, so don't start criticizing her to him. He must have loved her or he wouldn't have married her. So, if you can't be in her company without a fight, I'd just stay away if I were you. If you care for your brother, you won't put him on the spot, right between two women with claws unsheathed.

IN ANSWER TO Jane: If this particular brand of pipe tobacco makes you physically ill, then there's nothing to do but tell him. If he cares enough for you, he'll either change brands or pitch the pipe. If he doesn't care enough, you'd better find out right now.

Write today for Martha Carr's free leaflets for teenagers: "E for Etiquette," with raters for daters; "What a Smooth Sub-Deb Should Know," with pointers on popularity" and "Teen Games." Be sure to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Hurrying Khrushchev

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.

I FEEL A LITTLE SAD that because of security reasons Premier Nikita Khrushchev was not allowed to visit Disneyland in California. I realize that that particular place is a difficult place to guard anyone, but I hate to see us give him the feeling of incompetence on our part, which he certainly must have.

We hurry him so; we allow no time for the usual things that visitors like to do.

Take, for instance, his visit to Hyde Park. If he had been given one extra day in New York, he could have driven up into New York state at a reasonable hour and performed what he considered his duty "to pay his respects to a great man."

He told me this visit was not for pleasure, that he felt it was his duty to come because without United States help during the war Stalingrad might have fallen, and that the Russians felt my husband understood Soviet needs and aspirations.

We might have given him a little pleasure if we had allowed him to have a quiet and peaceful lunch, to look around a little and see our countryside and how our people live, and to drive back to New York leisurely.

Even men like to shop, and neither he nor the ladies of his party have been allowed much time at all to see if there is anything here they would like to take home. I know from experience I like to shop in any country I visit, for I like to take home things that will remind me of what I have seen.

Instead of one leisurely day of this kind, he had on his mind an afternoon speech at the United Nations and I doubt if he returned in time to New York to have any lunch. This is not conducive to good temper!

The photographs in our metropolitan newspapers on Monday of his greeting the people at a train stop and the story that he walked away from guards at the hotel and mingled with some of the people are indicative of the fact that he wants personal contacts. And I feel these contacts are important for him.

He must be made to feel before he leaves that we are sure enough of our people not to be afraid to have him meet with them and talk with them, even though we disagree with his beliefs. We still think of him as a human being, and we should be willing to try to find ways of living together in spite of the different points of view which we hold on many subjects.

Only time will tell us how strong we are.. I have great faith in the things we believe in, and I think we can prove our strength. We cannot prove it by refusing to have ordinary contacts with another human being. Even Christ reasoned with his adversaries. It is our security in our spiritual beliefs which gives us our strength.

A Good Cry With June

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI).

I WAS at a serious disadvantage while watching the debut of the June Allyson show on CBS-TV last night: My handkerchiefs hadn't dried out from Sunday's Loretta Young show on a rival network.

But I'm sure the girls in the audience who enjoy a good cry, a tug-or-two at the old heartstrings, a foamy soap-opera, are better supplied with handkerchiefs and are prepared to meet this new challenge.

The opening show starred June, Mark Richman and Ann Harding in a loose take-off on the Biblical story of Ruth and Naomi. The plot asked the question: Can a young widow find happiness with another man and still remain true to her late husband and his mother? The answer, of course, is yes.

At the half-way mark, the sponsor (Du Pont) tossed in a commercial that seemed to be part of the action for a few moments. My rule is that when this occurs, something is wrong—and not necessarily with the commercial.

Uncombed Look Is Passe

By Gay Pauley

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (UPI)

ONE HAIR STYLIST summed up the coiffure look for fall in these words, "From eggbeater to egghead."

In other words, said Ruel, who is styles director for Coiffures Americana, the tousled uncombed look of the last few years is gone. Gone too are the short, layered cuts which created the bouffant do and also created consternation among milliners. Women weren't buying hats to crush a $10 set.

In their place is the "educated" coiffure, which is sleeker, longer and certainly neater. Ruel, whose organization operates a chain of salons in department stores, showed some of his new coiffures with an upswept look.

Some hairdressers refer to the more hair trend as a return to the 1930s, and the long bob of the Carole Lombard and Marlene Dietrich heyday. Others trace it even farther back, to the Theda Bara vamp.

Stylists for Elizabeth Arden and Charles of the Ritz salons are pushing this 1930s look, with a low side part and gently curling ends. They say the new fall and winter clothes are the reason—so many are reminiscent of the prewar era.

Kenneth of Lilly Dache disagrees. This young stylist, whose customers include Marilyn Monroe and Lucille Ball, said, "It's ridiculous to dub the new styles as thirty-ish. The pure mechanics of setting hair have changed since then. Those were the days of the pin curl, the marcel and the finger wave. Today, we set hair on big rollers. It can't possibly look flat, no matter how smoothly it is combed."

Kenneth advocates the upward arrangement for evening wear—the longer hair brushed smoothly but not tightly up into a French twist or bun.

He gives a girl a choice of uncovered brow, brow partially covered with a smooth sweep of hair, or heavy bangs. One side-parted hairdo shows the bangs just tipping one eyebrow, in the manner of the 1920 bobs.
